448

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

EDITORIALS. - Overworked Ministers Refuse Outside Demands; Seventhday Baptist Pastors; Emergency De-

Editorial News Notes
Special Meeting of the American Sabbath
Tract Society
Meeting of the Sabbath-school Board 435
Please Notice
Charles R. Head, M. D 435
Summerville, Mo
This Little Child
Thoughtfulness of Others
His Goodness
The Toilsome Climb
Make Every Day Count
Love the Inspiration of Missions 437
MISSIONS.—Paragraphs; An Opportunity
Test Header Thank Michael

Lost; Haarlem, Holland ; Treasurer's WOMAN'S WORK.-A Russian Legend, The Forests as Pleasure Grounds 441 CHILDREN'S PAGE. - The Day Mother YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK.—The Reading and Study Course in Bible History. . 443 The Musician's Twilight, Poetry. 443 The Oldest City in the World. 444

TheSabbath Recorder.

A. H. LEWIS, D. D., LL. D., Editor. N. O. MOORE, JR., Business Manager.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Per year.....$2 00 Papers to foreign countries will be charged 50 cents additional, on account of postage. No paper discontinued until arrearages are paid, except at the option of the publisher.

ADDRESS.

All communications, whether on business r for publication, should be addressed to HE SABBATH RECORDER, Plainfield, or for THE

THE SABBATH VISITOR.

Published weekly, under the auspices of the Sabbath School Board, by the American Sabbath Tract Society, at

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

TERMS.

Single copies per year.....$ 60 Ten copies or upwards, per copy...... 50 Communications should be addressed to The Sabbath Visitor, Plainfield, N. J.

HELPING HAND

IN BIBLE SCHOOL WORK. A quarterly, containing carefully prepared helps on the International Lessons. Con-ducted by The Sabbath School Board. Price 25 cents a copy per year; seven cents a quarter.

THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST PULPIT. Published monthly by the

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY. This publication will contain a sermon for each Sabbath in the year by ministers liv-ing and departed.

It is designed especially for pastorless churches and isolated Sabbath-keepers, but will be of value to all. Price fifty cents per year.

Subscriptions should be sent to Rev. E. B. Saunders, Ashaway, R. I.; sermons and editorial matter to Rev. Geo. B. Shaw, Plainfield, N. J.

Utica, N.Y.

DR. S. C. MAXSON, Office 225 Genesee Street.

Gestry, Ark.

D ANIEL C. MAIN, M. D. Physician and Surgeon.

Milton College

First Semester begins September 12. 1906.

A college of liberal training for young men and women. Degrees in arts, science, and music.

Entrance requirements and required college studies identical with those of the University of Wisconsin. Many elective courses. Special advantages for the study of Anglo-Saxon and early English. Thorough courses in Biology and Geology.

The Academy of Milton College is an excellent preparatory school for the College or for the University.

The school of music has courses in Pianoforte, violin, viola, violoncello, vocal music, voice culture, harmony, musical kindergarten, etc. Classes in elocution and physical cul-

Club boarding, $1.50 per week; board-ing in private families, $3 per week, including room rent and use of furniture. For further information address the

REV. W. C. DALAND, D. D., President or Prof. A. E. WHITFORD, M. A., Registrar,

Milton. Rock County, Wis.

Salem College

SALEM, WEST VIRGINIA

Courses

Music, Classical, Philosophical, Scientific and Normal.

Equipment

Library, Apparatus, Geological and Natural History Cabinets.

Faculty

Seven Professors and four Instructors.

Expenses

Low. Opportunities for self help abundant.

FALL TERM BEGINS SEPT. 4, 1906

For detailed information address the President

CORTEZ R. CLAWSON, A. B.

TRACTS ON THE SABBATH. Issued by the American Sabbath

Tract Society, Plainfield, N. J. No. 1. The Sabbath and Spiritual Christianity. No. 2. The Authority of the Sabbath and the Authority of the Bible Inseparable. No. 3. The Sabbath as Between Protestants and Romanists; Christians and Jews. No. 4. Reasons for giving the Sabbath a Rehearing. No. 5. The Sabbath in the Old Testament. No. 6. The Sabbath and the Sunday in the New Testament. No. 7. The Sabbath from the New Testament Period to the Protestant Reformation. No. 8. Sunday from the Middle of the Second Century to the Protestant Reformation. No. 9. Outline of Sunday Legislation. No. 10. The Sabbath Since the Protestant Reformation. No. 11. Sunday Since the Protestant Reformation. No. 12. Various Reasons for Observing Sunday.

"Why I Am a Seventh-day Baptist." 20 pages.

"How Did Sunday Come Into the Christian Church?" 16 pages.

"The Time of Christ's Resurrection and the Observance of Sunday." 16 pages. "Bible Reading on Sabbath and Sunday." 8 pages.

Chicago, III.

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

D ENJAMIN F. LANGWORTHY. ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW.

Suite 510 and 512 Tacoma Bldg., -131 LaSalle St. Tel. Main 3141. Chicago, Ill.

BOARD OF SYSTEMATIC BENEVO-LENCE.—W. H. Ingham, President; Dr. Geo. W. Post, Corresponding Secretary, 1987 Washington Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. A. S. Maxson, Recording Secretary; O. S. Rogers, S. W. Maxson, Stephen Babcock, Chas. B. Hull, Dean A. E. Main, Rev. A. E. Wit-ter

Pledge cards and envelopes will be fur-nished free, carriage prepaid, on application to Dr. Albert S. Maxson, Milton, Junction, Wisconsin.

Seventh-day Baptist Bureau of Employment and Correspondence.

President—C. U. Parker, Chicago, Ill. Vice-President—W. H. Greenman, Milton Junction, Wis.

Secretaries—W. M. Davis, 602 West 63d St., Chicago, Ill.; Murray Maxson, 516 West Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.

Associational Secretaries—Wardner Davis, Salem, W. Va.; C. Laton Ford, Plainfield, N. J.; Dr. S. C. Maxson, 22 Grant St., Utica, N. Y.; Rev. E. P. Saunders, Alfred, N. Y.; W. K. Davis, Milton, Wis.; F. R. Saunders, Hammond, La.

Under control of General Conference. Denominational in scope and purpose. INCLOSE STAMP FOR REPLY.

Plainfield, N. J.

MERICAN SABBATH TRACT SO-CIETY. EXECUTIVE BOARD. STEPHEN BABCOCK, President, 48 Livingston Ave., Yonkers, N. Y. A. L. TITSWORTH, Secretary, Plainfield, N. F. J. HUBBARD, Treasurer, Plainfield, N. J. Rev. A. H. LEWIS, Corresponding Secre-ary, Plainfield, N. J. Regular meeting of the Board, at Plain-field, N. J., the second First-day of each month, at 2.15 P. M. HE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST ME-MORIAL FUND. H. M. MAXSON, President, Plainfield, N. J. D. E. TITSWORTH, Vice-President, Plainfield, W. C. HUBBARD, Secretary, Plainfield, N. J. JOSEPH A. HUBBARD, Treasurer, Plainfield, N. J.

Gifts for all Denominational Interests so-Prompt payment of all obligations requested. TTTM. STILLMAN,

> COUNSELLOR AT LAW. Supreme Court Commissioner, etc.

Milton, Wis.

VIT OMAN'S EXECUTIVE BOARD OF V THE GENERAL CONFERENCE. President-Mrs. S. J. Clarke, Milton, Wis.

Vice-Presidents-Mrs. J. B. Morton, Milton, Wis,; Mrs. A. R. Crandall, Milton, Wis. Corresponding Secretary-Mrs. T. J. Van Horn, Albion, Wis.

Recording Secretary-Mrs. J. H. Babcock, Milton, Wis.

Treasurer-Mrs. L. A. Platts, Milton, Wis. Editor of Woman's Page-Mrs. Henry M. Maxson, 661 W. 7th St., Plainfield, N. J.

Secretary, Eastern Association-Mrs. Anna Randolph, Plainfield, N. J.

Secretary, Central Association-Miss Ethel Haven, Leonardsville, N. Y. Secretary, Western Association-Miss Agnes L. Rogers, Alfred, N. Y. Secretary, South-Western Association-Mrs. G. H. F. Randolph, Fouke, Ark. Secretary, North-Western Association-Mrs. A. S. Maxson Milton Junction Wis

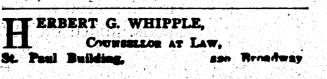

. S. Maxson, Milton Junction, Wis. Secretary, Pacific Coast Association—Miss thlyn M. Davis, Riverside, Cal.

ABBATH SCHOOL BOARD.

President—George B. Shaw, 511 Central Ave., Plainfield, N. J. Vice Presidents—Eastern Association, Abert Vice Presidents—Eastern Association, Abert Whitford, Westerly, R. I.; Central Associa-tion, Ira Lee Cottrell, Leonardsville, N. Y.; Western Association, Arthur E. Main, Alfred, N. Y.; South-Eastern Association, Herbert C. VanHorn, Lost Creek, W. Va.; North-West-ern Association, Herman D. Clarke, Dodge Centre, Minn.; South-Western Association, Gideon H. F. Randolph, Fouke, Ark. Recording Secretary—Corliss F. Randolph, 185 North Ninth Street, Newark, N. J. Corresponding Secretary—John B. Cottrell, Plainfield, N. J. Treaswrer—Frank L. Greene, 490 Vander-bilt Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

bilt Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Members-Esle F. Randolph, Great Kills P. O., N. Y.; Charles C. Chipman, Yonkers, N. Y.; Eli F. Loofboro, N. Y. City; Stephen Babcock, Yonkers, N. Y.;Edward E. Whitford, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Regular meetings the third Sundays in September. December and March. and the first Sunday in June.

New York City.

Secretary, South-Eastern Association-Mrs. G. H. Trainer, Salem, W. Va.

JULY 9, 1906.

1-3; 6-8 P. M.

C. CHIPMAN,

St. Paul Building 230 Broadway.

TARRY W. PRENTICE, D. D. S., "The Northport," 76 West 103d Street. LFRED CARLYLE PRENTICE, M. D. A. 155 W. 46th Street. Hours: 8-10 A. M.

RRA S. ROGERS, Special Agent. MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INS. Co., 137 Broadway. Tel. 6548 Cort.

Alfred, N. Y.

LFRED UNIVERSITY.

Alfred, N. Y. First Semester begins Sept. 18, 1906. BOOTHE COLWELL DAVIS, PH. D., D.D., Pres. ALFRED ACADEMY.

First Term begins Sept. 10, 1906. WILLIAM S. MAXSON, Ph.º B., Prin.

C EVENTH-DAY BAPTIST EDUCA-TION SOCIETY.

E. M. TOMLINSON, President, Alfred, N. Y.
Rev. ARTHUR E. MAIN, Corresponding Secretary, Alfred, N. Y.
V. A. BAGGS, Recording Secretary, Alfred, N.

A. B. KENYON, Treasurer, Alfred, N. Y. The regular meetings of the Board are held in February, May, August and November, at the call of the President.

LFRED THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY. A Rev. ARTHUR E. MAIN, Dean. The next year opens Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1906.

West Edmeston, N. Y.

7 OUNG PEOPLE'S EXECUTIVE BOARD.

President-A. C. Davis, Jr., West Edmes-on, N. Y. Secretary—A. L. Davis, Verona, N. Y. Treasurer—Eda R. Coon, Leonardsville

Junior Superintendent-Mrs. H. M. Max-son, Plainfield, N. J. Editor Young People's Page-Rev. L. C. Randolph, Alfred, N. Y. Associational Secretaries-Eastern, L. Ger-

Associational Secretaries—Eastern, L. rude Stillman, Ashaway, R. I.; Central, A. L. Davis, Verona, N. Y.; Western, E. A. Webster, Alfred, N. Y.; North-Western, B. F. Johanson, Milton, Wis.; North-Western, B. F. Johanson, Milton, Wis.; South-Western, C. C. VanHorn, Gentry, Ark.; South-Eastern, Amos Brissey, Salem, W. Va.

R. A. C. DAVIS, JR., General Practice. Specialty: Eye and Ear.

Westerly, R. I.

HE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST MIS-SIONARY SOCIETY.

WM. L. CLARKE, President, Westerly, R. I. A. S. BABCOCK, Recording Secretary, Rock-

GEORGE H. UTTER, Tleasurer, Westerly, R. I. REV. E. B. SAUNDERS, Corresponding Secre-Ashaway, R. I.

The regular meetings of the Board of Man-agers are held the third Wednesdays in Jan-uary, April, July, and October.

OARD OF PULPIT SUPPLY AND MINISTERIAL EMPLOYMENT.

IRA B. CRANDALL, President, Westerly, R. I. FRANK HILL, Recording Secretary, Ashaway,

Associational Secretaries—Stephen Babcock, Eastern, 163 W. 34th Street, New York City; Dr. A. C. Davis, Central, West Edmeston, N. Y.; W. C. Whitford, Western, Alfred, N. Y.; U. S. Griffin, North-Western, Nortonville, Kans.; F. J. Ehret, South-Eastern, Salem, W. Va.; W. R. Potter, South-Western, Ham-mond, La. d. La.

The work of this Board is to help pastor-less churches in finding and obtaining pas-tors, and unemployed ministers among us to nd employment. The Board will not obtrude information help or advice upon any church or persons, but give it when asked. The first three per-sons named in the Board will be its working force, being located near each other.

The Associational Secretaries will keep the working force of the Board informed in re-gard to the pastorless churches and unemploy-ed ministers in their respective Associations, and give whatever aid and counsel they can. All correspondence with the Board, either through its Corresponding Secretary or As-sociational Secretaries, will be strictly confi-dential. dential.

Leonardsville, N. Y.

HE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST GEN-ERAL CONFERENCE.

Next session to be held at .Leonardsville, N. , August 22-27, 1906. STEPHEN BABCOCK, President, 48 Livingston Ave., Yonkers, N. Y. Rev. E. P. SAUNDERS, Alfred, N. Y., Re-

REV. E. P. SAUNDERS, Alfred, N. Y., Re-cording Secretary. FRANK L. GREENE, 490 Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn, Corresponding Secretary. W. C. WHITFORD, Alfred, N. Y., Treasurer. Executive Committee-Rev. W. L. Burdick, Ashaway, R. I.; David E. Titsworth, Plain-field, N. J.; Ira B. Crandall, Westerly, R. I.; H. D. Babcock, Leomardoville, N. Y.; Esle F. Randolph, Great KWs. N. Y.; Rev. W. D. Rurdick, Faring III

ITE SABBATH RECORDER.

