bitter and shameful wrongs from the selfishness of unholly human nature in both sexes. By the stronger-willed and less affectionate, there are rights in law refused and wrongs in social life imposed, and by the more dependent and passively obedient, there are duties evaded and frivolities practiced; and in each of the wrongs which superficially appear to be directed against the other, practically rest most harmfully upon the wrong-doer.

WISCONSIN. ASSASSIN. MARSHALL, Wis., Jan. 17th, 1871. To the Editor of the Sabbath Recorder: Thinking perhaps the readers of the SABBATH RECORDER would be interested in pursuing a few lines from the capital of the Badger State, I take the liberty of sending this short epistle for publication.

Our Legislature convened for its annual session on Wednesday, Jan. 11th, and went through the usual form of organizing, by the election of Hon. Wm. E. Smith, of Dodge county, as Speaker; E. W. Young, of Sank, Chief Clerk; and Sam. Field, Sergeant-at-Arms—all capital men; the former of whom is talked of as a candidate for Governor of this State next fall.

The bill to amend the act relating to the Sabbath, which was introduced in the Senate, Mr. Schurz spoke on the bill to relieve Congressmen from impotency. The Senate adjourned to Monday.

In the House, the Indian Appropriation bill was passed. The Income Tax Bill was sent back to the Senate. An evening session was held, when Mr. Kelley spoke at length in favor of the amendment.

THE WAR IN EUROPE. The war between Prussia and France may be regarded as at an end. True, the precise terms of settlement are not agreed upon, but an armistice for the purposes of settlement has been signed.

A dispatch from Washington, dated Sunday, Jan. 29th, says: "Secretary Fish has received the following telegram from Moran, Charles & Co., London, dated London, Sunday morning, 29th: The German Ambassador here has officially informed me that the capitulation of all the forts, forts, and an armistice of three weeks by land and sea, was signed about eight o'clock last evening, at Versailles, by Bismarck and Favre. The Army of Paris will remain prisoners of war in the city, but is not to be treated as such. No details are yet received."

Under date of Versailles, Jan. 29th, 2 p. m., the Emperor Wilhelm telegraphed as follows: "Last night an armistice for three weeks was signed. The regular armistices are to be continued on Paris as prisoners of war. The National Guard undertake the maintenance of order. We occupy all the forts. Paris remains invested; but will be allowed to revivitate as soon as the arms are to be handed over. The National Guard are to be summoned to meet at Bordeaux in a fortnight. All armies in the field retain their respective positions. The ground between the opposing lines is to be neutral. This is the reward of patriotism and thank God for this fresh mercy. May peace soon follow."

A dispatch from Berlin, Jan. 29th, says: "All Germany is in a fever of rejoicing, and tonight the bells of all the cities and villages are ringing in a jubilation of peace and joy."

SPURGEON ON THE ENGLISH CHURCH.—Mr. Spurgeon has written to the London Recorder to say that he has no doubt he did pray on Christmas morning for the Church of England, "and other apostate Churches." But he is willing to explain words which out of their connection may or may not convey the same meaning. "As I look around me," he says, "I am horrified at the widespread Popish teachings of the Established Church, and am at once surprised and indignantly at the degraded form of its superstition assuming, equating, if not exceeding, the idolatry of the Church of Rome. This pestilence is carried far and wide by an able priesthood and a most active and pious press. In view of the fearful mischief which your church is doing, I do not feel that it is more than the truth to say that she has apostatized from her Protestant position. It is as painful to me to use the expression as it is to me to hear it. At the same time, I can never forget the many gracious and faithful men who remain in this church, nor can I cease to pray for them."

OUTLANKED.—A gentleman of Halifax, being at a ladies' fair, not long since, and being solicited to buy something, by a fair creature who kept one of the tables, said he wanted to buy what he feared was not for sale—a lock of her hair. To his surprise and delight she promptly cut off a couple of curls and gave them to him. He was exhibiting his trophy to one of his friends, who very suddenly blasted him by saying, "She has cut off a lock of your hair, but she has not cut off a lock of your knowledge, she only paid three dollars for the whole wig."

ALFRED CENTER.—A correspondent of the Elmira Advertiser, writing from Alfred Center, under date of Jan. 21st, says: "Miss Julia C. Hall died this morning, after a brief and severe illness, of fever. She was twenty-one years of age, and a niece of Rev. N. V. Hull. She was well known and highly esteemed as a student of the Seminary, and for her many and lady of rare accomplishments, and she was sadly missed by a large circle of friends."

