Formula for Living

His formula included four main points: "Start a fire; make yourself and your talents known in whatever profession you choose; build a bridge from your life to the lives of others; build good foundations through education, health, moral and spiritual development.

"After you have equipped yourself with the necessary tools and have started on your professional course," President Hurley concluded, "then you must land the knockout blow and make your contribution to society." — Release.

Books for Sale

Rev. Theodore J. Hibbard, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist Church at Hammond, La., finds it necessary to offer a number of his books for sale because of the necessity for a member of the family to undergo a special operation in the near future.

If our ministers and pastors should receive a copy of this book list, it will be from the viewpoint of announcing that Mr. Hibbard is offering the books named for sale. We feel certain that any of our ministers and pastors who are interested and in position to buy any of the books, will gladly do so. Rather than to publish the entire list in the Sabbath Recorder it would seem better to give this publicity to the possible circulation of the book list mentioned.

On the book list there appears the "Book of Life" (best binding), 8 volumes at $49.75 and the same set in the cheaper binding for $37.75. These are new sets since Mr. Hibbard receives a commission on sales made.

Our deep concern and sympathy are with Brother and Sister Hibbard as they face the necessity for raising funds in this way. Mr. Hibbard states that he no doubt will need to buy some items again in the future but that the present situation requires action on his part. This way out seems to be the only one presented to him at present.

ARE WE DOING NOTHING?

Do nothing. United States Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania in a speech May 7 before the Presbyterian Historical Society of the Upper Ohio Valley said: "Two hundred years ago Edmund Burke, the great English statesman declared, 'All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing.' That is the tragedy of our times — that good men (and women), bewildered by wet double talk, stand still and do nothing. We have had exposes of the methods by which the narcotic peddlers are making addicts and victims of our youth in our public schools. The Dinuba, Calif., Sentinel, June 19, 1951, quotes Walter Gordon, head of the State Adult Authority: "The drinking of liquor by teen-agers is a hundred times worse." How much longer will good people continue to do nothing? — Contributed by Mrs. H. L. Hulett.

PLANNING CONFERENCE AT PLAINFIELD

A member of the Planning Conference remarked at morning recess that the "13" superstition was being further dispelled — there were thirteen members around the conference table.

Those Present

Those present were: Chairman Elmo F. Randolph, Conference President O. B. Bond, Secretary Courtland V. Davis, Alfred L. Davis, and K. Duane Hurley, all representing the Commission; Mrs. R. T. Fetherston, president, and Mrs. John Langworthy, both representing the Women's Board; President and Acting Corresponding Secretary Harold R. Crandall, representing the Missionary Board; President Franklin A. Langworthy and Corresponding Secretary Frank R. Kellogg, representing the Tract Board; President Albert N. Rogers and Executive Secretary Ronald I. Hargis, representing the Board of Christian Education; and Hurley S. Warren, editor of the Sabbath Recorder.

The Agenda

Chairman Randolph announced the following agenda:

1. Review of Conference President's Ideas for the Year.
2. Reports and Review of Board Work and Program for 1952 (Each board presenting its program plans for the year).
3. Consideration of Budget Raising Plans.
4. Exploration of Possibilities for Coordination in Achieving Specific Denominational Goals.
5. Discussion of Employment of Executive Secretary.

Orientation by Chairman

Chairman Randolph helpfully oriented us for our task by pointing out that this should be a planning conference in which all members would share freely, frankly, and creatively in the discussion of proposed plans and projects. "Conference delegates at Alfred definitely expressed themselves as believing in Seventh Day Baptists and their mission," he declared. "It is our purpose to move forward on the strength of this expressed confidence with the help of God."

As the chairman opened this all-day session he read Ephesians 6: 10-18 (Revised Standard Version) and called on the Conference president to offer prayer. He also reminded us that "the prayers of our people are with us in the interest of this significant step today."

Conference President's Expose

President O. B. Bond stated the aim of the Conference year to be: "To lead individuals into an experience with God that will bring joy in the keeping of the seventh day Sabbath and the promotion of Christian evangelism. (Growth through experience and experimenting.)" He stated that the procedure should be by means of "a variety of activities that will bring about the accomplishment of the aim."