A Seventh-day Baptist Weekly, Published By The American Sabbath Tract Society, Plainfield, N. J.

Volume 62. No. 29.

AFTERWARD. "Have the gates of death been opened unto thee? or hast thou seen the doors of the shadow of death?" -Job 38: 17.

> Just to lie down and rest; To fold the hands? To toil no more; nor quest Through alien lands? To strive no more; nor gaze At Hope's far gleam? To know no clashing days, Nor even dream?

Can it be so? That we Shall drone and drift Down some eternal sea, Shall never lift Horizons new and strange? Shall find no dawn Whose constant sense of change Shall lure us on?

No profit of the years In toiling spent; Nor foolish faiths, nor fears-But dull content?

No place with them that build? No task to do?

Our hearts forever stilled: No plannings new?

Or, haply, does the night That blurs and bars Hide all the paths of light That thread the stars, Conceal from our poor eyes The worlds that wait Till we come pilgrimwise With souls elate?

Just to lie down and rest-And that is all? ⁻⁻ Or better still, and best, To hear a call Which none but souls set free May understand: "The greatest tasks that be Await thy hand!" -W. D. N. in the Chicago Tribune

What of Your Ancestry?

No man can understand himse who is not familiar with the influences which have produced him. Not less than four generations of your ancestors combine to make you what you are, or may be. By the same law, you will project your life through three or four generations of your descendants. You can not live alone. You can not escape the influence of the past, nor evade your responsibility for the character Divinely and work of those who follow you. This fact is quite as important as your immediate work is. What you now are, what you are doing or neglecting to do, can not be separated from the tide of influences and events which determine your personal destiny and the destiny of those whom your life affects and influences. The first two verses of Isaiah fifty-one are an appeal to are the most vital and forceful points in the the children of Israel to consider their ancestors world's history. The upward march of the and hence their duty and mission. Read it: world is led by minorities. All changes for the "Hearken unto me, ye that follow after right- better come through the few. Minorities which eousness, ye that seek the Lord; look unto the do their work well finally gain high honors rock whence ye were hewn and to the hole of even among men; much more at the hands of the pit whence ye are digged. Look unto Ab- God. They are the heralds of Jehovah. Think raham-your father, and unto Sarah who bore of the line which links the last twenty-five hunvou: for I called him alone, and blessed him, dred years. Moses, Isaiah, Jeremiah, John the and increased him." The simile is from a stone Baptist, Jesus, Paul, John Huss, Jerome of quarry. It tells of a block quarried and fash-Prague, Savonarola, Luther, Knox and the ioned for use, lifted from the quarry and placed thousand nameless ones whose words and lives in some foundation, a temple or a home. God glow with light and power, and will grow demanded much of the Israelites because of their brighter and brighter until the perfect day. He ancestors and of their posterity also. Seventhwho does not see that God's minorities are diday Baptists ought to heed the words of Isaiah. vinely kept and guided has read history in vain; They must consider whence, why and what they or not at all. Israel was a minority nation, are, in order to have a just conception of their standing for Jehovah and His Sabbath though duty and destiny. Each individual Seventh-day beleaguered by a polytheistic world. Abraham Baptist ought to do this. Each pastor ought to was one man against the world. Isaiah was do it; to do it often and with care. As a mione against a degenerating church. John was a nority commissioned to obey, defend and propasingle voice, "crying in the wilderness" of doubt gate a great and fundamental truth, they stand and questioning. Jesus was one against a in direct line with Abraham, Isaiah, John the church overwhelmed by self-righteous formal-Baptist, Jesus and Paul; in line with all who ism. Such is the deeper philosophy of the believe in the one God, Jehovah, in His Word world's history. It is God's plan. It can not and His Only Son. The existence of Seventh- fail. When an enduring minority grows strong day Baptists is not an accident nor a passing while centuries grow old and die, it is not vain incident in history. Aimlessness is no part of boasting to claim divine guidance and protection. their existence. Indifference concerning their It is blindness and unworthiness not to claim it. origin, mission and destiny is more than un-Such is God's assuring message to Seventh-day worthiness. Absorption in other things, other Baptists to-day. reforms, general work, to the exclusion or neglect of their specific work is scarcely less than THE RECORDER desires to give its criminal before God. God said to Cyrus, "I readers a good view of what is said About the girded thee though thou hast not known me." and done at the coming Convoca-Convocation (Isa. 45: 5.) These words have too much aption, which meets at West Edmesplication to Seventh-day Baptists. They are ton during the week preceding Conference. As not sufficiently conscious of the guiding and girdthe program is not yet announced THE REing of Jehovah for a great work. Lacking that CORDER hereby requests that all persons who are consciousness brings weakness. Flabby fingers to have addresses or papers on that occasion never do good work. Great work, and Godprepare, before hand, and bring with them for given, calls for fingers with steel-like grasp, not use in THE RECORDER a synopsis of their producrude, but strong and unvielding, a grasp which tions. The "twenty-minute" papers ought to be can not be broken. Such grasp, faith-born and brought within five hundred words. The evenpersistent, will be increased in proportion to the ing papers may take more space, if the authors knowledge Seventh-day Baptists gain concerning desire. Please do not wait until your paper is their ancestry and themselves. Re-discovery and read. Do the work while you are at home and self-discovery are imperative duties. have better opportunity to do it well. Do not expect that THE RECORDER will attempt to make ACCIDENTAL minorities die young the summary for you, off hand. Do not wrong yourself nor our readers by failing to comply Worthless cranks are short-lived with this request. We want the central thoughts God soon gives the world "good in our paper. Our readers are entitled to them. riddance" of them. They are trash for the dust heap of history. Enduring mi-Even an expert stenographer can not make as good a summary of your paper as you can. The norities are divinely preserved. They have defitime and thought needful, on your part, will nite missions. They are discoverers of discarded truth. They build highways to better things. make your paper better than it can be if you do Reforms never come without minorities. They not make such a summary. Please consider this a personal invitation from THE RECORDER, all ye for THE RECORDER's sake, but to help those who who accept a place on the Convocation program. We send the invitation early that you may be the better able to comply with it.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., JULY 16, 1906.

Kept

WHOLE NO. 3,203

through illustrations drawn from Salt natural laws with which people were familiar. His illustrations have universal application and adaptation. Those to whom he spoke were familiar with the qualities of salt. All people are familiar with those qualities. "Ye are the salt of the earth" combines warning, instruction and encouragement to every one who seeks to be a follower of the Christ. Less familful are the words in Mark 9: 50, "Have salt in yourselves and be at peace one with another." Too many persons forget self-salting. Such ones are sometimes anxious to salt their neighbors, and they are quite inclined to "rub it in" vigorously. Spiritual salt is a silent and vital influence. rather than a "counter irritant" to be Tapplied by an unsalted critic or an unskilled mampulator. Spiritual salt first saves men from themselves. This is a matter of supreme importance. It makes men sweet of soul, clean cf life and careful of tongue. It keeps them from spoiling at heart, from internal moral decay. "Keep thy heart with all diligence" means keep yourself well salted. Unsalted food is insipid. Unsalted men are poor companions, undesirable and offensive associates. The text quoted from Mark has that in mind. It teaches that unsalted men are quarrelsome, unpeaceful. Things The more closely men are related to each other great need there is for being well salted. It does not take many unsalted men to foment wide-spread discord. A well salted church will be peaceful and full of saving power. Salt permeates silently by its saving qualities. It is not noisy but it is effective. Life is never noisy, but it is always active and redemptive. Salt promotes harmony, a peace, because salted souls know how to "agree to disagree" in peace. They his playmates, is an enemy. But it is among are not self-seeking. They are truth-seeking. They see the larger good and labor for it, putting personal opinion aside. Salted men are not peaceful because they are opinionless and weak. They do not make for that guiet which comes through indolence and indifference. If need be salted men are best fighters as defenders of great truths. There is a wide difference between wrangling over a small notion and standing firmly for an important truth. Wranglers are boisterous and self-assertive. Truth-defenders may be less vociferous; but they are like rock-ribbed shores, unmoved and silent, as they break mad surges into harmless foam and helpless undertow that goes back moaning over its defeat. Jesus was divinely salted. You must be like him. Spiritual saltness is a heaven-born quality. Manufactured imitations do not count with God. "Pure food" is a first requisite with Him. "Have salt in yourselves and be at peace one with another."

Helpful Words

a good word for THE SABBATH RE-

CORDER. I do enjoy reading it.

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

read it, and to aid them in calling attention of others to it. A newspaper finds enlarged cir- "Leaves have their time to fall culation through its readers. Its strength or, And flowers to wither at the North wind's weakness depend on what its readers say about JESUS was greatest of teachers it. The correspondent quoted did not write for publication, but rather to assure THE RECORDER of her appreciation. She has helped THE REcorder by her words. The Recorder now hopes to help others through her words. THE RE-CORDER does not care to say much concerning itself, but it is anxious for the privilege of coming before the eyes of others, most of all, before those who are not now acquainted with it. Some people who take it are not well acquainted with iar, perhaps, but not less important and force- it. Habit or other hindrances keep them from reading it with care. Some weeks it is scarcely more than opened. Such people do not know THE RECORDER. Those who read it with most care are its best friends. This gives us no little comfort. There is not much higher praise given to the dead than when it is said: "Those who knew him best loved him most." The same is true of newspapers and of those who are still living. To know a person of high character and helpful influence is an unmeasured blessing. To know a newspaper like THE RECORDER in which many persons and pens unite to bring instruction, entertainment and comfort, is a privilege and blessing which ought to be highly prized.

Personality in

HE whose sense is acute finds marked personality in inanimate objects, i. e., in things we call inanimate. Nothing is without life the greater the demand is for co-operation, the and it is only comparatively that we can call anything inanimate. The more intelligent of domestic animals have strong personality. In many cases this is manifested in as many forms as personality is among men. We know a watch dog who can scarcely abide the coming of a laundryman. Other comers who bring things are welcomed. But the man who carries away the clothing of his master and of the children, trees and flowers that some of the most subtile and distinct characteristics of personality appear. The forests of Wisconsin furnished many lessons for the writer's boyhood, as to the personality of trees. White oaks, one or two centuries old, tall, majestic, strong, storm-defying and steel-hearted, impress themselves on the boy who gives faint assistance in bringing them to the ground and converting them into "sills" for a barn. That process always seemed like murder. It hurts to stand by, noting the shudder which convulses such trees when the last blows of the heart-cutting axe compel them to fall. They shriek and groan as they rush downward, rending their companions who stand in the path unable to give aid or to escape a share of the ruin. When they have fallen and their shrieks have ceased, the stillness of death,—a stillness like that which smothers a deserted battlefield, spreads over the forest and the tree murderer is prone to sit on the body of the dead monarch in shame and sorrow over his ruinous work. If it were not that A CORRESPONDENT from Andover, the better interests of the world must have barn-The same is true of cloud-kissing pine forests. made are celestial. Angels may know how to I went over Pine Hill,-the well remembered make them, but I think that God keeps the secret. ing. I would not be without it and do not see ancient cohort of pines had been slain for the of the River of Life with flowers immortal, know not what they lose." We do not print this half-covered grave of an old friend. But it and laugh and worship?

fall. breath

But thou hast all times for thine own. O Death."

THE most distinct personality in the village of Rockville, R. I., aside Flowers from men, is a forest of lilac bushes, which tradition says is a century old. I saw it once in blossom time,-a wilderness of blossoms and perfume. The lilac is the most loved flower of New England. The elements in its personality are almost numberless. Its aroma is as unmistakable as it is indescribable. It is ambrosial. What more can be said? As to color; some one attempted to describe it thus: "The lilac, various in array, now white, Now sanguine, and her beauteous head here set With purple spikes pyramidal, as if studious of ornament:

Yet unresolved which hues she most approved, She chose them all."

I recall an experience in Italy. We were riding along the eastern shore of the Mediterranean Sea, between Geno and Pisa. Olive orchards were on either hand. The leaves were at their richest and the fruit was half grown. The wind toyed with the branches and turned the leaves now up, now down, now quivering like lips slowbreathing, now flashing like eye-lids of lightning filled with clouds in August. President Allen broke the silence,---"Lewis, can you tell what color 'olive-green' is?" Babcock and Potter joined in the discussion. There was no definition. To this day those olive orchards remain in memory an indescribable complexity of color and motion. All three of those who sought a definition that day have gone forward to the land immortal. They know now. Come back to Rockville. Sit down on the grass,—the place is an old house a little way this side of the home of Hon. A. S. Babcock,-and read a bit of his-

"The lilac is a wanderer from the land of Esther, as its original name-word "lilag," Persian for a "flower," certifies. But it has a known history in America for more than two hundred and fifty years, having been one of the few precious roots brought over by some Pilgrim or Puritan housewife in the hold of some rocking ship. It was even at that time well established in the mother country, as references to it in the literature of Elizabethan days attest. It had come to England from Spain, where the Moors had brought it from the Barbary States, and they in turn had received it from Constantinople. The Turk had learned to love it in his original home in Central Asia, the cradle of the race."

Such a history could not have been attained without personality. It is said that Van Spuendecher, a Dutch artist, threw away his brushes in despair after vainly trying to paint a lilac blossom. "Lilac" is the name of a color which certain fabrics bear. Can you tell just what it is? N. Y., says: "I feel I must speak sills, it would be wicked to murder white oaks. Can the writer? No. The dyes of which it is Every number is filled with good to make the "Pine Hill of Alfred University,"—a few days Do you wonder that sanctified imagination fills heart rejoice, so instructive and helpful, a bless- ago, sorrow-stricken because the last of the heaven with "trees of life," and covers the banks how any one can afford to be without it. They lumberman's saw. Each stump was like the among which the Redeemed wander, and sing

Vol. LXII. No. 29.

must be that trees and men fill out their days and

Poetry and Religion

THE highest and most enduring poetry, all immortal verse, is born of religion. Religion and true poetry are too closely allied to be separated. It is not amiss to say that poetry is the natural language of religion. The highest poetic imagery is the language of faith. Herein is the source of hymns, psalms and tunes, and of all religious musical productions. These form the main part of sacred literature in all times. Tewish, or Christian, Asiatic or Teutonic. This general fact is recognized in Biblical study more readily than it is in modern poetry, but the best of contemporary poetry is equally_religious. Our own loved Whittier in "Our Master" will bear comparison with the most devout faith of any century. Let this bring evidence.