METHODIST BOOK CONCERN.—The charges against Dr. Lanahan having been withdrawn, and reinstated in his old position in the Methodist Book Concern, the examination, which promised so much and accomplished so little, has come to an end. A sub-committee, of the Book Concern, however, are going to examine into the financial affairs of the Concern, in a private way, and report the conclusions to the next General Conference, which meets in May, 1872.

NEW MISSIONARY SHIP.—The new missionary packet Morning Star, now building at East Boston, will be launched on January 26th, and will be despatched for Honolulu about the 10th of February—sixty days from the time her keel was begun. She is two hundred and twenty-six tons, half brig rigged, coppered and certified company each in voice; that from Canada is a novelty, and the first having been shipped this season. The best meat from these quarters commands a ready sale and high price, owing to the panic caused among consumers in regard to the cattle disease near home."

ADVISE UNDER THE GALLOWS.—Welcome, the Vermont boy murderer, when standing under the gallows on Friday, was asked if he had any thing to say. He spoke a few words, after waiting some moments to gain command of his voice, and said: "Words will not express my feeling. I only hope my situation will be a warning to all young men who behold me here to be obedient to their parents, and not, as I have done, come to this dreadful end. Keep out of bad company, and away from low pleasures. This is what brought me here, and I hope God will have mercy on me for Jesus Christ's sake. I wish to say no more now, except to caution all against tasting liquor, because if they take one glass they must have another. I can say no more."

RECOGNITION OF FRIENDS.—A Boston minister says he once preached on "The Recognition of Friends in the Future," and was told after service by a hearer, that it would be more to the point to preach about the recognition of friends here, as he had been in the church twenty years, and didn't know any of its members.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.—The Free Church of Scotland has 876 churches, 153,000 members, and 628 congregations, considerably over two-thirds receive aid from it. For other mission purposes the Free Church contributes $42,000. The United Presbyterian Church of Scotland aids its 229 of its 600 churches, besides supporting 4 evangelists and contributing $8,065 for Home Evangelization in Scotland. Of the 37 Congregational churches in Scotland, 23 are aided from a fund for the purpose.

THE STATE OF IOWA, with a climate milder than New England and New York, fitted to grasses, grains, Indian corn, sorghum, most fruits, and in the south to the grape and the peach; with a soil fertile and easily tilled, mostly rolling, and fairly watered by springs and streams; so situated in the valleys of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers as to be remarkably free from excessive wet and drought, and from the sudden changes, or the extremes of temperature, common in countries too near to mountain ranges or deserts; with its navigable rivers and its opened and opening railroads, often preceding the settlement of the lands; with some wood and timber for the first use of its people, and coal and frequent coal coming to light in its own territory; with settlers from the workers of the European lives, intermingled with those of our native population from the thriving States east of the great river; with its nationality, and moral industry; it is progressing with fewer drawbacks, and with greater rapidity, than perhaps any other region containing equal inducements in cheap and accessible lands, for persons whom the winters of the north have trained to vigorous constitutions, and habits of diligence and economy."

There are now two trials for heresy pending before the Scotch Presbytery. In one case a minister of the Established Kirk is charged with recommending Confessions and Absolution; in another a minister of the United Presbyterians is charged with teaching that our Lord preached to the dead in the intermediate state.

An ordination was held at the Chapel of St. John the Evangelist, New York, on the 28th inst., when the Rev. C. M. Williston, D. D., advanced to the Priesthood the Rev. William J. Boone, A. M., and the Rev. Mr. Yen, a native deacon.

The rector of the Episcopal church of Topeka, Kansas, invited the Rev. Mr. Williston, D. D., to preach in his church on the 1st of February. Six clergymen responded, each taking part, reading or extemporizing prayers as he chose.

It is said that there are in this country two hundred thousand Swedes who are not sufficiently acquainted with English to worship in their churches and pastors are sufficient for only one hundred thousand.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has decided that if a man puts his head or arm through a car window, and is injured by coming in contact with a gun while hunting near Heidelberg, on the 3d.

A young married woman, apparently in good health, fell dead in Coatesville, Pennsylvania, on the 20th inst., after a dinner, and her aged mother, hastening down stairs on being summoned, fell and was instantly killed.