The Conference president stressed the need for a denominational calendar as a means of encouraging a more united response to the program of the denomination on the part of our Churches. He expressed the hope that the responsibilities of the proposed executive secretary and those of the Conference president might be enumerated.

Board Work and Program for 1952

Women's Board

Mrs. Fetherston and Mrs. Langworthy of the newly organized Women's Board at Battle Creek, Mich., referred to work that had been carried on by the former board and said that they came to the Planning Conference for suggestions and guidance in possible projects.

Later in the day the task of setting up and maintaining a master mailing list of Seventh Day Baptists was proposed as a special task for the Women's Board. Also, it was suggested that the board might promote Sabbath Recorder Reading Clubs.

Missionary Board

Rev. Mr. Crandall reported on developments in the work at home and abroad citing the fact that the board has a sustained and ongoing program of work here and in Jamaica, British Guiana, New Zealand with its Nyasaland Mission, and Germany. He spoke especially of conditions in Jamaica following the hurricane disaster. Secretary Crandall stated that our Jamaica brethren under the leadership of our missionaries are putting forth a determined effort toward the restoration of mission property. Further, he said that contributions for "Jamaica Rehabilitation" sent to Karl G. Stillman, treasurer, would be used to aid in this project and in the rebuilding of some of the homes which were destroyed.

At this juncture it was voted that the secretary be asked to send an expression of appreciation to the United Fruit Company Steamship Lines, Pier 3, North River, New York, N. Y., for their carrying freight free used clothing shipments to the Seventh Day Baptist Mission in Jamaica.

Further, Mr. Crandall declared that the Missionary Board continues to encourage evangelism in the local Churches, the type to be that which will fit the local needs. The Missionary Society stands ready to defray the expenses of ministers who assist in evangelistic campaigns, when requested to do so.

The acting missionary secretary came fresh from a two-day conference of the Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. He spoke particularly of the helpful information and material which this division makes available to its members.

Tract Board

President Langworthy recounted certain favorable features of the program of the board and pointed out that since its mission is primarily in the field of publication and distribution of the literature of Seventh Day Baptists and in that of Sabbath promotion, its regular work may be a bit more set than that of some of the other boards and agencies. He stated that its purpose, outside of its established objectives, is to spread the gospel and to promote evangelism through tracts and by other means.

Corresponding Secretary Frank R. Kellogg of the Tract Society made the following statement: "The Tract Board plans a continued publication and distribution of tracts and literature in the interest of the denomination and individual Churches, working in harmony with all boards and groups. Our programs are planned with evangelism in mind.

"We propose to publish a series of Sabbath studies on the adult and young people's level, working in conjunction with one of the other boards. This is a Sabbath promotion project.

"We are not planning any field work activities other than those which can be carried on through correspondence.

"The board is putting into effect a program of audio-visual aids. It has bought a projector, some filmstrips and slides, which will emphasize our interpretation of the Scripture and provide aids for Christian living. The equipment will be loaned to Churches and Church groups with transportation charges paid one way by the Tract Society and one way by the group to whom equipment is loaned."

Board of Christian Education

Executive Secretary Hargis presented the plan of the Board of Christian Education for completing the first phase of its long-range program and launching out upon the second phase of the program. He stated that if the program of Religious Education is to be effective it must find acceptance and application in the local Church situation. With this objective and with the co-operation of the First Seventh Day Baptist Church of Hebron, Pa., Rev. and Mrs. Ronald I. Hargis have been carrying out a program of Religious Education there.

The second phase of the board's long-range program will begin on February 1, 1952, and will continue about a year. The plan is for Rev. Mr. Hargis to visit Churches for a two- to four-week period during which time he would work and live with the local Church situations in developing a program of Religious Education.

President Rogers of the board stressed the fact that we should regard the field work of Secretary Hargis as the mission of a specialist.

After discussion it was generally agreed that it is through the separate specialist emphases that the total program of the denomination should be channeled.

Budget Raising Plans

Chairman Randolph presented a plan for raising the Denominational Budget by means of (1) a direct mail appeal, (2)

by suggesting Church quotas, and (3) by encouraging Church stewardship campaigns which might well include the promotion of tithing. He proposed that an "initial affirmation offering" be taken in the Churches the first month of the budget year.