"But warm, sweet, tender even vet, A present help is he,

And faith hath still its Olivet,

And love its Galilee.

"Oh! Lord and Master of us all; Whate'er our name, or sign, We own thy sway, we hear thy call, We test our lives by thine.

"Deep strike thy roots, oh heavenly vine, Within our earthly sod, Most human, and yet most divine The flower of man and God." Faith in Eternal Love and everlasting day, and in man's immortal victories and in the same heart. "I know not what the future hath Of marvel or surprise, Assured alone, that life and death

His mercy underlies.

"And so beside the silent sea, I wait the muffled oar.

. No harm from him can come to me, On ocean or on shore.

"I know not where his islands lift

Their fronded palms in air;

I only know I cannot drift

Beyond his love and care.

Tennyson, laureate of our mother England, strikes the same notes, only in other imagery.

"Sunset and evening star,

And one clear call for me, May there be no moaning of the bar, When I put out to sea.

"But such a tide as moving, seems asleep, Too deep for sound and foam,

When that which drew from out the boundless deep,

Turns again home.

"Twilight and evening bell,

And after that the dark. May there be no sadness of farewell,

When I embark.

The twenty-third Psalm puts the same faith in other imagery in these immortal words:

"The Lord is my shepherd,

I shall not want.

He maketh me lie down

He leadeth me beside still waters,

He restoreth my soul."

David, Tennyson and Whittier, Hebrew and Anglo-Saxon, separated by many centuries, strike the same key, voice the same harmony, the divine poetry of loving and obedient faith. Blessed are all those who rise thus, through faith in Immortal Love.

One Leg

In one of George McDonald's stories, which discusses theological ory,-Sandy said: "If the Devil

THERE is an article about trousers "When a class of persons is so ignorant and with one leg, on another page. so subject to oppression and misleading that they are merely political children, not having the Find it. Read it. mental stature of manhood, then their voice in the government secures no benefit to them. A When the policy, therefore, in the South which excludes Devil was Sick problems,-we quote from memfrom the ballot impartially both the black and white, when ignorant and irresponsible, cannot were to repent, do you think the Laird would be criticised. Conceding that the laws now in forgive him?" Not exactly in the same line force in this State and other parts of the South but suggestive of it, is the following from the were intended, either by their terms or by their Interior of June 28, 1906: mode of execution, to exclude the ignorant col-"The devil's disposition to turn monk when he ored voter from the franchises with rigor, and to allow the ignorant white voter, though equally unfitted for the franchise, to exercise it, I do not think that this makes a hopeless situation for the colored man or the political power that he may in the future exercise. If he continues to increase in intelligence, as under the public educational institutions he is likely to do, and if industrially he becomes a power, as his progress thus far justifies us in believing that he will, the men of the race who are eligible to vote in accordance with law will increase, and their common sense and judgment and position in the community will add weight to the vote they cast, and will secure more real influence for the benefit of their race than when the right of suffrage of sn't feeling right well, was noted in a proverb away back in the days when proverbs and monks were more numerous and popular than they are nowadays. But the truth is still true, insomuch that anybody who hopes for the devil to die has reason to be specially interested when he shows signs of acute righteousness. We therefore are immensely interested in a passionate appeal just issued by the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association from their annual convention at Louisville. "Two of the greatest evils connected with our civilization," says this virtuous proclamation, are drunkenness and those saloons that are con ducted in such a way as to demoralize rather than elevate those that patronize them.' Its authors 'desire to express our entire sympathy the negroes was wholly unrestricted." with all the efforts put forth to exterminate these It is cause for thankfulness as well as comevils, and our willingness to lend co-operation mendation that benevolence is active in bringing and assistance,' and even mention 'the Prohibi temporary relief and enjoyment to the poor childtion movement and the Anti-Saloon League ren of the great cities, through "Fresh Air" movement' as forces to which this co-operation work. "Fresh Airs" have built a place for might possibly be extended. The paper declares themselves in the public mind and is a name "We believe it should be made a crime for men which is candidate for a place in the coming dicto become intoxicated. We hold that no man tionary. A new phase of this most Christ-like has a right deliberately to overthrow his reason work has been announced during the week: The and render himself a dangerous factor in so-"Rockefeller Charity for Sick Babies." The ciety." 'Thence it proceeds: "We believe that Tribune opens the story thus: the saloon should be so conducted that its at-"Tucked up in her little white crib in what used mosphere will be beneficial to both mind and to be the carriage house of the old Schermerhorn body, and we are convinced that this can only mansion, at Sixty-fifth street and the East river, be accomplished by extending the helping hand her scanty brown locks neatly combed, her tiny of encouragement to the man who conducts his form incased in the freshest of clean nighties, saloon in accordance with the demands of public her pink shells of fists automatically folding and sentiment and by a swift cancellation of th unfolding—for even at four months life is strenlicenses of all who violate law and public senti uous for a New York baby-lies Carolina Gaument." Well! Did you ever see anything that dio, of No. I Centre Market Place, the first baby beats that in the way of sprinting to get in out to be received at John D. Rockefeller's new fresh of the storm? We don't know, though, why any air camp for sick babies. prohibitionist ought to want to rout them out of "'This isn't a hospital,' said Miss Alice C. E. the corner where they have taken refuge. If lison, the superintendent. "And it isn't an inthey will agree to 'a swift cancellation of all stitution, either. It is just what its name imlicenses' for 'saloons that are conducted in a way plies—a fresh air camp for sick babies. Everyto demoralize rather than elevate those that patthing is to be done in the simplest way and is to ronize them.' what more could a prohibitionist be entirely free—that is what chiefly appeals to want?" me. There will be no red tape. Any sick baby EDITORIAL NEWS NOTES. coming within the age limit of eighteen months and not suffering from a contagious disease will The next Congressional campaign was opened, informally, but in fact, by Secretary of War Wil-be accepted, day or night." Affairs in Russia have not improved during liam H. Taft, in an elaborate speech at Greensthe week. Sedition and unrest abound, while boro, N. C., July 9, 1906. It dealt with national issues, especially those which more directly afperplexity, doubt and uncertainty entangle the fect the "solid South." The negro question has wisest and best men. Such results must be. The always been a troublesome one in the South, and old paths cannot be followed and new ones are that problem is as great as ever, in several renot vet made. Russian life is strong, strenuspects. Southern people deserve sympathy and ous, ignorant and brutal. Ancient wrongs and aid in the solution of those difficulties which surunjust systems are disturbed, but not removed, round them, resulting from the "race question," nor readjusted to changed situations. Time, patience and wisdom are demanded. While much which slavery handed down to them. It is a part of the question of general suffrage-"manof needed reforms will not be secured except hood suffrage" that confronts the nation in the upon the ruins that upheaval and reaction will problem of ignorant immigrants. The whole heap along the path of the perplexed and problem is grave and great. Speaking of the stricken nation, comparative calm will come at last; but storm and stress are not at an end. colored race, Secretary Taft is reported as say-The spirit of unrest and revolution has spread to Vladivostok and Harbin, outskirts of the empire, and reports say there have been six hundred executions in the latter place. The recipe is an old one and has sometimes been successful, but whether it will work on the imperial scale of Russia is a question. It is said "you cannot arrest a whole nation and thus cure an epidemic of crime;" much less can a great nation be saved by cutting the throats of thousands of men who need education and their rights. Russia needs new prescriptions and wiser physicians.

45I

The relations between France and Russia give double interest to the opinions of a noted Frenchman, Leroy-Beaulieu, who expressed the following opinion on July 10, 1906:

"It should be understood that the Russian situation is one of actual revolution. It is no crisis which can be measured by days, weeks or months, but is a vast and complete transition, resembling that of the French Revolution. When I say revolution I do not mean that the monarchy is certain to be overthrown, although it is possible that this may follow. The greater part of the leaders of the Constitutional Democracy desire to save the throne from wreck, but they recognize that they are not masters of the future. If the government does not satisfy the nation's demands, catastrophes of the gravest nature are ahead for Russia. Personally, I think that the overthrow of the throne would be a great disaster, for that would mean anarchy, and probably civil war."

The political weather vane just now shows waverings favorable for the candidacy of William J. Bryan as an aspirant in the next Presidential campaign. Mr. Bryan has had considerable experience in such matters. He is now in Europe. Secretary William Taft is also "in sight" as a candidate.

A monster dry dock belonging to the United States reached Olongapo, a naval station in the Philippines, July 10, after a voyage of ninetythree days from Chesapeake Bay. She was moved by powerful ocean-going tugs and convoyed by colliers. It was a great undertaking carried out with marked success.

Railroad companies are making haste to comply with the demand of new laws requiring their officers to cease all financial connection with the coal mines from which coal is freighted. -An order just promulgated by President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania railroad, is a representative

"Under the conditions of to-day, as they have been stated, it is essential that all officers and employes should be absolutely free to discharge their duties impartially. Applying this principle to the coal trade as an illustration, the keen competition of to-day requires every officer and employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to part with any investments which he has in the shares of any coal-producing company, and also to part with any interest which he has in or with any firm or individual mining coal, on any of the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad system; and every officer and employe should be required to refrain from any investments whatsoever which may possibly prejudice or affect the interests of the company or interfere with the company's full discharge of its duty to the public."

The Beef Trust and the railroads that have granted them unlawful rebates are being brought to bay by Court decisions. July 6 the Chicago and Alton road was found guilty on several "counts," the suit growing out of their dealings with the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Packing Company.

THE SABBATH RECORDER

Jules Adolphe Breton, a noted French artist, died July 5, 1906. He was born at Courrieres, France, May 1, 1827. His work related mainly to rural life. He lived among the common people and painted their lives in representative scenes and combinations.

The celebrations on July 4 were much broken up by unfavorable weather on the Atlantic coast and elsewhere. The follies and fatalities from noise and fireworks were lessened somewhat, as compared with last year-but "a sane and safe" Fourth of July is yet far away.

TRACT SOCIETY EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING.

The Executive Board of the American Sabbath Tract Society met in regular session in the Seventh-day Baptist church, Plainfield, N. J., on Sunday, July 8th, 1906, at 2.15 p. m., President Stephen Babcock in the chair.

Members present: Stephen Babcock, J. A. Hubbard, D. E. Titsworth, C. C. Chipman, A. H. Lewis, W. M. Stillman, F. J. Hubbard, H. N. Jordan, G. B. Shaw, W. H. Crandall, O. S. Rogers, W. C. Hubbard, Asa F. Randolph, A. L. Titsworth and Business Manager N. O. Moore, Visitor: Rev. Theo. L. Gardiner, D. D. Prayer was offered by Dr. A. H. Lewis. Minutes of last meeting were read.

Voted, That an edition of 5,000 of the tract entitled "Sure Word of Prophecy" be printed after revision, if necessary, by G. B. Shaw.

The Advisory Committee reported that they had ordered an edition of 600 copies of the tract by H. H. Baker, entitled "The Creation Described." The Supervisory Committee reported that there was an opportunity to dispose of the Publishing House by sale, and if disposed of to the parties desiring to purchase, the decision would have to be made at this meeting.

Voted that the matter be made a special order of business after the close of routine business.

Business Manager N. O. Moore, Jr., presented his annual report on the Publishing House for the year ending June 30th, 1906, duly adopted by the Supervisory Committee.

The committee appointed to see if our investments are made in accordance with the new legal requirements of the State of New York, presented the following report: Your committee reports that in accordance with the wish of the Board at the last meeting they have examined the securities of the American Sabbath Tract Society and while they find all of them first class and gilt-edged in every respect, they do not fully comply with the new laws of the State of New York, governing the investment of trust funds and we do, therefore, recommend the adoption of the following by-laws respecting investments: The funds of the corporation shall be invested only as follows: I. In the stocks or bonds or interest bearing notes or obligations of the United States: of the States of New York or New Jersey, or of any other state of the United States which has not, within ten years previous to making such investment, defaulted in the payment of any part of either principal or interest of any debt authorized by the legislature of such state.

2. In the bonds of any city or county of any state of the United States which has been issued pursuant to the authority of any law of any such state, provided, that no such city or county has, within ten years previous to making such investment, defaulted in the payment of any part of either principal or interest of any debt authorized by law of such state, and provided further, that the total indebtedness of any such city or county is limited by law to ten per centum of its assessed valuation.

3. In bonds and mortgages on unincumbered, productive real property in New York or New Jersey. No investment in any bond and mortgage shall be made until after the report in writing of a committee of directors charged with the duty of investigating the same, who shall certify the fee value of the real property (stating the value of land and buildings separately) and the annual rental value thereof, according to their best judgment. Such report shall be filed and preserved among the records of the corporation.

The amount loaned shall in no case exceed 65 per cent of the fee value certified by the committee: but if the annual rental value so certified shall be less than 10 per cent of such fee value, then and in every such case, the amount loaned shall not exceed 65 per cent of a sum equal to ten times the certified annual rental value.

4. In the first mortgage bonds of any railroad cor-5. In negotiable promissory notes secured by pledge poration in the United States which has paid dividends of not less than four per centum per annum regularly on its entire capital stock for a period of not less than five years next previous to the purchase of such bonds. of securities as collateral of the same nature and character as those in which the funds of the corporation may be invested; or by pledge of the capital stock of national banks, state banks, or trust companies which have paid dividends of not less than five per centum per annum regularly for a period of not less than five years next previous to the time of making such loan but only to the extent of 65 per cent of the market value of such collateral.

6. While awaiting investment, the funds of the corporation shall be deposited in such bank or trust company of the City of Plainfield or elsewhere as will pay at least 3 per cent per annum on savings bank deposits.

No funds of the corporation shall be loaned, directly or indirectly, to any director or officer of the corporation, for himself or as an agent or partner of others. No director or officer of the corporation shall in any manner use any of the funds of the corporation, except to make such current and necessary payments as are authorized by the Board of Directors. No director or officer of the corporation shall be accepted as indorser or surety, or in any manner as obligor, for moneys loaned by the corporation.

Report adopted.

committee on investment of funds." Voted, That the Committee on Investments consist of three members of the Board, of which the Treasurer shall be chairman. F. J. Hubbard, W. M. Stillman and H. M. Maxson were elected such committee.

