PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY The Seventh-day Baptist Publishing Society, No. 5 Chatham Square, New York.

GEORGE B. UTTER, EDITOR AND GENERAL AGENT. THE SARBATH RECORDER is devoted to the exposition and vindication of the views and movements of the Seventh-day Baptist Denomination. It aims to pronote vital piety and vigorous benevolent action, at the same time that it urges obedience to the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus. Its columns are open to the advocacy of all reformatory measures which seem likely to improve the condition of society, diffuse knowledge, reclaim the inchriste, and enfranchise the enslaved. THE BANE OF ITALY.

In one of his speeches just before leaving Naples, Garibaldi pointed out what he conceived to be the bane of Italy. His language is so bold and significant that we are sure our readers will thank us for copying it:

"Hear me, then, generous people of this great and beautiful metropolis, and if I deserve anything of you, hear my words. The canker and ruin of our country has always been personal ambition. It is still so. It is personal ambition which blinds the Popeheart and contented mind. Such is my idea to worship the image of a calf." It is but King, and urges him to oppose the national of true and Christian coming down; and I fair to them, however, to say, that when movement; so grand, so noble, so pure regard as a true hero, the man who does it they have been accused of this, the accused yes, so pure that it is unique in the his. tory of the world. It is the Pope who retards the moment of the complete liberation of Italy. The sole obstacle, the true object, is this. I am a Christian, and I speak to Christians. I am a good Christian and I speak to good Christians. I love and venerate the religion of Christ, because Christ came into this world to rescue humanity from the slavery for which God did not create it. But this Pope, who wishes that men should be slaves, who asks from the powerful of the earth fetters and chains for the Italians - this Pope-King does not know Christ; he lies against his own religion. WINTER DAYS.

Where is the refreshing Spring, when nakes up from her slumbers, and hill and dale, and field, and garden, bud forth into life? Gone! Where is the rich Summer. with its grand early sun-rising, throwing his bright beams on millions of dew-drops, spread over the vast fields of vegetation, sparkling like so many diamonds, or melting them off the trees of the wood its harmonies from ten thousand voices? Gone! Where is the Autumn, the great Gone, too!

Has Winter no charms—no comforts—no College Society, to be the channel through pleasant scenery-no interesting occupations? Yes, many. When the heart is right in its affections to the Saviour, in its objects of divine pursuit, "winter is as pleasant as spring." But winter, with a nominal capital of some $400,000; but its snow storms and piercing cold, may they owed $100,000, and were in constant penitent sorrow, unite in humbling ourselves sometimes hinder our public labor, or our danger of becoming bankrupt. But is it always to be winter? Is there no encouragement in prospect? Has God forgotten to be gracious? Are there no two, the persons appointed to receive the promises to inspire hope? Are there actually no signs of the clouds breaking ?-no distant indications of returning spring? Is it; but by degrees the burden increased the church to be frozen up forever? No! Winter days will pass away; the time for the singing of birds will come; the flowers will appear on earth; and all the beauties of spring and summer will return. May the divine Spirit soon blow a heavenly gale, and wake to life and energy the slumbering church. May the church, in all its membership, be strengthen and improve, and pray in faith that the Lord would turn our winter days to a beautiful spring, a fruitful summer, and a large autumnal gathering.

He then made a present of the whole to the Theological Schninary, and executed a deed accordingly. Mr. Lenox is now about to erect a new building for a library on the westerly end of the same lot, whose dimensions will be 60 by 100 feet, to be constructed after the model of the Astor Library in New York, but with some improvement as to the admission of light. It is proposed to convert the present library building into a chanel for the religious uses of the Seminary.

CALVES WITH SHEEP.

A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph aptly remarks, "that late calves, when they come to the barn in the fall, will, if confined in yards with older animals, frequently sicken and become debilitated. Being weak and small, they are usually shoved about, and deprived of their due share of man. The two engineers were also so frothe food, and in consequence "fall away" rapidly. Now, I never allow animals of this description ro associate, or be confined with larger ones, but put them with my sheep, where there is no danger of their doing or receiving harm: Sick calves, I have observed, often pick up and devour with avidity the hay and straw from among the sheep dung. It is medicinal, and I know of no article that has a more immediate and salutary effect in restoring diseased calves to health, than sheep dung. I have practiced this usage for many years, and have never-list an animal, though I have had many sick when they came to the barn."