It is estimated that the new Capitol at Albany, N. Y., if finished in accordance with the present plans, will cost the State twenty million of dollars, or just five times more than the original estimate.

There is a machine in operation in East Sumner, Maine, which can make thirteen thousand tooth-picks in a minute; yet the demand is greater than the supply.

The boiler in Stevenson's saw mill, at St. Paul, Ind., exploded the other day. The boiler was found 100 yards from the saw mill.

A remarkable story is told of a lady in New York, whose husband having died abroad, gave orders for his body to be embalmed and sent home, and in the interim was married. By an unfortunate train of circumstances, the mortal remains of her "dear departed" were brought by an express wagon to her door, at the very moment she was receiving the congratulations of her friends on her second marriage.

A well-known city clergyman, traveling for his health on the Continent, was so very delicate that he broke down at Baden-Baden; and a religious journal, in stating the fact, was made to say, by the malignant types, that he "broke the bank" at Baden-Baden.

In Philadelphia, there is a small blacksmith shop, the bellows of which are operated by dogs. The bellows are connected with a wooden wheel box, which is kept revolving by the action of a gun which revolves after the manner of a treadmill.

Miss Belle Smith, of Indiana, has just completed for the Washington Common Council a life-size, full-length portrait of Secretary Stanton, that is pronounced by many to be the best likeness of the great War Minister ever painted.

The late Stephen Colwell, at his residence in Philadelphia, had a library which contained some seven hundred works on books and manuscripts, in every language in which books have been published.

There is a paper printed in the Cherokee nation in the "native dialect." An Arkansas editor says: "It is the worst specimen of pickled tongue we ever saw. It looks as though a nitro-glycerine explosion had occurred in a type foundry."

A young man, who had been in the army, and who had just returned to his home, was found dead in a room, and his body was found to be covered with wounds.

A remarkable story is told of a lady in New York, whose husband having died abroad, gave orders for his body to be embalmed and sent home, and in the interim was married. By an unfortunate train of circumstances, the mortal remains of her "dear departed" were brought by an express wagon to her door, at the very moment she was receiving the congratulations of her friends on her second marriage.

A well-known city clergyman, traveling for his health on the Continent, was so very delicate that he broke down at Baden-Baden; and a religious journal, in stating the fact, was made to say, by the malignant types, that he "broke the bank" at Baden-Baden.

In Philadelphia, there is a small blacksmith shop, the bellows of which are operated by dogs. The bellows are connected with a wooden wheel box, which is kept revolving by the action of a gun which revolves after the manner of a treadmill.

Miss Belle Smith, of Indiana, has just completed for the Washington Common Council a life-size, full-length portrait of Secretary Stanton, that is pronounced by many to be the best likeness of the great War Minister ever painted.

The late Stephen Colwell, at his residence in Philadelphia, had a library which contained some seven hundred works on books and manuscripts, in every language in which books have been published.

There is a paper printed in the Cherokee nation in the "native dialect." An Arkansas editor says: "It is the worst specimen of pickled tongue we ever saw. It looks as though a nitro-glycerine explosion had occurred in a type foundry."

THE LONDON CLUB HOUSES. Club life has attained its greatest perfection in London. No city upon the continent can compare with it for the number of its clubs...

He also remarked that part of the works needed half-soling. He made these things all right and then, after his performance was over, he began to sing quite gaily for nearly eight hours...

DISHABITANTS - It is cheap and easy to destroy. There is not a joyful boy or innocent girl boy that does not have a dagger in his hand...

THE PRUSSIAN WAR SAUSAGE. One of the most important articles issued to the Prussian soldiers is a sausage which answers for a meat ration, and also makes capital soup...

WATCH-REPAIRING. Did ever a dentist look in your mouth without finding a hair on your teeth? It is not a hair on your teeth, but a hair on your watch...

SPONGES RAISED ARTIFICIALLY. The common washing sponge is still considered by many naturalists as a vegetable species, and in fact, most people look upon it as such...

GIDDIES AND RINGS. The fashion of wearing necklaces was revived by Agnes Sorrel. Charles VII. presented her with one of diamonds; she wore it always, but her necklaces were not made of diamonds...

OLD LETTERS - Is there anything sadder than the files of old family letters, where one can find the most touching and beautiful scenes of domestic life...

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., with a population of about 14,000, has a large number of churches, besides the public halls, in which religious services are conducted...
