MY TRIUMPH.

BY JOHN G. WHITTLER.

On woods that dream of bloom, And over purpling vines, The low sun fainter shines.

The autumn time has come ;

The aster-flower is falling,

The hazel gold is paling; Yet over head more near

The eternal stars appear !

Insures the future's good And for the things I see

O living friends how love me!

O dear ones gone above! Careless of other fame,

I leave to you my name.

Hide it from idle praises.

Let the thick curtain fall :

I better know than all How little I have gained, How vast the unattained.

Not by the page-word painted Let life be banned or sainted

Sweeter than any sung My songs that found no tongue Nobler than any fact Deeper than written scroll The colors of the soul.

My wish that failed of act.

Others shall sing the song,

What matter, I or they:

Mine or another's day, So the right word be said And life the sweeter made

Forward I reach and share

All that they sing and dare.

A glory shines before me Of what mankind shall be---

A dream of man and woman

The love of God and neighbor

An equal-handed labor; The richer life, where beauty Walks hand in hand with duty.

Ring bells, in unreared steeples, The joy of unborn peoples, Sound, trumpets, far off blown, Your triumph is my own !

Diviner but still humane, Solving the riddle old, Shaping the Age of Gold.

Hail to the coming singers! Hail to the brave light-bringers

The airs of heaven blow o'er me,

Pure, generous, brave, and free

Others shall right the wrong-Finish what I begin, And all I fail to win.

Save it from evil phrases; Why, when dear lips that spake it Are dumb, should strangers wake it?

I trust the things to be; That in the paths untrod, And the long days of God My feet shall still be led, My heart be comforted.

And present gratitude

Being often at court, one of the princesses rallied him on his want of beauty.

"How comes it," she said, "that such glorious wisdom is inclosed in so mean a vessel ?"

The rabbi, no ways dismayed, requested her to tell him in what sort of vessels her father kept his wine. "Why, in earthen vessels, to be sure," replied the princess. "Oh!" exclaimed the witty rabbi, "this is the way that ordinary people do; an emperor's wine ought to be kept in more precious vessels." The princess, thinking him in earn-

A CLOTHES.-Letters Patent having been granted, I am prepared to offer to the public this improvement. It consists of apparatus for drafting COATS, VESTS, and PANTA-LOONS, which has the following advantages over all former systems: 1. It arrives at the out edge points without inside linings and measurements. Patterns are entirely dispensed with for pants, and may be in coat and yest if desired, and the cloth worked to the best advantage. DIRECTORS. George Baker, Sturgis P Carpenter, Issae H. It is absolutely correct—carrying the measures taken from the person by ordinary means, upon the garments with mathematical eractness and certainty. 3. It greatly simplifies and reduces the la-bor, and thus saves time. 4. It is founded upon the fundamental prin-ciples of the art, which are permanent, and therefore changes in styles will not affect it. 5. It is adjusted to different measures with