The Treasurer presented his report for the fourth quarter and his annual report for the year ending June 30th, 1906. - On motion both reports were adopted, after being duly audited by the Auditing Committee, Correspondence was received from Mrs. Martha H. Wardner, and in replying thereto the Corresponding Secretary was requested to assure Mrs. Wardner of the good will of the Board, but also to state that being an incorporated body, we must be governed by the legal bearings on the

Voted that figures and data to be incorporated in the report of the Corresponding Secretary be referred to the Corresponding Secretary, Treasurer, Business Manager and Supervisory Committee with power.

On motion the report of the Corresponding Secretary was adopted.

Voted that the question of the sale of the Publishing House be referred to the August meeting, it having been learned at this meeting that the matter might be held in abeyance till that time. A communication was received from the Pub-

VOL. LXII. No. 29.

W. M. STILLMAN. F. J. HUBBARD, H. M. MAXSON, Committee.

Voted, That we amend Article II of the bylaws, by adding Section 6, which shall read: "A lishing House embodying a proposition to assume its own financial responsibility, which on motion | tures from its curriculum? was referred to the Supervisory Committee. On motion the matter of work at Campbell-ford. Canada, this summer, was referred to the Advisory Committee with power.

Minutes read and approved.

Board adjourned.

ARTHUR L. TITSWORTH, Recording Secretary.

OUR SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS. This is the age of investigation. Nothing stands before the scientific spirit of our time except it has proven itself worthy of the place it occupies. The International Sabbath-school Lessons form no exception. Just now our people are being asked to give their opinion of the International Lesson system. The matter has been brought before us by a resolution emanating from a school which says that the International Lessons are a "detriment" to the school.

The Nile Sabbath-school does not share in this opinion

The questions asked by our Sabbath-school Board were read before our school June 30, and were quite freely discussed the following Sabbath. No one advocated the selection and preparation of our own lessons, all who spoke of the matter agreeing that for the present that would be impracticable. There was some difference of opinion, however, as to whether the International Lessons or some topical system would be the better, with the prevailing opinion in favor of the former. Of course, there were some who favored the continued use of the International Lessons, because we have used them so long and with such good success and without a flagging interest on the part of the school. This forms no mean argument when made before a school with 102 members present out of an enrollment of 123, and all seemingly busy and interested.

Another argument in favor of the present system was that, whereas now the whole family is studying the same lesson, if a topical system should be used, different members of the family be studying different lessons. Busy would mothers would not be able to help their children as much as at present in the preparation of their lessons, and families who study the lesson together would be deprived of that privilege. [Then, would the reviews and the general exercises of the school be as interesting and as helpful as at present if a change were made?

It must be granted by those who have objected to the "hop, skip and jump" method of the International Committee that the ground of this objection is not so strong at present as an outline of the lessons for the next five years will reveal. The committee have yielded somewhat to the influence of modern thought and method and have improved the lessons thereby.

On the other hand, if in so far as the International Committee has yielded to this pressure from without the result has been an improvement, would it not be better to adopt a system which embodies more of these principles?

The child is not a man in miniature. Would a graded system with lessons selected for the different ages of children and young people, with the characteristics and needs of those ages in view, result in a better and at the same time a more practical knowledge of the Bible?

Would a system for adults which provides for a study of the Bible topically covering all of the Book, or taking it book by book, be better than one which selects lessons following certain rules which exclude large portions of the sacred Scrip-know it will be read; and sometimes when a title I am moved to write this because of the exis read that which is under it also will be read cellent discussion of the question in our own A Chicago tailor displays a sign which anschool. Some said, "We don't know enough nounces that he makes trousers at "$1.75 per about the topical system to be able to judge lcg." Inquiry reveals the fact that although he whether it would be better than the present sysuses a goose he is not foolish enough to furnish tem or not." trousers with only one leg. One cannot get Some one who has observed the topical systrousers at his shop except their two legs be tem as used in other schools please give us their properly sewed together and one pays $3.50 for opinion. What are the principles underlying them. But the tailor compels editors to read his the choosing of lessons? Will Professor Clark sign. This fable teaches that two things even tell us how well he succeeded in his study of the apparently complete when separate ought to be Life and Times of Jeremiah? Is some such brought together if they are to be made practistudy of a definite period advisable in classes of young men or young women?

As illogical and impractical as one-legged Don't let any one step up and settle this ques trousers is a denominational policy which fails tion for us now, once for all! Give us your to recognize both the interdependence and the opinion as to which is the better system if you independence of our churches and our missionwish, but give it that you may give your reasons. ary organizations. We have largely overcome This is an important question. We want inthe folly of over-emphasis of church independformation. I admire the school which, being unence" by the organization of associations, state familiar with other systems, sees the good points conventions and societies for the maintenance in the International system and stands up for it of missions in city and state and nation and in It shows an intelligent interest in, and a wise use foreign lands. Just as freemen have learned of the system which they find in hand. that political independence needs to be comple-If we continue the present system, I believ mented by federation, so independent churches it will be with a better appreciation for it. If need to be convinced that if the belief which Bapwe adopt a new system it will be because we betists stand for is to be propagated it must be by lieve it will serve the ends of the Sabbath-school means of co-operation as well as independence. better. The school that is getting the most out That church which is so insistent upon its inof the present system will get the most out of a dependency that it ignores the legitimate desires better system. If there is a better we want it. of sister churches is sure, in the end, to reap the Give us information, and if there is a change fruit of independency gone to seed. Some inlet the reasons be evident to those who are will dependency which is set forth as adherence to ing to weigh evidence and decide upon merit. Baptist principles is nothing other than plain, A, J. C. Bond. contemptible selfishness No church can pros-NILE, N. Y., JULY 10, 1906. -ber and live to and for itself alone.

THE FIELD SECRETARY IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Your Field Secretary came to West Virginia the week following the North-Western Association. One week was spent with the Lost Creek school and one Sabbath with the school at Roanoke. In both of these places we found evidences of earnest work and interest on the part of pastor and people in Sabbath-school work. Pastor Van Horn, as Associational Vice-President of the Sabbath-school Board, has done much valuable work, not only in these churches, but in others of our churches in West Virginia, during the past year.

Three sessions of institute work were held with the Lost Creek school, with encouraging results. A policy for the local school was worked out, looking toward the introduction of teacher training work, a cradle roll and supplemental lessons. An additional class has been formed in the order of services have been adopted.

It is because our great anniversaries as a whole, to many thinking men, give the impression of management on the one-leg-trousers plan that dissatisfaction with the meetings is so frequently and so emphatically expressed. Instead of making a profound impression upon the denomination they appear, in too large degree, to be frittering away a great opportunity. There and some changes in the seating of classes and needs to be the application of the "get-together" principle applied to these annual meetings. There At Roanoke two sessions of Sabbath-school may be "charta difficulties," as Dr. B. A. Greene work were held. A weekly teachers' meeting suggests in a letter in this week's issue, but Bapwas organized and the school is planning to take tists who are convinced, consecrated and conspecial offerings for different denominational incerned for the conquest of the world of Christ terests. It is hoped that the observance of specannot fail to find some method to overcome cial days by the school will become a permanent them, and thereby each and all our missionary feature of the work. A monthly meeting, at the agencies can be made more effective separately, time of the visit of the pastor, for teacher trainand infinitely more effective when federated.ing, is to be inaugurated. The Standard.

WALTER L. GREENE. MILETUS, W. VA., JULY 10, 1906.

Antagonisms can only be rooted out when greatest incomes of happiness. man has been made over in the image of God.-The three great fundamental laws of the kingdom of heaven are service, sacrifice and love. Bishop Andrews.

LIKE TROUSERS WITH ONE LEG. We know this title is undignified. But we

When it comes to our missionary societies a one-leg-trousers policy exposes the nakedness of our system. We cannot win the greatest missionary triumphs without co-operation of all our missionary forces. If there be a cleavage between women's societies and men's societies; if there be division into home mission and foreign mission cliques; if there be failure to link education with missions; if there is want of unity between pastors and laymen; if there be jealousy, or opposition, or pettiness, or unfair criticism, missions-the great object of all societies -and the cause of Christ himself cannot but suffer.

Christianity brings the pure joy of worthy occupation. Worthy work gives one of life's

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

Missions.

REV. EDWARD B. SAUNDERS, Corresponding Secretary Ashaway, R. I.

"SEEK YE FIRST THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN."

If the United States and Great Britain, two of the leading Christian nations of the earth do not do this, of what nations can we expect it? Churches and Missionary Boards are kept begging for means to carry forward this work. Christian people ever find fault that so much of this is done.

The United States Congress on May 17th passed a naval appropriation bill of nearly one hundred million of dollars; Germany six years ago voted ten times that enormous sum, for the expansion of her navy, and has since increased it by two hundred and fifty million more. Do we realize that thus the expenditures of three leading nations, Britain, Germany and the United States, for war ships alone, and within a decade of years, exceeds more than threefold all the money given to foreign missions, by the whole Protestant church, since Carey went to India. one hundred years ago? What an unpleasant contrast to think of, the use of funds to carry on the work of the Prince of this World and that of the Prince of Peace.

THE WELSH REVIVAL.

One of the signs of the times is the manifest blessing accompanying the mere narration of what has been going on in Wales. For example, Rev. Joseph Smale,, of Los Angeles, returning from a recent visit, simply rehearsed to his own people, in the First Baptist church, what he had seen and heard. The church was crowded, and as he told the simple story some two hundred people, amid the sound of sobs and inarticulate prayers, pressed forward, to the front, confessing sin, seeking to right wrongs, and heal dissensions, and get right both with God and man. This morning meeting was prolonged into the afternoon and almost joined hands with the night meeting. For sixteen weeks the work went on, every afternoon and evening; no two meetings being alike, and scenes, unrivaled in that church, came to be common and attracted attention all over the city and State. One marked effect was the prostration of caste barriers. High and low, fashionable and outcast, white and black forgot their differences in the unity of the Spirit. And as such freedom of the Spirit was not relished by some, an independent New Testament church is the outcome, meeting in Burbank Hall. Meetings, five hours long, are spent in continuous prayer. No such visitation of God accompanied the work of Dr. Chapman and a score of evangelists and singers as this simple recital by Pastor Smale of what he saw in Wales. Street meetings are held, followed by services in the hall, homes are visited and places of employment. The new church already sends out two missionaries to China, and a mission band is organized, to follow as the Lord leads.

All this reminds us how the great upheaval in Uganda began, in 1893, with Pilkington's perusal of the appeal of David, the Tamil evangelist, and the reading of the report of the addresses at the Keswick convention in England, leading the missionaries to seek a new victory over sin, and a fresh anointing for themselves in their work.---Missionary Review of the World.

THE YEAR IS HALF GONE.

One of the first reports received, this second quarter, was from one of the smaller missionary churches, that at Shingle House, Pa. It has been so reduced in numbers that some have advised giving up the struggle for a Seventh-day Baptist church in this little city of more than a thousand and the only church bell to call men to prayer, people. Pray for this work, that greater good and to think of God on Sabbath morning. The may yet come. report says they have now introduced the monthly collection for the Missionary Society. It occurs the last Sabbath in the month. They feel indebted to the Missionary and Memorial Boards for the help given them in repairing the church and keeping a pastor. With the quarterly report Pastor Kenyon sends his check for one dollar, the amount of the first collection; I mention this because it is in the reach of every church in the denomination to do this or more. It is not a bad collection for this little handful of people. It exhibits a remarkable spirit; will other small churches do the same? Those of you who are too proud to send so small an amount please send more. It will make the Board feel that you are interested in their struggles; that you have some system, and are trying to help carry the load. Any system is better than none. What I say is not to interfere with the work of the "Board of Systematic Benevolence." I hope you have not only adopted it, but that money returns are actually being realized. Do you know what a monthly remittance from every church in the denomination would amount to? It would result in paying our debt, in sustaining preaching appointments in every church on the field, in reinforcing the China mission and in sending missionaries to the Gold Coast, Africa. I wish that all of the churches who dare to go before the people in black and white on this question would kindly write me. It would help create an interest, and concert of action along this greatly needed line. One other good thing came to this same little church; two new members; life in one respect means life in another. I do not know which was the forerunner of the other, the missionary collection or the addition to membership. It does not matter, try them both and report. know this church and pastor will excuse me for what I have said of them, if only they can help others to the same blessing. God bless the churches numerically small.

find I have overlooked in last quarter's reports an item of interest. I am sorry not to have given it to you in its season, for it has in it just the things which interest the people. I will 'try and give such items immediate attention hereafter. Please send me full reports of all the work. The one to which I refer is from Sister Perie R. Burdick, from New Auburn, Minn., and is as follows:

During the quarter which has just passed we have tried as best we could to serve the Cartwright church. It was very cold weather when went in January and so only remained over one Sabbath; preaching twice, and made five calls. On Thursday before the first Sabbath in February I was accompanied to Cartwright by Miss Anna Ayars, of Dodge Center, Minn., who is a consecrated Christian singer. We remained ten days, held eleven services and made twenty pastoral visits.

All denominations in the village attended and assisted in prayer, testimony and song. We had solo, trio, quartet and singing by the congregation. In all of this Miss Ayars rendered valuable help. Our church was much revived and we are hoping for additions. Some five or six among the First-day people decided to live for Christ and several again took up Christian duties. It was indeed a union meeting, Methodists, United Brethren, Presbyterians, First-day Baptists, First-day Adventists and followers of Dowie all took an active part. It has created an excellent people, even though we have a church building, Christian spirit in the community and toward our

SHANGHAI AND LIEU-OO.

The following is from a letter dated May 25th, written by Brother D. H. Davis to the Missionary Board:

Thank you very much for your letter referring again to my coming home this summer. It does not seem at all best for me to do so. The work on the buildings at Lieu-oo is going on well, but everything will not be complete before the first of July. Even with all of my experience in this line of work it is difficult to get everything done as it should be. Since I am held responsible to the contractor and for the work I feel I must stay by until it is done.

Another reason for not thinking it best for me to come is that Mr. Crofoot is to leave on his vacation home the last of June, if possible; this would, if I should go also, leave no one but the ladies in our mission. It would be putting too much burden and responsibility on them to be left all alone. I should be delighted to make the trip and be present at the Conference and add my mite to the interest on that occasion. I should plead for a man of some experience and good judgment and full of zeal for work of the Lord to be sent to Lieu-oo.

