

Miscellaneous. Mr. Myers, assistant surgeon of the Coldstream Guards in England, is investigating the probable causes of the greater prevalence of heart disease in the army than in the navy and the civil population.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE. On Sunday last, says the Greenville (Ct.) Register, a Matilda Griffith, who has been a respected resident of Greenville, and Mr. John Grant, of Ireland, were married, at the residence of the former, by Rev. E. T. Brist, D. D.

COUNING OF THE FOX. A hunter, who on one morning kept a watch on the forest, saw a fox cautiously making his approach toward the stump of an old tree. When sufficiently near, he took a high and determined jump on to the top of it, and after looking round a while, hopped to the ground.

MULES FOR FARM WORK. In East Tennessee, Georgia, and Alabama, a pair of good mules, well broken, cannot be purchased for less than $400. A good pair of mules, well broken, cannot be purchased for less than $400.

ODDS AND ENDS. The government paper mill in Pennsylvania has, through the treasury agent stationed at the mill, forwarded the first lot of the new and improved greenback paper to the National and American Bank Note Companies in New York.

THE ATTENTION OF REFLECTORS. Invitations are invited to the following: The attention of reflectors is invited to the following: The attention of reflectors is invited to the following.

Simon Short's Samuel. Shrewd Simon Short shrewd shrewd, spreading sunshine, successfully shrewd, Simon Short's Samuel shrewd, spreading sunshine, successfully shrewd.

LEAVING THE FARM. President White, of Cornell University, thus discourses upon a subject of much interest to ruralists: "A great evil to be met is the constant depletion of the farming districts of the greater part of the best soil of the country into the city."

A WIFE'S COURAGE. On one occasion, when Disraeli was Chancellor of the Exchequer, his wife accompanied him to the House of Commons. It was "Budget" night—the most important of all sessions to the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

THE SEA-ELEPHANT. At present, the true sea-elephant is found only in the Antarctic Ocean; a monster not unfrequently thirty feet long, and measures over sixteen feet in circumference! His powerful teeth are formidable enough in appearance, and above them he raises, when he is roused to anger, his inflated trunk, which is inflated with air.

HYGIENIC CURE. TURKISH BATHS. RUSSIAN BATHS. ELECTRIC BATHS. And all the appliances of a first-class Cure. Buildings new, modern style, and commodious.

AS THESE WATCHES ARE FOR SALE BY ALL RESPECTABLE JEWELERS, THE COMPANY DECLINE ALL ORDERS FOR SINGLE WATCHES. For facts and all other information, address ROBBINS, APPLETON & CO., 158 Washington Street, Boston.

INSECT-DESTROYING BIRDS. It is generally believed that the European house sparrow, of which recent and quite excessive mortality has been reported, will become annually. A writer in the Atlantic Monthly for the present month takes up their defense, and narrates the following fact: "Frederick the Great, of Prussia, waged war in his day against the sparrow, because he did not respect the bird's right to life."

THE WRITER FULLY DEMONSTRATES that the good done by these persecuted little creatures in the destruction of insects more than overbalances what harm they do. A contributor to the New York Times echoes the cry of "Spare the Birds," and says that the birds are not to be exterminated.
