OUR LATE GENERAL CONFERENCE. NUMBER OF DELEGATES.

The number of delegates in at tendance at our late General Conference was only average, there being present none from the South-Eastern Association, four or five from the North-Western, and not an overflowing one from the Eastern or Western, although the attendance from these was fair. The Central - Association was of course well represented, as DeRuyter is easily reached by most of the churches in that region. SPIRIT OF THE MEETING It was gratifying to see that a large proportion of those in attendance meant work. These came to work, because they came from work. It will, however, be long before all who attend these gatherings come impressed with their importance in s) far as the great world-mission of our people is concerned. Outside labor was not originally the organizing force of our General Conference, but simply the looking after our own and our children's welfare. This made them largely social gathor discussed, but there is danger that discussions on these will be carerings, and in this respect they have proved a strong bond of union, for ried on to rather a wearying than edifying length. The question conalthough we have now become widesidered by those who speak should spread, we are still intensely one be, How can the cause best be subpeople. In this we sincerely rejoice, served? This would often shorten and pray the day may never come our speeches, and be the occasion when we shall be otherwise.

But the time has fully come when our people must prayerfully consider the claims the world has upon that will readily suggest themselves them for the preached word, and the spirit animating many in attendance upon our recent gathering showed that to them this was neither a new nor a transient thought. The business of the meeting was conducted in an excellent mood, and the devotional exercises were of a highly gospel understandingly, and multispiritual character. The sermons preached by brethren Tomlinson, Rogers, and Lewis, were well fitted to the ends sought by their delivery, and were highly appreciated by the congregations privileged with hearing them will sell. Still another way which is sure to succeed nine times in ten: after you have secured a sample and know just what it will do, you can approach almost any one who has any inclination at all to engage in any business of this kind, and readily stipulate with him to take a Washer or even buy a county if it will perform all claimed for it. You will succeed ninety-nine times in a hundred to make the Washer perform to his atisfaction. You should in that case lose no time in ordering a deed for your county, to be sent by express, C. O. D., if not convenient to advance the money. You should, meantime, continue to take orders, and by the time your deed would come to hand, you now being advertised so extensively quart of water-strain it carefully. might have a gross sold. You should likewise arrange with a tinner to make the Washer. The price will vary according to style and finish. I have known some agents to sell as high as twenty Washers in a day. After you have introduced it more or less in your county, you can take another county : and rest assured that whenever you can ge your county, you can take another county, and rest assured that whenever you can get a single Washer in the neighborhood, it will sell many more. Consequently, after you have sold a few hundred in a county, you can sell the right of your county for much more than at the start. You can calculate what your gains will be by buying a single ounty, but this is not a tenth part of what you ought to make, for while you are tra ling you will meet with many men who want to make money, to whom you can sell ights.