A young man too young would not do at all as it seems to me. I believe if the work there was properly arranged for we might hope for more visible results than even in Shanghai from the fact that there are no other missions to divert and draw those who become interested away from us. Since my going to look after the building several have come into touch with us, about which we knew nothing before, and are now inquiring into the truth. Six or seven have given their names, saying by this that they desire to become Christians. Three have come frequently to our evening prayer. I pray that they may all come into the full light. There is a very friendly feeling on the part of all the people in that section. Dr. Palmborg has done much to open up the work and I wish we could now put a good, strong man and his wife there. There is quite a large section of the country all about unoccupied and it seems that we oughtto be the mission to take possession of this opportunity.

I am in Shanghai to get some lumber and other things for the house at Lieu-oo, will go back on Sunday or Monday. Mr. Crofoot is going to Lieu-oo this afternoon. He wishes to go out once before going home so he would have a better idea of how things are. I think he should do this.

> OVER THE RIVER. "Over the River"-the old, sweet song! The road to the rest there is not so long; A song and a sigh, and a brief Good-bye And we meet with the dreams 'neath a stormless sky.

"Over the River"-the song that thrills In music down from the heavenly hills; The pain and peril of Life's time past, And the rest that is given of God at last!

"Over the River"-so sweet it seems To drift away to the starlit dreams! To fear no more the fall o' the Night "Over the River" where "Love is Light!" -Frank L. Stanton in Atlanta Constitution.

Vol. LXII. No. 29.

Woman's Work.

ETHEL A. HAVEN, Leonardsville, N. Y.

THE LADIES' AID.

We've put a fine addition on the good old church at

It's just the latest kilter, with a gallery and dome. It seats a thousand people-finest church in all the

And when 'twas dedicated, why, we planked ten thousand down. That is, we paid five thousand-every deacon did his best-And the Ladies' Aid Society, it promised all the rest.

We've got an organ in the church, the finest in the land; It's got a thousand pipes or more; its melody is grand. And when we sit on cushioned pews and hear the master play,

It carries us to realms of bliss unnumbered miles away. It cost a cool three thousand, and it stood the hardest

We'll pay a thousand on it-the Ladies' Aid the rest.

They'll give a hundred sociables, cantatas, too, and teas; They'll bake a thousand angel cakes, and tons of cream they'll freeze.

They'll beg and scrape and toil and sweat for seven • years or more.

And then they'll start all o'er again, for a carpet for the floor.

No, it isn't just like digging out the money from your

When the Ladies' Aid gets busy and says, "We'll pay the rest."

Of course we're proud of our big church from pulpit to the spire;

It is the darling of our eyes, the crown of our desire; But when I see the sisters work to raise the cash that lacks,

I sometimes feel the church is built on women's tired backs

And sometimes I can't help thinking, when we reach the regions blest,

The men will get the toil and sweat, and the Ladies' Aid the rest

-J. N. N., in Reformed Church Herald.

REPORT OF WOMAN'S BOARD.

The Woman's Board met in regular session at the home of Mrs. J. H. Babcock, Milton, Wis., Tuesday, July 3, 1906, at 2.30 p. m.

dall, Mrs. Platts, Mrs. Van Horn, Mrs. Maxson, Mrs. Babcock.

Mrs. Clarke being absent, Mrs. Morton read Psalm 100, which was followed by prayer.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved and the Treasurer's report was read and adopted.

Letters containing remittances and reports of work were read by Mrs. Platts. Many small sums come to the Board unappropriated, and while it is well for all of our women to be informed concerning the great financial needs of the work in hand, such expressions as "To be used as you think best," "Put it where most needed," "Do the most good with it you can" are appreciated by the Board, and the confidence a fellow-men. Those who would be workers with expressed makes the responsibility somewhat God must strive for the perfection of every organ easier to bear.

Cal., reporting letters written to Sabbath-keeping women and visits made. As she is about to leave California, she offered her résignation as Dr. Crumb's paper were cheerfulness, health, Pacific Coast Secretary.

Mrs. Van Horn read an interesting letter from Dr. Rosa Palmborg, who wrote of her every-day work and busy home life. She greatly rejoices that the building of her house is progressing.

An account was read of an Orphans' Home at Chattanooga, Tenn., that was founded and is

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

Sabbath-keeper. She allows no work done, not form a man you should begin with his grandmother. Anything that lessens physical strength even cooking of meals, on the Sabbath, which she observes from sunset to sunset, and her enfeebles the mind and makes it less capable of discriminating between right and wrong. We charges are strictly taught the Sabbath truth. become less capable of choosing the good and Motion carried that Mrs. Van Horn write to have less strength to resist evil. Missionary Mrs. D. H. Davis, asking for suggestions concerning the making up and sending out of a Christmas box for the Shanghai mission, a full notice of which will appear on Woman's Page when arrangements have been completed. By vote Mrs. Morton appointed Mrs. S. J. Clarke, Mrs. A. R. Crandall and Mrs. T. J. Van Horn to prepare a prayer calendar to be sent out by the Board, and report progress at the next meeting.

Board adjourned.

MRS. J. H. BABCOCK, Rec. Sec.

The readers of Woman's Work are indebted to Mrs. M. I. Stout for the following report and for the extracts from two. of the papers. The third paper is promised us for publication soon.

REPORT OF WOMAN'S HOUR AT THE NORTH-WESTERN ASSOCIATION.

Conducted by MRS. DR.L. M. BABCOCK.

The ladies of the Jackson Center church were somewhat disappointed in that none of the Woman's Board could be present at this Association. Sufficient interest was shown in the services of the Woman's Hour so that a large congregation was present.

A letter from the Corresponding Secretary was read by the leader, Mrs. Babcock.

Paper—"Christian Work and Workers," by Mrs. W. D. Burdick. Read by Rev. W. D. Bur-

Paper—"Sketches From Our China Missions," by Mrs. J. W. Crofoot. Read by Mrs. M. I. Stout.

Paper---"Improving Our Talents, or Gifts,"

The "indenture" plan is preferred. Most conby Dr. Gertrude Crumb. Read by Miss Nina verts are secured from this class. The vacation comes about the 12th of July, lasting until early Polan The papers were interesting and instructive. in September, and the Chinese "New Year vaca-I' trust that as a result of the meeting our so- tion"-usually in February and March-after Members present: Mrs. Morton, Mrs. Cran- ciety may be inspired to do better work for the which school year begins. Sabbath services are held on Sabbath afternoon in the chapel of girls' Master school, followed by Sabbath-school, which in The music for the hour was furnished by quartet of ladies, composed of Mrs. turn is followed by the girls Y. P. S. C. E. The weekly prayer-meeting is Wednesday afternoon. A. J. Lawhead, Mrs. M. I. Stout, Miss Nina Polan and Miss Estella Lippincott. On Sunday occurs teachers' meeting. Friday evening at 7 is the prayer-meeting in each school; EXTRACTS FROM THE PAPER WRITTEN BY also a meeting in each school for the study of DR. GERTRUDE CRUMB.

Her paper spoke of life as being a great gift Sabbath-school lessons. and of what should be the main object in life. Mrs. Crofoot speaks hopefully concerning advancement along some lines. She said that some The question is not how many talents we have received, but what are we doing with those which of those who have been taught in the schools and have become Christians, break away from the we have. - All gifts and endowments acquired, Chinese custom of betrothal and marriage, and natural or spiritual, are to be employed in adopt Western ideas of acquaintance and court-Christ's service. The full development of all of ship as prerequisites to marriage. This results our powers is our first duty to God and to our in giving women a much higher place, and in much happier homes. The hope for the future of Christianity in of body and quality of mind. Character is not Miss Ethelyn Davis wrote from Riverside, inherited, but is earned by individual effort. We China is in establishing educated and Christian can never reach a higher standard than we set homes. Mrs. Crofoot also spoke briefly of some of for ourselves. The gifts or talents spoken of in the native teachers as being persons of ability, naturally quick, kind-hearted, never sparing time and influence. Much emphasis was placed themselves if a kindness they can do. Such upon the first gift-being cheerful brings happiness to ourselves and is an effectual help to the ones are highly respected. She closed by asking the prayers of God's people, that in their happiness of others. As a nation, we are prone to be melancholy, reaching after imaginary grievassociations with the Chinese in different ways they may be given wisdom to do and say that ance and trouble—the result is a breaking down which shall help them to a full knowledge of of the nervous system. The laws of heredity are maintained by Mrs. A. S. Steele, who is a strict fairly well understood. Dr. Holmes said to re- God.

MRS. S. J. CLARKE, Pres.

A plea for out-of-door life was entered. Being in the sunshine and coming in touch with nature is one of the greatest sources of health. One can not keep fresh and strong in "cold storage." Our time belongs to God. In the time given us here we have to form characters for immortal life. Christ is our pattern. Be fervent in spirit, serving the Lord. Influence: Every soul is surrounded by an atmosphere of its own. And all with whom we come in contact are affected by this atmosphere. Life carries almost an invisible influence and it is only through God's grace and the prompting of His spirit that we can make right use of this endow-

EXTRACTS FROM THE PAPER WRITTEN

BY MRS. J. W. CROFOOT.

The purpose of this paper is not an address on mission work in general, but simply notes giving some idea of a week's routine of some of the missionaries, and to speak briefly of the Chinese church members.

Mr. Crofoot spends the forenoon teaching English. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday afternoons he reviews the Chinese studies, covering previous week's work, which is taught either in colloquial or mandarin by the native teacher, who has general oversight. The study hour is from 7 to 8.30 a. m. The boys are of three classes: "Walkers," or those who come in forenoons for English only; full-pay "Warders," those who pay half and agree to come a certain number of years. All are required to attend morning devotion.

WOMAN'S BOARD.
Receipts in June, 1906.
August 1905-May 1906, previously reported$1,675 Associational Collections:	64
Eastern Association, A. J. Spicer,
Treas., Plainfield, N. J$ 8 79-
Western Association, Agnes L.
Rogers, Alfred, N. Y 13 00
North-Western Association, L. A.
Platts, Treas., Milton, Wis 4 95–26	74
Societies and Individuals:	/4
Brookfield, N. Y., Woman's Missionary Aid Society: Palmborg
House, $3; Mary Janz, $2; Board
Expense, $$5$
Chicago, Ill., Ladies' Society: un-
appropriated 20 00	1911) 1911 - No
New Market, N. J., Ladies' Aid Society: Miss Burdick's' salary 10 00
Nortonville, Kan., Ladies' Missionary Society: unappropriated 50 00
Nortonville, Kan., Mrs. S. E. Brinkerhoff, Java Mission 5 00
Nortonville, Kan., Lena Maxson,
Java Mission I 00
Riverside, Cal., Dorcas Society: unappropriated 10 00
Salem, W. Va., Ladies' Society:
unappropriated 10 00
Wausau, Wis., Mrs. Emma Coon
Witter: Tract Society 2 00
Westerly, R. I., Woman's Aid So-
ciety: Miss Burdick's salary,
$36.50; School at Fouke, Ark.,
•
$10.00
ty: Miss Burdick's salary, $10.00;
China Mission, $2.00; Board Expense, $1.50 13 50- 178 0	0
178 U	U
Total for eleven months$1,880 3	- 8
Mrs. L. A. Platts, Treas.	0
$\mathbf{M} \mathbf{K} \mathbf{K} \mathbf{K} \mathbf{K} \mathbf{K} \mathbf{K} \mathbf{K} K$

MILTON, WIS., June 30, 1906.

PLEASANT MEMORIES. MRS. C. M. LEWIS.

Dear Dr. Lewis

 $\neg \land$

Your editorial in last week's RECORDER. "Up to the Hills," is inspiring in many ways. Its calls to mind many rich religious experiences, when from the lower level of daily communion my soul has been lifted to the joyous heights of spiritual exaltation and closer communion with the Infinite Father, which gave new strength and courage to take up again and bear patiently heavy burdens, in the bearing of which I often found, after many days, pearls of great value to enrich the soul. Surely our Heavenly Father knows what is best for us, and He makes no mistakes. The words of our Lord, "I will not leave you comfortless, I will come to you," and "Lo, I am with you alway" are very precious to me. "Up to the Hills" also brought to mind some delightful experiences amid mountain scenery. One such experience I recall so vividly that I have portrayed it in verse:

The birds had ceased their musical thrills As the sun peeped over the Berkshire hills; From the winding river a mist up rolled, Enwrapping the town in a silvery fold So dense that no building or tree could be seen, As we stood looking forth from an archway of green

Which climbed o'er the porch by the door.

The mountain summits stood alone, serene, Like sentinels guarding the shadowy scene. But soon the church spires mistily fair-Like ethereal temples hung in mid-air-Reminders of the golden city eternal

Which St. John saw descending from heights supernal-Were seen tipped with rays from the sun.

Old Graylock, the monarch of Berkshire hills. Wore his silver crown, and from river and dells Silver mists were rising like incense to heaven, The blue sky peeped through, where the masses were riven,

The nearby hills came again into view As the rays of the sun the mist upward drew, And the perfect day was begun

Though years, long years, have since passed away. -How we packed our baskets and took our way To the wooded heights to spend the day; How the breeze that swept over the Berkshire As we upward climbed through the leafy dells. Was spicy and fragrant as incense rare Distilled from many a tree and flower; How the wood was vocal with song. How the children frolicked as gay as the birds As we wandered on through the sweet scented woods Stopping oft, some rare nook of beauty to greet, Where low-arching boughs made a sylvan retreat Over green mossy mounds, and tangles of ferns. And gray rocks enwreathed with trailing vines, Where fairies might revel all day. At times our feet rested on some open height Where rich valleys, bathed in golden sunlight, Were spread out before us, and shadowy hills Lent all the enchantment a distant view yields, While fleecy clouds hovered like white-winged doves. Sending light rippling shadows o'er fields and Making lovelier far, the scene. At times we climbed to some high mound And spied Old Gravlock—the far renowned— Majestic, kingly, high enthroned O'er mountain peaks-a monarch crowned-A monarch who, from year to year, Homage received from sage and seer: In dignified repose. O'er hills and through valleys we wandered on, With many a pause and many a turn, Till at length we came where a mountain stream played Over high beetling rocks in a silver cascade, And the wimpling waters edified and flashed As over the rocks they swirled and dashed: Then laughingly hurried away. The cloth for our midday lunch was spread 'Neath a tree at the foot of the singing cascade

Whose soft liquid notes sweetest harmony made As we rested, and chatted, and lunched in the shade So that even the children, with voices subdued Seemed touched with a reverent sensitive mood

Befitting some heavenly shrine. As memory turns backward across the years How freshly vivid the whole scene appears;

These fair pictures once hung in memory's hall Abide with us ever-subject to call.