Rev. Elmo F. Randolph was appointed chairman of the Committee on Budget Promotion with the privilege of selecting his own committee.

Proposed Objectives

The success of this co-ordinated program depends upon its being carried out in the local Church.

Therefore, this Planning Conference assembled in the Seventh Day Baptist Building in Plainfield on September 30, 1951, planning with a full sense of the enthusiastic support of our people for co-ordinated program and effort, as affirmed in Conference action, and feeling led of the Holy Spirit in our deliberations, the Planning Conference, representing the president of the General Conference, the Commission, the Women's Board, the Missionary and Tract Boards, the Board of Christian Education, and the Sabbath Recorder, submits the following objectives for each of our Churches in the current year:

1. Plan for Denominational Budget promotion in your Church along lines suggested by the Commission's special committee and the Conference president.
2. Post the monthly denominational calendar as published in the Sabbath Recorder conspicuously in the Church and in the pastor's study.
3. Sustain the program by prayer either in Sabbath services or in organized Church groups or both.
4. As an initial step in the denominational program, invite Rev. and Mrs. Ronald I. Hargis to lead a study of the Christian Education phases of your work. (Mr. Hargis plans an extended field trip beginning February 1, 1952. He would like to reach all of the Churches by February, 1953.)

The Denomination at Work

This Planning Conference was the Seventh Day Baptist denomination at work, presenting, discussing, and projecting plans for the aggressive outreach in co-ordinated endeavor for Christ and the Sabbath. Necessarily progress along certain lines must be slow in order to be sustained. It was increasingly evident as the Planning Conference progressed that boards and agencies were intent upon and committed to a co-ordinated emphasis, being free of course to carry out their tasks in the area of their special work, and through their specialists, yet always to carry out these tasks in relation to the total denominational program.

We were led to feel that the tasks of the separate boards and agencies are becoming increasingly specialized in their execution, thus becoming more and more a functioning part of the whole program of our denomination.

The only point at which we felt any disappointment was in the matter of a "Discussion of Employment of Executive Secretary." Having been given the green light several weeks ago to publicize the fact that this matter would be a leading item on the agenda, we felt that something more concrete should have been forthcoming from the Planning Conference. Appropriately the Alfred Conference authorized the Commission to select and secure an executive secretary "as soon after October 1, 1951, as a suitable man can be secured."

We were given the definite impression that the preliminary work was to have been done prior to September 30 and that the Commission would meet to discuss the matter in conjunction with the Planning Conference. Presumably some definite information would be made available to the planning group.

The Planning Conference was informed that the preliminary work had been done in the form of suggestions as to candidates for the office of executive secretary and that the Commission could not act intelligently until it should meet. The next scheduled meeting of the Commission will "be held in Plainfield, N. J., beginning on Wednesday, December 26, at 2 p.m., and continuing through Sunday, December 30." Consequently, no definite announcement on the selecting and securing of an executive secretary will be made until after the midyear meeting of the Commission. When a candidate is selected, time will be required for correspondence and interview before his name is announced.

Therefore, we would counsel patience, believing that the Commission is putting forth an earnest effort to carry out the wishes of General Conference. At several points the co-ordinated reorganization program as discussed by the Planning Conference hinged upon the services of an executive secretary. Although we cannot afford to be unduly hasty, yet we agree with the comment of a member of the Commission when he said, "Let us not be shackled to the thought that progress needs to be slow, but launch out boldly when the way opens."

There is every reason to be encouraged by the progress made at this one-day session, yet a sustained interest in denominational reorganization, centering in a real measure in the office of executive secretary, depends upon the Commission's moving steadily in the direction of securing a suitable man for the task.

We believe that the Commission will not disappoint our people in this respect.

It was agreed that it would be feasible and wise to set up another Planning Conference on the closing day of the midyear meeting of the Commission, namely, December 30.

(Note: The chairman, secretary, and editor of the Sabbath Recorder were appointed as a committee to formulate material growing out of the Planning Conference for publication in the Sabbath Recorder.)

