THE SABBATH OUESTION. To the Editor of the Sabbath Recorder:

1. The Sabbath and Church His tory. From the testimonies of historians and learned men, we ascertain that two Sabbath doctrines originated with the Puritans: 1st. The perpetnity of the Sabbath law: 2d. Its application to the Sunday. (The quotations from Heugstenberg and Coleman, found in "Brown's Thoughts on the Sabbath," conclusively establish both of these points.) As the Romish priests tortured their imaginations to furnish authority for the observance of the pagan festival, Sunday, so now the Puritans tortured the Scriptures to supply authority for the observance of the Papal festival, Sunday, under the ist before the organization of the

Hence, it must belong to the second class. With this conclusion the Word and the Spirit fully agree. "Let no man, therefore, judge you in meat or in drink, or in respect of a holy day, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath days, which are 'a shadow of Christ's." Holy days and Sabbaths are thus distinctly declared to be but as shadows cast before by the advancing form of Christ. To suppose that an exception is intended, when none is made, is to discard proof on account of prejudice; to beg the whole question. To suppose that the most prominent of all holy days and Sabbath was not meant is the hight of unreason. Again, we are taught that the observance or neglect of a day can in nowise affect vital godliness, except as it concerns a weak conscience

God fixed another day which should be substituted for the seventh day, the day which Abraham saw and rejoiced in, the day of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ. Even as he provided another sacrifice which should be substituted for the lambs and goats and bulls of the old covenant, a sacrifice made once for all, so the rest is entered into once for all. After the types and shadows are passed away and Christ has there still remains a Sabbath rest for the people of God." "Let us therefore strive to enter into that rest, lest any man shall fall, after the same example of disobedience."