They are living pictures inwrought in the soul, And we turn them to view whenever we will,-

They're a joy to us forever. Alfred, N. Y., June 26.

CORRECTION.

Edelstein, Ill., July 5, 1906. EDITOR SABBATH RECORDER: The report by N. O. Moore, Jr., of the proceedings of the last day of the North-Western Association, in last week's RECORDER, is a fair example of the results of "Absent treatment;" and should prove a terrible warning to all that may be tempted to pursue that method in the future. Permit the following corrections:

The Pastors' and Workers' Conference was conducted by Dean Main, in the absence of George W. Burdick. He was assisted by L. A. Platts, Edwin Shaw and W. D. Burdick. At 10 o'clock a resolution, presented by Rev. T. J. Van Horn, relative to bi-ennial sessions of the Associations and of the General Conference, was taken from the table and generally discussed. It was referred to the Executive Committee for future consideration. Dean Main preached at 11 o'clock (as reported), W. H. Ingham was not present. Missionary interests were presented at 2.30 by Secretary Saunders. Following, Wayland Wilcox preached (as reported). The lat- liable to grow. Children playing with matches ter part of Mr. Moore's report doubtless is a may burn a city. The time to consider is before ing, which has become misplaced. Rev. W. D. Burdick was made Moderator for the ensuing year. The next place for the meeting of the Association is Albion, Wis. Very truly,

F. E. PETERSON. Moderator of the Association.

The report as published was merely a compilation of a printed program and several memoranda, furnished for the purpose. N. O. M., JR.

WHAT OF THE NIGHT? BY ELIZABETH C. CARDOZO. Watchman, what of the night? The sun drops red on the hill, And the dark draws near apace, And the night wind wreaks its will And I—I have gun my race, I have fought my latest fight. Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night? Is is fraught with many a fear? Is it silent and dark and cold? Is there never a comrade near, And never a hand to hold, Nor promise at last of light Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night? I have fought and fallen and lost, I have fought and striven and gained, And which at the heavier cost? But a whisper still remained Of an unrevealed delight-Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night? Nay, is their aught to tell? If I wake, why, it is well

Can it prove more strange than this? If I sleep, why, well it is. So there come no dreams to fright-Watchman, what of the night?

Opie Read in the Arkansas Traveller tells as actual truth the following remarkable story: "During the recent dredging of Fox river, in Tennessee, the sunken remains of the once nervous little gunboat, the Yellow Jacket, were discovered. The sinking of the Yellow Jacket was the most remarkable accident that ever occurred in this country. The complete details of the affair could not be obtained at the time-in fact, we are in possession of the only authentic account. Here it is, told by John P. McLuskin, now a well-known physician of Coffee County, Tenn.

"'It occurred,' said the doctor, 'when I was a lad. There had been a heavy snow, and sev-. eral boys, including myself, were prowling about hunting rabbits, and we began to amuse ourselves by rolling a snowball. We were, at this time, on the long hill known as Benson's Slope. We rolled the ball until it got to be as big as a hogshead; and then, as it was easy to roll down the hill, continued to turn it over. To our great delight, it became easier to roll, and suddenly, to our great surprise, it broke away from us and went bounding down the slope. Then we beheld a startling sight. The ball grew so rapidly that it soon looked like a rolling mountain. It picked up a wagon and team, took up a negro cabin, and then, with a tremendous bound, fell into the river, just in time to strike and completely bury the gunboat Yellow Jacket. Not a soul on board escaped."

The story, true or false, points a moral. Before a man sets out upon or initiates a course of action, commits a sin, or undertakes any enterprise, he is bound to consider to what it will be part of the proceedings of the Iowa Yearly Meet- the snowball gets started down the slope.

MOMENTUM.

Young People's Work. LESTER C. RANDOLPH, Editor, Alfred, N. Y.

GOD'S FIRST TEMPLES.

It's easier to believe in God, anyway, amid forest and stream and hillside where nature speaks in her tranquil tones on bright summer days and where the fierce sudden storms awe the tiny atom of humanity into reverence-or terror. The groves were God's first temples. It is no wonder that the ancients sought high places and forests in which to worship. The Lord of heaven never objected to them-in themselves. If, for a time, such places were under the ban, it was because they were polluted with licentious heathen worship, from which every man who wished to keep pure should remain aloof. It is the devil's cunning, we know, to draw out some elemental longing of man, and then poison it. Avarice, pride, superstition, lust, murder and the whole list are only perversions of God given impulses. It was natural for men to seek God, and to go near to nature's heart to commune with Him. The subtile priests of false cults seized upon these impulses, turning them into base channels; but the glory of hill and woodland remains untainted

The mountains of Palestine are crowded with sacred associations. Even before the chosen people ever set foot on the land of promise, two lofty eminences became saturated with noble memories: Sinai, where the two tables of immortal stone were engraved by the finger of God; Pisgah, from whose top the weary eyes of the great emancipator beheld the country he was not permitted to tread. Think of Abraham and Mount Moriah, Joshua between Ebal and Gerizim. David at Mount Zion, Samaria, its symmetrical slope of hill, Elijah looking toward the sea from the top of Carmel.

THE GOSPEL'S OUTDOOR FRAGRANCE.

The life of the Saviour breathes an outdoor fragrance. How passionately fond he was of getting away from the artificial, mechanical round of existence between walls of clay and stone. He would talk to men about the great, eternal themes wherever he found them gathered together, but when he himself chose the place of meeting, "seeing the multiude, he went up into a mountain," "and Jesus with his disciples withdrew to the sea; and a great multitude from Galilee followed." As a boy he often climbed the hill back of his village, on the Horns of Hattin he preached his great sermon concerning the kingdom, somewhere, probably, along the slope of majestic Hermon he was transfigured, in some secluded grove of Olivet he prayed, on Calvary he was crucified. The illustrations that sprang to his lips were of sparrows circling in the air, sheep in the meadows, lilies blooming on the hillsides, grain waving above the level fields, grapes bursting into rich fruitage in the autumn vineyards. It was a good world, and he loved it all --this vigorous, pulsating, blooming life. Life more abundant was what he came to bring and its illustrations were on every hand.

Other things aside, the closer man keeps to nature, the closer he keeps to God. The farther away from farm and woodland he houses himself in brick and stone and mortar, steel trusses and plate glass, the worse man he is.

HEALING BALM TO THE SPIRIT.

This busy pastor has had a blessing in sitting to-day where he can watch the waters rippling about among the "Thousand Isles." The insistent voice of nature's woes entices him to stay king of Syria, against Baasha, king of Israel; longer; but even these three days are like balm to his spirit. Perhaps the sandpipers scampering he imprisons Hanani, the seer, for telling him of his folly; his unhappy end, but royal burial. round on the rocks below have only a vague realization of the riches of all this beauty. Pos-2 Chron. 16: 1-14. Second-day. Jehoshaphat; his prosperity; the sibly there be men who can see it with unlit eyes; people taught the law of Jehovah; he waxes but surely God speaks to us through these expressions of nature, and He meant man's soul to great among the kingdoms. 17: 1-19. Third-day. Jehoshaphat joins Ahab of Israel respond to the marvelous language. I suppose in attacking Ramoth-Gilead; encouraged by false that was Bryant's idea when he said something like this: "To him who in the love of nature prophets, disapproved by Micaiah; death of holds communion with the visible forms, she Ahab. 18: 1-34. speaks a various language." Simpler and Fourth-day. Jehoshaphat, though a reformer, reproved by Jehu, the seer, for helping Ahab; grander yet are the words of the Psalmist:

THE SABBATH RECOR/DER

an extended judicial system established. 19: "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth his handiwork. Day un-I-II. Fifth-day. Judah threatened by Moab and to day uttereth speech, and night unto night Ammon; Jehoshaphat seeks Jehovah's help; a showeth knowledge. There is no speech nor language where their voice is not head." great victory for Jehovah and Judah. 20: 1-30. A TONIC FOR THE SOUL.

Nature tones us up from our feverish impulses and morbid ideas. Emerson says that we go into the woods from strife and debate and struggle and nature calms us.

Sitting in the other end of the boat this morning, partly reading, partly dreaming, listening to the enchanting voice of the St. Lawrence, feeling the gentle rock on her ample bosom, looking through half-shut eyes at fairyland, thinking. I suddenly asked the doctor what he thought about hell. The question was such a surprise to him and so far from his thoughts that he made no answer for a moment, then he

"Don't know much about it. Don't plan to go

Just then a big fish siezed the hook and bent the rod into a rainbow. As the doctor proudly swung the shining beauty into the boat, and his eyes shone with the sportsman's delight, he said: "Don't talk to me about hell!"

And I didn't! It was out of place.

Reverently speaking, God does not talk to us on this theme through such scenes as these. Hell is a morbid thing. As it seems to me, God does not like the subject. There would have been no Gehenna had not man made it necessary. In a universe of obedient, loving, happy creatures, there would have been no place for a dark abyss. It came in because of transgression. A guilty conscience cowers before the lightning stroke, a sour heart paints blue sky and velvet turf with gloom, a selfish spirit bears no hallelujahs in the songs of singing birds; but the soul that is in tune with God rejoices in the ever changing panorama, in sunshine and gathering clouds and in stormy wind fulfilling his word.

A dispatch to the Philadelphia Press from Washington last week said: "In the midst of its other trials and tribulations the United States Senate showed to an amazed world that it collectively does not know the Tenth Commandment from the Fourth." Senator McLaurin, of Mississippi, moved an amendment prohibiting the running of all railroad trains engaged in interstate commerce between the hours of sunrise and sunset on the Sabbath day. The Senator, of course, THE READING AND STUDY COURSE IN takes it for granted that Sunday is that day. In supporting the amendment he said: "I want BIBLE HISTORY. every Senator to realize that in casting a nega-You may begin this course any time and any where. Send your name and address to Mrs. tive vote he is voting against the Tenth Commandment, 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep Walter L. Greene, Dunellen, N. J., and so identify yourself fully with the movement and give it holy." The queer part of it is that none of inspiration to those who are following the course. the other Senators seemed to know any more Total enrollment, 187. about it than McLaurin. The satisfactory part SIXTY-SIXTH WEEK'S READING. is that the amendment was overwhelmingly de-(Note these questions and answer them as you feated. Piety of the political kind and knowledge follow each day's reading. We suggest that you of the Bible do not always go together.—Jewish Exponent.

keep a permanent note book and answer them in writing at the close of the week's work.) 1. For what act did Asa deserve condemnation? 2. How did Jehoshaphat benefit the people of Tudah?

3. How was the wicked Athaliah defeated? II Chronicles.

First-day. Asa in league with Benhadad,

Sixth-day. Jehoshaphat a good, but not perfect, king; an unholy commercial alliance with Ahaziah of Israel. 20: 31-37. Death of Jehoshaphat. 21: 1a. Inheritances of Jehoshaphat's sons. 21: 1b-3. Jehoram's cruel and wicked reign, and trouble with revolting Edom and Libnah; a writing from Elijah announcing judgments; invasion by Philistines and Arabians; the king dies "without being desired." 21: 4-20.

Sabbath-day. Ahaziah; his wickedness; his destruction "of God." 22: 1-9. Athaliah; her cruelty. 22: 1-10. Joash, the infant son of Ahaziah, hid in the house of God six years. 22: 11. 12. Jehoiada the priest plans and leads a political and religious revolution; Athaliah is slain; and Joash is put upon the throne. 23: 1-21.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

ALBION, WIS., JULY 10, 1906.—If the pastors mentioned in Secretary E. B. Saunders' paragraph, THE SABBATH RECORDER, July 2, 1906, entitled "Query," are not supplied with copies of "Her Wedding Ring," they can obtain them at 75 cents per hundred, postpaid, by applying at once to

GOOD LITERATURE COMMITTEE, ALBION, WIS.

Box 45.

SENATORIAL PIETY.

If our hearts are full of worldliness there will be no room for him who bought us.

If true to the highest, you are among the crown jewels of the king, not to be hidden in some cloistered cavern, but to be kept in full view of all the world.

Children's Page.

THE SEAMSTRESS. Miss Dorothy Dot, in her little red chair. Put her thimble on with a matronly air. And said, "From this piece of cloth, I guess, I'll make baby brother a lovely dress."

She pulled her needle in and out, And over and under and round about, And through and through, till the snowy lawn Was bunched and crumpled and gathered and drawn.

She sewed and sewed to the end of her thread; Then holding her work to view she said. "This isn't a baby dress, after all;

It's a bonnet for my littlest doll!" -St. Nicholas.

THE LITTLE BLACKBERRY GIRL. "Blackberries! Blackberries! Blackberries!"

We had been sitting in the patent swing under the big maple trees in our yard a long time, trying to get cool that hot summer day, Mary Fisher and I, when we heard the shrill cry.

the dusty highway, down which was trudging a little girl in faded calico dress, pink sunbonnet, and with bare feet.

"That's the little blackberry girl," I said.

"Where does she live?" asked Mary.

"I don't know." I made answer carelessly, for I was not a bit interested and did not want Mary to be. "I never asked her. I don't even know her name. She just comes and goes, and everybody calls her the little blackberry girl. Don't look at her, or she'll want you to buy."

"Well, why not?" asked Mary. "I have some apples." money. I'd just as lief get some as not. I love blackberries. Call her in, Sadie. I want to talk to her. And she looks so tired and hot. If we're uncomfortable, what must she be?"

was nothing else to do, for Mary Fisher was my stand." visitor, and a visitor that I prized very highly, so I did as she requested. I called to the little blackberry girl and told her to come in.

"Did you want some berries?" she asked, smiling all over her face.

"These must have been picked this morning," said Mary. "They look so nice and fresh."

"They were, miss. I was up before four to the children. get at the berries."

it. Where do you live?"

little step up the mountain, but I like the walk You shall come and taste the apples with me." in the early morning. Everything seems so happy and bright, and the air is full of the singing of the birds. I love to go after berries."

"I shouldn't think you would," I said. "Just see how the briers scratch up your hands and feet."

"Oh, that's nothing at all," she said, cheerfully. \"I /néver feel the scatches, and they're gone in a day or two. I just think how many nickels and dimes I am going to get for them. That pays for all the scratches."

