The Tract Department.

Edited by A. H. Lewis. Agents of the American Sabbath Tract Society.

Gifts for the Sabbath Cause.

It should be remembered, that the operations of the American Sabbath Tract Society require regular and increasing contributions.

Will not the friends of Sabbath Reform see to it that the work shall not suffer through lack of means?

FROM THE FIELD.

Acknowledgments from Mr. Threlkeld, BAZON, Ill., April 24, 1872.

Dear Bro. Lewis—Since I have been but a short time through I wrote you a note, I now send another, designed for the Recorder.

When I decided to come out upon the Lord's side on the Sabbath question, it seemed as if I was parting with every earthly friend I had.

their faith by their works. I do not know exactly how many are practically obeying the truth; there are not less than seven, and perhaps not more than twelve.

effect upon body or mind than the wear and tear of the ordinary work. All which suppositions are violent.

THE BAPTIST VIEW. The Baptist journals do not accept Mr. Beecher's theory concerning the opening of Libraries on Sunday.

These seek homes at the expense of Sabbath and church privileges. I had no adequate conception of our loss in this direction till I had traveled many thousand miles in the West.

REMINISCENCES. I have been reading, in the Sabbath Recorder of May 9th, that our beloved brother David Dunn has passed away.

THE RECORDER. In view of the proposed transfer of the Recorder to the Tract Society at the middle of the present volume, and of the necessity of presenting a final account of the business at that time, he makes the following offer to those having accounts with the establishment.

Miscellaneous.

POPLINS.

Irish Poplins are fine fabrics, made of silk and worsted, for ladies' wear. The silk used in the manufacture of poplins is of the best Chinese or Italian varieties, and great care is exercised in procuring such as is known to be of uniform strength and quality.

HOW SOIL WAS MADE.

Professor Agassiz says that all the material on which agricultural progress depends are decomposed rocks, not so much that underlie the soil, but those on the surface, and brought down from considerable distances, and ground to powder by the rasping of the glaciers.

STREET LIGHTS.

In the reign of Louis XIV, one of the most beautiful spectacles was supposed to be the general lighting of the streets of Paris. The world was invited to witness the novel scene.

CHEERFUL ROOMS.

No room can be cheerful which does not admit a plentiful amount of sunlight; hence a room with north openings is desirable. For a sleeping apartment an eastern exposure is the best.

ODDS AND ENDS.

An Chapter of "Notes in Rome," in an English magazine, opens with the following anecdote: "Did you ever see a man in a top hat, a gentleman, in the interval of a wait, of his partner who had just returned from a short visit to the continent of Europe."

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

Twenty-three inches is considered the proper size for a lady's waist at the present day, when small, wasp-like waists are no longer admired.
