SABBATH APOSTASY.

The fact that the Sabbath is a divine institution, I believe in the Bible will deny; and that it was primitively observed on the seventh day of the week, is quite generally admitted...

THE BENEFITS OF CHANGE.

I heard, the other day, from a high medical authority, that a certain man had brought himself almost to death by eating mutton; not through taking too much of it at a time...

NAMES OF DAYS—THEIR ORIGIN.

The idols which our Saxon ancestors worshipped, and from which the days of the week derive their names, were various.

THE IDOL OF WODEN, OR ODIN.

Woden, or Odin, was one of the supreme divinities of the northern nations. This hero is supposed to have emigrated from the East, but from what country, or at what time, is not known.

THE IDOL OF THOR.

Thor was the eldest and bravest of the sons of Woden and Friga; and was, after his parents, considered the greatest god among the Saxons and Danes.

POLYGRATES' RING.

Polygrates was king of Samos, distinguished for his unimpaired good fortune. King Amis, of Samos, made an alliance with him. The Egyptian monarch, however, frightened at the unimpairment of Polygrates, wished him to die of the enjoyment of his wealth.

A SWEET COMPANIONSHIP.

A recent work, published in England, by Eliza Barrett, the learned blacksmith, contains an interesting account of one who is designated as the "Half-Hermit of Tregony."

THE ALARM CLOCK.

A lady, who found it difficult to awake so early as she desired in the morning, purchased an alarm clock. This kind of clock is so contrived as to strike with a very loud, whizzing noise, at any time the owner pleases.

TROUBLES OF THE NEWLY RICH.

The Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican writes as follows: Except the very poor, who actually lack the necessities of life, there is no class who are more dissatisfied with their lot than the newly rich.

THE CANDLE BY THE SEA.

One wild March night, long ago, in a fisherman's hut, sat a young girl, at her spinning wheel, and looked out on the dark, driving clouds.

IF YOU PLEASE, MAKE ME A CHRISTIAN.

"I well recollect, in the course of my labors, a poor Hindoo youth, who followed me about the garden of the school, asking me to make him a Christian. I said: 'It is impossible, my dear boy; if it is possible to do so at all, it is possible only through the Lord Jesus Christ to make you a Christian. Pray to him!'"

HOW A DREAM CAME TRUE.

An old farmer out in Ohio has had an experience that convinced him that dreams sometimes come true. This is the story:

A FRENCH MURDER.

Last May, a laborer going to his work in the forest of Fontainebleau, saw a lady lying on the grass, near the roadside, as if sleeping, with a parasol over her face.

remilke calmness and intelligence, relies for her defense chiefly upon a story about some man named Williams, whom she deceased, as she declares, went to Fontainebleau to meet, and whom she left in the unfortunate woman's company.

All evidence so far bears strongly against the accused. But it is almost incredible that for a trifle like $1,500 a woman in no actual want of money, a woman, moreover, who had hitherto borne a good character, should commit so horrible a crime; or that having committed it, any one with the intelligence and keenness which the prisoner has shown herself to possess, should be at so little pains to avoid discovery.

There are few more horrible figures in history than a Messalina or a Brinvilliers. And, moreover, it seldom happens that a woman who has the nerve to perpetrate a deed of blood has also the ever-present dread of detection which enables her to conceal the crime.—N. Y. Tribune.

NEW ENGLAND LIFE,

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO. In May, 1750, Sarah Pierpont, the wife of Jonathan Edwards, wrote from Northampton to a correspondent in Scotland, the following graphic description of home life and character in New England:

You still ask for some reliable account of home life and character in New England. I agree with you that names and dates are only a small part of history; it is the private virtues and unrecorded deeds of common life that are of greatest consideration.

THE PARIS CORRESPONDENT OF A CANADIAN PAPER

The Paris correspondent of a Canadian paper gives the following interesting description of a novel idea, in the shape of an artificial horse, with which some inventive genius has just started the residents of that gay capital:

A METALLO SADDLE HORSE.

The Paris correspondent of a Canadian paper gives the following interesting description of a novel idea, in the shape of an artificial horse, with which some inventive genius has just started the residents of that gay capital:

places. I might add here, that with us the Sabbath is held to begin usually at sunset on Saturday, and to end at the same hour on Sunday. Preparations for the holy day are made on Saturday afternoon. There is then a general clearing up and setting things in order, so that sunset may never take us by surprise.

Now, dear madam, I do not hold that our rural New England life is the highest and best style of life. It is perhaps too hard and stern; it allows too little room for varied culture and enjoyment.