"Don't you wish, sometimes," Mary said, "that you were rich and could live in a fine house like this and wear nice clothes and do just as you please?"

plv. "You see, I was made to work hard, and I shouldn't know what to do with myself if I couldn't, and mother says labor is one of the greatest blessings in the world."

"Wait a minute," I said, as she rose to go. "I know mamma would buy your berries if she were here, so I'll take them." And, feeling very generous, I made her empty her basket, and while I went to put them away I had Mary bring her out some cake and iced lemonade.

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

"I'll tell mother I've been to a party," she said. "Now I can go straight home and help wuz doin' the same. Where to, please?" her iron."

Mary and I looked at each other shamefacedly. We had done nothing but grumble all day about the heat and the dullness of everything, and there was this little girl actually jolly over remarking: having to work.

at something. I am just ashamed of myself. What ails us is perfect idleness. I've learned a lesson from the little blackberry girl. The idea s'pose?" of her being contented with her life and our grumbling at ours!"-Baptist Boys and Girls.

DIGGING FOR APPLES.

A man was laboriously digging in the earth. He had already made a hole in which half the length of his leg disappeared, and was making "Who's that?" said Mary, looking toward it still deeper. Children-were playing near by. Born curious, they approached the man at work, and asked, "What are you digging for?"

"Apples," answered he.

Unanimously the youthful flock burst into Homeric laughter. "He is digging for apples! What a joke. . . . Apples in the ground! He must be thinking of potatoes! . . . But apples—it is too funny! . . . Ha, ha, ha!" "Can't you see that he is laughing at us?" said one of the more shrewd among the company. "Let us go along and leave him to his

"Laughing at you?" answered the man. "Indeed not, children. What I tell you is positive fact. There is neither joke in it nor nonsense. I am digging this hole in order to have apples I didn't like it, not one little bit, but there and, if you will wait a moment, you will under-

"Let us wait, then, and we shall see whether they are crabs or leather coats he will dig up."

dumped into it a basketful of rich soil, went off, and returned, bringing a little sapling which he carefully planted beneath the attentive eves of

The operation complete, he said to them: "Before four? I don't see how you can do "You see, I told you the truth. In two or three years from now this young apple tree will blos-"Down by the old stone mill. It's quite a som. The following autumn it will bear fruit.

If you would one day see golden, juicy fruit swinging above your head you must begin by digging a hole in the ground.—Exchange.

"Tommy, I'm going to punish you severely." "What fer, Pa?"

"Now, don't try that innocence game. know all the bad things you've done to-day."

"No, you don't Pa. You don't know where I hid the strap you lick me with."-Cleveland Leader.

IN THE THIRD WATCH OF THE NIGHT. BY HOMER M. PRICE.

The old station baggage man put a scuttle of "No, I don't think so," was the laughing re- coal in the big Cannonball stove, went into the room.

> under three hours late. Did you have any bag- tendin' to come back. gage to check?"

impatience:

"Excuse me," said he; "I knowed the train wuz late, and most people set 'round here in the haggage room on cold nights, and I s'posed you "Knoxville," I said, cooling off some. He adjusted his glasses and looked clear over them for the pigeon hole of the Knoxville checks, and, finally getting one, he placed it on my trunk,

"Been over to the mines, eh? Purty cold "Sadie," she said at last, "let's get to work drivin', wa'nt it? Coldest night we've had this winter, 'cept one; that wuz the night Ben Spillman's mother come. Know about that, I

> "No," said I, "I never heard of that; I'm a stranger here.' "Well, sit down thar by the stove an' I'll tell you 'bout it, if you care to hear. Shows you're a stranger in these parts not to know 'bout it. · Jest think of it, a lookin' for his mother for thirty-five year 'fore she come!

"Wait till I light my pipe and put a trunk agin that door; that wind from the mountain is mighty searchin'. I tell you, stranger, it's mighty lonesome 'round here to-night. Not another passenger to go, and none of the neighbors out visitin', and that train 'way late. But you want to hear 'bout Ben and his mother.

"Well, Ben wuz here when I took charge of the station in '67-one of them awkward, shy boys, always gettin' in the way, but not meanin' to. Nobody knowed whar he come from, just found him here one day on the platform after the east-bound train come in, a peerin' into every woman's face that got off. He looked at all of 'em, and then turned away, sayin' jest these four words: 'She said she'd come.' He wuz 'bout five or six then, they said, and all kinds of questioning only brought out those four words, and his name-Ben Spillman. It was believed that his mother had brought him down from the mountains and had got on a west-bound train. After taking out a few more spadefuls of a tellin' him she'd be back on the next eastearth, the man thought the hole sufficiently deep, bound one. It wuz just at the breakin' up of the war and nobody thought anything of strangers bein' about, and not one of them ever remembered of seein' the mother. The child wuz kinder weak in his head, sorter daffy like. Whether he wuz always that way, or the shock of losin' his mother wuz the cause of it, nobody never knowed. But that he wuz when I come, the saddestfaced little chap I ever saw, with his expectations 'way up every time the train come in, and 'way down to bass when the train had gone and his mother hadn't come.

"Some of the old residenters here said there had been a big wreck up 'bout Lebanon at the time the young one showed up, and that thar wuz two or three dead ones, one bein' a woman, that nobody ever knowed who they wiz. They 'lowed maybe, 'twuz his mother. Others said that some woman wanted to get rid of a crazy child, and give him the slip, but I never believed that 'cause the kind o' mother that would want to give her child the slip could never have impressed him with such confidence in her. True, he wuzn't just right in his head, but my experience is that that's the kind that knows the most 'bout some things. They've got somethin' telegraph office and then returned to the baggage in 'em that tells who's who. Some say it's instinct, but whatever it is, the Lord Almighty put "No. 4's losing time," he said; "won't get here it thar; so I says, that boy's mother wuz in-"Well, 'Squire Heartsill takes the boy to his "Well, that's why I've been waiting here for house, and he makes himself useful 'bout the

VOL. LXII. No. 20.

the last thirty minutes," I said, with some little place, runnin' errands and sweepin' out the furhe could; and then if the train wuz late, he would come down and wait for it; didn't matter whether he'd had any supper or not, he'd stay here till the train come. Many a time, when he wuz a kid, I'd tuck him in here behind the stove on a cold night, with my overcoat, while he waited for the train. I used to try to get him to tell me what he wuz lookin' for, but he would look so wild and scared like that I stopped. He'd mumble a whole lot that I couldn't understand, but always ended with. 'She said she'd come.' If he had he'd be sure to wake up, and his eyes would ford, a clappin' his hands-then purty soon, as that Ben wa'nt a child. Years don't make you down the path to the 'Squire's.

"You'd think he'd 'a gotten tired, wouldn't 'Squire wanted to send him to school, but he Bessie. Bessie wuz only a slip of a girl, born wouldn't go. I always thought it wuz 'cause and growed up since Ben went to live with him. he stayed on thar in the shop, and come to be a the hills when she wuz a kid, a gatherin' sweet talk for anybody, and after he got to be a man he had less. He would go for weeks without sayin' a word to a soul, and I believe he would have forgotten how to talk if he hadn't had them four words to say to hisself every evenin' when the train left. He never said 'em to anybody; said she'd come.'

saved his money. When he wuz a kid we wuz real good friends, but as he got older he got more come in the baggage room just 'fore the train come and roll the truck of trunks up to where the express car stopped, but he didn't talk none.

"So matters went on this way year after year. "One summer night the train wuz late, and at the depot lookin' for anybody to come, 'cept Ben. He wuz a grown up man then, I'd say about thirty, and he come out and set down on a truck with me.- It had been an awful hot day come out from Kentucky, and got off the train and some thunder heads had gathered up in the and asked where 'Squire Heartsill lived, Ben west. Ben set there and watched the lightnin' without sayin' a word. The train wuz 'way late, and the two went down to the house together. and by and by the clouds got to comin' closer, and I said, 'Ben, it's goin' to storm. Are you scared of storms?' He waited some time 'fore he answered, then he said: 'No, I ain't scared of anything, except that she won't come.' You couldn't get his mind off of it at all. I asked him why he didn't go and hunt her, for he'd sav- like your dog looks when you hurt him accidented his money and could travel everywhere and find her. He said he'd thought of that, but then it hurts him just the same. she might come while he wuz gone, and then she'd feel just like he did, when she didn't find him here a lookin' for her. He thought he'd she'd come. I didn't say no more and we sat thar watchin' the comin' storm. Most an hour passed without a word, and then Ben said sud- - when he come down they got right chummy-denly, 'Don't the Scripture say 'bout 'em comin' in the third watch of the night?' It kind o' startled me. and I said, 'Yes, b'leve it does.' away in the night; might be to-night.'

in', the storm had burst, and the lightnin' and thunder wuz makin' things lively. I didn't have talked anything but what he could hear. The

THE SABBATH RECORDER

anything to put on the train and the only thing young feller tried his best to get Ben to let him niture store, but no matter what he wuz doin', that wuz put off wuz a little bull calf, and when row, but it wa'nt no use. Ben just clung to the when the evenin' train from the West gave the the train left I found myself that a holdin' to a oars and watched 'em, or, rather, watched her. signal for the station here, he came as fast as rope with the calf at the other end. Ben had been That day he just got back in time to meet the back to the coaches, but he see in the lightnin' train "'Long next spring the weddin' come off, and flashes my perdicerment, and he come to help me. I've always thought it was Providential that they The calf wuz a rearin' and bawlin' terrible, but married just in time to take the evenin' train; Ben says, 'I'll take him, he's fer the 'Squire. I heard him a sayin' as somebody wuz goin' to and, of course. Ben wuz at the train and didn't send him a calf by express,' so he goes up to the see the weddin'. He wuz dressed in his best, tho, and just as he wuz lookin' at every woman bawlin' critter and says somethin' to it and it gets that got off the train, still expectin' his mother, quiet. He takes the rope from my hand and Bessie comes up to him and puts her little hand goes down toward the 'Squire's barn. I see 'em on his shoulder and says, 'Ben, I'm goin' away, 'way down thar when the lightnin' played 'round and I hate mighty bad to leave you. I'm awful the calf a follerin' 'long like a dog; and, as he'd dropped off to sleep when the train would whistle sprung the Scriptures on me, I says to myself, sorry for you, and I wish so much that your mother would come. Ben, kiss me now, and God 'And a little child shall lead them.' 'Course I bless you.' The poor fellow kissed her, but when sparkle and he would go runnin' out on the plat- ' knew that bull calf wa'nt no lion, but I wa'nt sure they wuz gone Ben watched the train puffin' the train pulled out, I'd see him goin' slowly a man; it's knowin' and doin' things that are 'tound the curve yonder and says-he'd forgot to say it sooner-'She said she'd come,' and then wrong that makes you quit bein' a child. burst out cryin' for the first and only time I ever "That same summer a young feller from Kenheard of.

you? But he never did. As he grew up the tucky came a courtin' 'Squire Heartsill's daughter "He never seemed the same after that, tho he wuz, if anything, happier than ever before. But it was kind of resigned happiness. He grew thinthe schoolhouse wuz too fur from the depot, so He'd carried her 'bout on his shoulders all over ner and got tired easier. He didn't work regular, but would wander off to the hills where the pretty fair workman. He never had had much Williams and wild pansies. She always did the sweet Williams grew, and would bring back great talkin' and the orderin', but she wuz mighty fond bouquets of them to the train. thinkin', maybe, of Ben. After she grew up she went away to school, and when she come back she wuz the lovethat one of the two women he'd seen leave might come back. The 'Squire's folks just let him do liest, liveliest girl in these parts. While she wuz away Ben had done nothin' but work and come as he pleased, so year followed year, and Ben to meet trains; so when one day she got off the grew thinner and more holler eyed, but somehow just sad like, as he turned away, he'd say, 'She cars and, comin' straight into Ben's arms, kissed his eyes got brighter and more intelligent like. him, the poor fellow wuz awfully taken back. 'Bout a year ago he quit work altogether, 'count "He made purty good wages in the shop, and He looked at his great rough hands and homely of gettin' out of breath when he tried it. The doctor said it wuz his heart, and that he couldn't figure and grew awkward. Somehow he avoided her after that, and when she did come close do anything for him, but that it wuz best for him distant toward me. True, he'd nearly always to him he'd turn red and amble off. My wife, to quit work. she goes up to the 'Squire's a whole lot, and she "Well, Ben had a purty lonesome time, till long last fall, Bessie come back from Kentucky see how things were goin', and she says to me, 'Tom, he's in love with Bessie,' but I didn't take to spend a couple of months with her folks. It no stock in that, and neither did Bessie. She wuz worth a good deal to see Ben when she come, treated him just like she always had when he give and he saw for the first time that other Bessie, there wuz no passengers to get on, and nobody her a chance, and I don't believe she ever thought her little three-year-old girl. Seemed as if Ben about it, until one night six years after, when didn't know 'bout her, and he wuz trumped, I tell you, when he saw thar toddlin" on the platform Ben's mother came, and she found it out.