MILTON COLLEGE OPENS WITH AN ENROLLMENT OF 216

Milton College started its one hundred eighth year of service in Wisconsin with 216 students on the roll, not including those taking private lessons in the School of Music. The opening enrollment last year was 266. This overall decline in students from last year is due largely to the smaller number of veterans in school, loss of students to the draft, and to the large graduating class last year. Men students outnumber the women about 3 to 1.

Four faculty members are new to Milton this year — Herbert Mac Donell, Bolivar, N. Y., chemistry; George H. Lazanas, El Paso, Tex., band director; Anna Jean Plumb, Milton, German; and E. Peter Winter, Berlin, Germany, business administration.

Mr. Mac Donell was graduate assistant to Professor Paul C. Saunders at Alfred University, where he did his undergraduate work and special advanced study.

Mr. Lazanas was graduated from Texas Western College of the University of Texas and received his Master of Music Education degree from Vandercook College of Music in Chicago.

Miss Plumb was graduated from Milton College in 1907 and has done graduate work in the University of Wisconsin. For the past 20 years she has taught in the Janesville City High School.

Mr. Winter studied in the University of Berlin, received his bachelor's degree from Iowa State, his master's from Colorado State, and is a candidate for his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

Two members of the faculty have been called into the service of their country, Professors J. Leland Skaggs and William J. Zwart.

The various organizations on the campus have started the year with enthusiasm. Among these the Student Christian Association promises another year of religious inspiration, the athletic department expects to maintain its fine record in the Badger-Illinois conference of colleges, and the a capella choir and choral union will continue presenting "musical firsts."

The choral union, consisting of local

SALEM COLLEGE GETS UNDER WAY

The academic program is now well under way at Salem College which is beginning its sixty-fourth year of educational training with a renewed emphasis on the fundamental principles of Christian living.

Even though regular day school enrollment is below last year's number, Salem continues to offer a well-balanced educational program. Seven new teachers have joined the college faculty, and officials believe they have been extremely fortunate in securing well-trained and experienced personnel.

Highlight of the opening of school this year was the appearance of Salem's new president, K. Duane Hurley, former editor of the Sabbath Recorder, who was formally presented to the student body in a special chapel program last week.

President Hurley, who was introduced by Dean Henry L. Ash, urged the Salem students to "establish a goal toward which you may strive. You should know why you are here and why you are making sacrifices to obtain a college education."

The president, speaking in what he termed a down-to-earth manner, gave the students a formula to develop a purpose in living. His formula included four main points: "Start a fire; make yourself and your talents known in whatever profession you choose; build a bridge from your life to the lives of others; build good foundations through education, health, moral and spiritual development.

"After you have equipped yourself with the necessary tools and have started on your professional course," President Hurley concluded, "then you must land the knockout blow and make your contribution to society."

The chapel followed a faculty reception held Tuesday evening in the recreation building at which students and new faculty members were presented. — Public Relations Release.

Bible School at Brown Community, Athens, Ala.

By Mrs. Robert L. Butler
Clerk, Oakdale Seventh Day Baptist Church

Two weeks of concentrated work and study, new acquaintances and rich fellowship, brought joy to the Oakdale Church as three of our young people — feeling led by the blessed Holy Spirit — organized and taught Vacation Bible School in a new area near Athens, Ala., August 13-24. David Beebe (student pastor sent by the Women's Board to Oakdale during the summer months) served as superintendent and teacher of the juniors; Bettie Butler and Dorothy Adams were teachers for beginners and young people, respectively. An unusual attendance record was noticed: 43 enrolled, 34 lowest daily attendance.

The three young teachers were equipped with the sufficiency of God (2 Corinthians 3: 5) and enabled only by Him to meet each day's circumstances. All three classes did handwork in connection with the topic of study. The young people made a study of the Sermon on the Mount and the Gospel of John, compiling their work in "Bible booklets"; juniors studied Old Testament characters making flannelgraph stories and memory wheels; beginners learned of the baby Moses and the Crucifixion of Christ, making notebooks to keep.

It is hoped that Vacation Bible School may be held in this same community next year with better housing facilities.