THE DISASTERS OF A NIGHT.

"No crop is more uncertain than that of vines. A really good vintage occurs only at considerable intervals, for the vine-grower is exposed to many disasters. Extreme cold in winter may destroy his plants—a sudden frost in May may blight the whole crop of the year.

HOW TO HAVE GREEN CORN THE YEAR ROUND.

—Gather it with the husks on, put in the bottom of a clean barrel some salt, proceed and fill the barrel with pork, a layer of corn, then a layer of salt; when full, put on a large stone for pressure, add a little pickle of salt and water.

PASS THROUGH THE CASCADE MOUNTAINS.

—EX-Governor Pickering, of Washington Territory, claims to have discovered, last fall, a pass through the Cascade Mountains much more feasible than any hitherto found.

THE LONGWOOD TREE.

In Trenton and Ringoes, New Jersey, are now growing two large willow trees whose history is singular. The one in the latter village was formed by implanting a twig from the former, and the other was formed by the reportation of a branch from the original willow that has long shaded the first tomb of Napoleon Bonaparte at St. Helen's.

The Hon. J. S. Wilson, Commissioner of the General Land Office, has just received a letter from the Hon. A. A. Denney, of Washington Territory, relative to the recent discovery of a coal mine about three miles from the eastern shore of Lake Dewamish, about five miles east of the town of Seattle.

in that Territory. The letter was accompanied with a fine specimen of the coal, the supply of which, it is stated, is inexhaustible.

BIRD HOUSES IN CITY PARKS.

J. T. Shaw, the Union Park Policeman at New York, who evidently has very little to do except watch the sparrows there, writes this interesting account of them:

In April, 1866, two pairs of sparrows came to Union Park, and claimed possession of the only bird house there, (indeed, it was the only one in five parks), which was occupied by two pairs of wrens.

at the recent session of the Supreme Court for Lamoille county, Vermont, not a single case of ordinary litigation was tried, but a rushing business was done in the divorce line.

ODDS AND ENDS.

At the recent session of the Supreme Court for Lamoille county, Vermont, not a single case of ordinary litigation was tried, but a rushing business was done in the divorce line.

HOW A SMALL LAWYER GREW A LAWYER.

Mr. A. V. Stout told a good story—that is, good for the lawyers—on the Long Branch boat, a few days since.

BIRD HOUSES IN CITY PARKS.

J. T. Shaw, the Union Park Policeman at New York, who evidently has very little to do except watch the sparrows there, writes this interesting account of them:

THE DISASTERS OF A NIGHT.

"No crop is more uncertain than that of vines. A really good vintage occurs only at considerable intervals, for the vine-grower is exposed to many disasters. Extreme cold in winter may destroy his plants—a sudden frost in May may blight the whole crop of the year.

HOW TO HAVE GREEN CORN THE YEAR ROUND.

—Gather it with the husks on, put in the bottom of a clean barrel some salt, proceed and fill the barrel with pork, a layer of corn, then a layer of salt; when full, put on a large stone for pressure, add a little pickle of salt and water.

CAREER OF CRIME.

A man named Cullison has just been imprisoned in the Pennsylvania State penitentiary, the incidents in whose career of crime are quite remarkable.

LONDON UNDERGROUND RAILROAD.

The traffic on the London Underground Railway for the half year ending June 30, 1867, has been something extraordinary.

CIDER AND VINEGAR IN JAPAN.

Sasaki Gowok, the Japanese official stopping in Springfield, Mass., has presented to James L. Amsden, fruit dealer, a copy of an illustrated work on bony, pug and mostly, on wine.

PASS THROUGH THE CASCADE MOUNTAINS.

—EX-Governor Pickering, of Washington Territory, claims to have discovered, last fall, a pass through the Cascade Mountains much more feasible than any hitherto found.

THE LONGWOOD TREE.

In Trenton and Ringoes, New Jersey, are now growing two large willow trees whose history is singular. The one in the latter village was formed by implanting a twig from the former, and the other was formed by the reportation of a branch from the original willow that has long shaded the first tomb of Napoleon Bonaparte at St. Helen's.

MENTAL LABOR AND DIGESTION.

Mental labor is not in itself likely to interfere with digestion. In fact, he who has the largest and most active brain ought to have the easiest and best digestion, other things being equal.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY OF COAL IN WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The Hon. J. S. Wilson, Commissioner of the General Land Office, has just received a letter from the Hon. A. A. Denney, of Washington Territory, relative to the recent discovery of a coal mine about three miles from the eastern shore of Lake Dewamish, about five miles east of the town of Seattle.