"But that summer, when the fine young feller a little chap, the very spirit of his old playmate of twenty years before. She went right straight to him, and he set her up on his shoulder without wuz thar, of course, and said he could show him, a word, like he used to do her mother. Thar's somethin' strange 'bout children and animals; they knows their friends quicker than us that saw 'em a goin' and saw Bessie when she met reasons and suspicions. He carried her on down 'em at the gate. I don't know what wuz said, but to the Squire's, and me and her mother follered Ben come back up to the depot and stayed aroun' on behind. This wuz the first time he ever failed till I closed up for the night. He never said a to say 'bout his mother a promisin' to come. word, but it seemed as if somethin' wuz troub-When he put the child down she puckered up her lin' him that he couldn't quite make out, sorter lips to be kissed, and she kind o' hugged him, but ally. He knows you didn't' mean to do it, but Ben never said a word. "Them wuz happy days for Ben for the next

"Well, Ben spent lots o' time with me for the two months. That child and him were together. all the time; over the hills, through the brownin' next two weeks, until the young feller went home woods and acrost the stubble fields they went. again. The young feller at first was inclined to He made her all kinds of things, from punkin best stay here and wait for her, for she'd said make fun of Ben, but he found out mighty quick from Bessie that that wouldn't do at all; so he whistles to cornstalk fiddles; and he got so he talked to her. I expect he said more to her in tried to be friendly with Ben, and other times them eight weeks than he ever said in his life before. We could see and hear him talkin' to her that is, as chummy as two folks can get when in a low, tender like way, but somehow we never one of 'em won't talk. They went huntin' and asked the child what it wuz about. When winfishin' together, and one day Bessie went with ter come on she stayed most of the time in his 'Well,' said he, 'I b'leve she'll come some time 'em over to the lake, and Ben wuz quite happy a room, and he never left her 'cept to come to the settin' silent in the end of the boat a pullin' of "When the train come, 'way long in the morn- the oars while the young folks fished and talked. train. "Well, the night the mother and child wuz to But they were mighty kind to Ben and never go back home wuz just such a night as this. A norther from the Cumberlands had been blowin' all day long, and as dark come on it turned a sleetin' just like 'tis to-night, and the train wuz late, same as 'tis now. Ben had come up to the depot on time, but when I told him the train wuz late he went back to the house. This wuz the only time in more'n thirty-five years he hadn't stayed here and waited for it, no matter how late you out with my talking, but a night like this alit wuz. He knew they wuz goin' to leave and I guess he wanted to be with the child. Well, 'bout a quarter of an hour before the train come it's mighty slick and slippery."-The Independthey all comes up from the 'Squire's, Ben a carryin' the child high on his shoulders. They stopped here in the baggage room, as thar wa'nt a good fire in the waiting room. Ben set right over thar in the corner, where he had curled up many a night, waitin' for his mother, a playin' with the child. His eyes were bright like stars I talked with the 'Squire and the child's mother and we had a sort o' silent understandin' not to notice the two over in the corner.

"Directly old No. 4 whistled, and we all made for the platform, Ben a leadin' with the child's hand in his'n. The engineer wuz a comin' to the station like somebody-no matter who -a beatin' tanbark. Ben's hat had blown off and he looked ghastly thar under the headlight, with his long white hair a flyin' in the wind. It had been white for twenty years or more."

The old baggage man stopped here and went into the telegraph office to see the last report about the belated train. When he came back he said, "She'll be here in ten minutes," and then went on with the story as if there had been no interruption.

"We never knowed just how it happened, whether the light blinded and scared the child or somethin' else took her fancy, but she slipped right away from Ben and run right out on the track. The engine wuz not a rod from her, and we all saw her a standin' a clappin' her hands. We wuz plum' paralyzed with fear; the engineer screamed for brakes and reversed, but it wuz too late, he couldn't stop. In the terrible confusion I saw Ben make a leap and fall sprawlin' on the For it was he who first joined the scattered eletrack, but knockin' the child clar over on the ments of the North and South, and made Babyother side. When the train stopped we ran 'round, and thar wuz the child safe and sound, but scared nearly to death. The pilot had thrown Ben clear of the wheels, but his side, the heart side, wuz just one big wound. We carried him here in the baggage room and sent for the doctor. He lay like one asleep, without pain, seemingly, with his eyes closed. The doctor examined him and shook his head, said the heart wuz givin' out. For two hours he lay that way, with his head in my lap and the mother, Bessie, a bendin' over him. Finally his eyes opened, and the old, crazy look wuz all gone. He saw her thar a hoverin' over him, and cryin', and we heard him say, very low, 'Kiss me, Bessie,' and Bessie just kissed him again and again, and told him how sorry she wuz. He looked very contented, and said, between his gasps for breath, 'Don't be sorry. I would have died any time in the last twenty years for you, or for-one-youloved.' Then his eyes closed again, and we watched and waited a way long into the night.

"'Bout the third watch he stirred and tried to get up, sayin' excited like, 'The train's comin' with my mother. She's comin' back. Thar it comes; don't you see it? It's stoppin' now; they are comin' out of the coaches. Look! She said she'd come,' and with his arms uplifted, 'She's come!' Then the poor old heart beat out and he sank back limp and lifeless.

THE SABBATH RECORDER

"So that's how Ben's mother come back. My this, but nobody but me and Bessie saw the look in his face when he held his hands up, and neither of us have ever doubted but that Ben's mother come back as she said she would. But, thar's your train, stranger. Hope I haven't tired ways makes me think o' the time when Ben's mother come. Be careful 'bout the platform; ent.

HAMMURABI AND HIS CODE.

Of all the great Kings of the Babylonian empire none surpasses-we may say none equals Hammurabi, who has only been discovered recently and the discovery of whose diorite black and his face terribly flushed, like he had fever. slab, upon which was inscribed the code according to which the King declared his people should be governed, shows him to have been one of the wisest and greatest of the absolute monarchs of the East. This monument was found just three vears ago by M. de Morgan, and it is to-day one of the glories of the Museum of the Louvre. The slab, which really forms "the oldest law book in loyal citizen. There are records of contemporthe world," is surmounted by a carving in relief, depicting the monarch in the act of receiving the living fact, and not a dead letter. In later years tables of the law from the sungod. Some of the details are worn, but there has happily been preserved another sculptured portrait of the kingon a limestone block which hangs upon a wall close by, and a comparison of the two enables the observer to reincarnate the features of the warrior law-giver. The flowing beard of the patriarchal age, the belted robe of regal simplicity, out of which the bared arm is lifted with humble grace, and the turbaned cap of primitive Chaldea, give an irresistible sense of power. gelist. There is a suggestion of a necklet, and the long neck is crowned by locks trimmed with the care of the Oriental potentate. The proud nostril, the serene eye, the resolute lips, all bespeak the high-born ruler of men. Truly this Hammurabi was worthy to become the founder of an empire. lon one realm.

> For a generation the resemblance of his name to that of Amraphel, King of Shinar, has arrested the thoughtful mind. The difficulties in the way of this identification do not tend to grow less, and men are nowadays disposed to refer to the theory with more and more hesitation. The presence of a final "1" in the Genesis name is not insurmountable, and it is significant that in the most recent attempt to disturb the common view, Mr. Boscawen has not been deterred by any question of date, as he has shown with some ingenuity that Amraphel may have been Hammurabi's father. But the date of 2,200 B. C. usually attributed to the Babylonian king is earlier by some centuries than that commonly given for the days of Abraham, and new records will prob- as a race of rat eaters and denounce the animal ably have to be awaited before the question can - as unclean, at the same time consuming tons be finally, if ever, set at rest.

> have in this inscription a contemporary document itself constantly; but the hog is the only animal law of Israel was first codified. Within the com- prefers it to cleanliness. The common skunk, pass of nearly three hundred laws a wonderful owing to its peculiar and offensive glands, will civilization of the East. It is a Blackstone-in a good, but delicious, according to various con-

those relics of primitive society which endure wife says I'm gettin' daffy, like Ben, when I says through the changes-brought about by royal statute. Hence, three-fourths of these enactments find no parallel in the law of Moses, many of them for the reason that within the next millennium a humaner view of the ethics of punishment had spread over Western Asia, apart from the changes which were wrought in the case of the Hebrew people by the sanctions of religion.

VOL. LXII. No. 29.

Closer study, indeed, tends to relax the impetuous view, which was first propounded in some quarters, that in this collection of laws is to be traced the origin of the jurisprudence of the Jews. There is no evidence that a copy of the code was contained among the archives of the priestly schools wherein Moses acquired the learning of the Egyptians. The sources of the Mosaic inspiration are to be sought elsewhere, and the parallelism may be readily explained by the fact that the coincident enactments represent the spirit of the immemorial East.

The history of the slab itself is not fully traced. It was set up in the E-Sergil Temple in Babylon, within reach of any man who desired to know what the State required of him as a good and ary judgments which prove that the law was a the Assyrian notaries wrote commentaries upon it in their labored fashion. Some Elamite conqueror carried it away to Susa, and smoothed the base of it with the obvious intention of inscribing thereon a record of his greatness. All trace of this vandal's name is lost, and the slab remained buried in the ruins of Persepolis for 3,000 years, until it was brought once more into the light of day, to stir the imagination of the modern world.-The Christian Work and Evan-

Among civilized nations the variety of tastes attracts but little attention. The vegetarians and the meat eaters each have their followers, and a recent school advocates less food and fewer meals, while there are countless fads for the delectation of the hungry.

That civilized man has missed some of the most toothsome dainties goes without saying, and it is evident that prejudice enters very largely in this. Thus, in California, the best fish, it is said, is the sculpin, but in the East this fish goes begging on account of its disagreeable appearance. In Arizona Indian children may be seen catching ants and eating them; and in Mexico the honey ant is eagerly sought after by the natives, who eat the well rounded currantlike abdomen. In South America the large lizard, the iguana, is a delicacy, not to speak of the larger snakes, which in taste are like chicken. The ordinary rattlesnake, it is said, is very good eating if one can overcome the inborn prejudice. Americans are inclined to regard the Chinese vearly of the most loathsome of animals, the Be this as it may, it cannot be doubted that we hog. The rat is careful in his toilet, cleaning earlier by a thousand years than the day when the of so-called intelligence that revels in filth and picture is presented of the daily life of the earliest never be popular as food, yet its flesh is not only double sense-rather than a Code Napoleon. noisseurs who have eaten it. That insects do That is, the Code Hammurabi is not a piece of not enter more into the food supplies of nations legislation fresh minted from a master mind, but is due to prejudice. Grasshoppers are eaten by a digest of the common law of the age, full of some Western tribes. Ground up, they make a meal that is said to be both nourishing and agreeable. Many a white man has passed through a country, believing himself nearly starving, as large game was not to be had, when worms and various insects were at hand. During the flight bags, wash them and cook them for a meal.

CURIOUS FOODS.

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

5

the larvae of a fly, common in certain portions of California, and known as ephydra. This inmuch so that it resists ordinary wind and refuses to become ruffled. When the larvae begin to appear, the Indians gather from far and near and scrape them up, place the wormlike creature on cloth and racks in the sun and dry them, when they are beaten up and husked, looking then like rice. The Indians call the food koo-chah-bee, flour. In Bahama and some of the Florida keys and many bushels are collected at this time; that the larvae are nutritious is shown by the condition of the Indians, who soon grow fat on the else, having to be beaten and pounded before it rich diet. Many birds are attracted by the larvae and gorge themselves with the singular food.

On Lake Texcoco, in Mexico, a curious fly is found, which also is eaten by the natives and known as ahuatl; the eggs of the insect, which are deposited on sedges, are also collected and eaten for food. On Lake Chalco a certain sedge is cultivated on which the eggs of a species of members who rarely attended, we instituted the fly are deposited. Bundles are made of these following plan, which worked very satisfactorily and placed in Lake Texcoco for the purpose, during the last three months of 1905. and, when covered, the sedge is broken over pieces of cloth and the eggs secured. These are collected and ground into a meal, also called ahuatl, and are in great demand on fast days, when fish is required, the insects of eggs not on the topic, to read or speak not to exceed five being considered flesh, as they come from the minutes each. You are on the list for this week. water. The food is made into small cakes and tastes not unlike caviare. Not only the eggs, but the larvae, themselves a disagreeable looking worm, are used as food under the name of puxi.

The civilized man, perhaps, turns from such food with disgust, but it is well to remember that epicures in many countries, and especially in England and America, are particularly fond of cheese when inhabited by the larvae of a very common fly. In the United States the large five for the week usually included one elder, one octopus, or squid, common on the Pacific coast, offends the American palate, but the Italian, Frenchman or Portuguese eats it with avidity and considers it a delicacy. The meat is clear and white, like a chicken, and has the flavor of ing one, and the contrast between those of China and America is remarkable. The objects displayed in the Chinese quarter as dainties are often repugnant to Americans. We find the Chinaman selling eggs of unknown age, especially duck eggs containing ducklings ready to be hatched. Shark fins-a tough, disagreeable food -are in demand, while deer horns in the velvet and lizards of various kinds are eaten. The nest of the swallow, with its embedded secretion of the mouth glands of the bird, is nearly worth its weight in gold. Trepang, the tough, impossible holothurian, is eaten, and its collection is an important industry along the Malay coast, valued at least at $100,000 per annum.

In France the sea anemone is used as food; stuffed like peppers and boiled, it calls to mind - crab or crayfish. The echinus of various species is also, used, cooked in the shell, like an egg, and then eaten with a spoon. In nearly all the "Righteousness exalteth a nation." Righteousness in commercial transactions, in international old countries of Europe of the type of Spain and relations, in public institutions, must not be sac-Italy, the poor are so poor that everything in the nature of food is utilized. Absolutely nothrificed to national fame or power. If the indiing is wasted and meat is rare. The writer re- viduals who make up the nation are unrighteous of locusts, Indians sometimes collect them in calls the surprise of an Italian fisherman, who the nation cannot be righteous. Righteous laws landed in California after a trip around the Horn, and a righteous constitution will not make a na-The most singular food, in all probability, is and was amazed, not at the country, but with tion righteous. Our country must be right in the abundance of food. Herfound his country- her dealings with the poor, with the workingman, men eating meat twice, perhaps three times a with every race of men within her bounds and sect is found in such vast quantities in Lake day, when he rarely had it once a month. He under her flag. So long as institutions which Mono, California, that it is washed up on the saw hundreds of pounds of fish wasted and dis- tend to poverty and crime and shame are suffered shores in vast windrows, and can be collected by carded, merely because the people did not care to exist and protected and fostered by the govbushels. The water of Mono is very singular, for it, when in Italy even the heads would be ernment our nation is sadly lacking in righteousseemingly very heavy and smooth, like oil, so boiled and eaten. He saw big tunnies towed out ness, and in danger of the curse which has been to sea and thrown away because they were pronounced on the wicked. tough, when in his own land every scrap of this DEATHS. fish was saved. America is indeed the land of ~ plenty to the poor of other nations.

Certain Indians consider earthworms a dainty. They are dried and rolled together into a peculiar the conch is eaten-by far the toughest food known; more like India rubber than anything can be masticated or even cooked.—Scientific American.

BREAKING UP PRAYER-MEETING MONOTONY.

To break up the even monotony of our midweek meeting, and to interest the many church

I sent a pastoral note to five members of the When we're sad and worn. church in Monday's mail, saying: "We are beginning a new plan in our mid-week meeting. Rest for weary hands and feet Five of our members come specially prepared Rest for tired brain, Rest that ne'er we'll know Weariness again. Our topic is Scripture Though we feel but loss and pain, I will not speak on the topic until the end of the For our hearts are sad; meeting. Our meeting needs your help. If you Though we'll mourn for many a day, Yet for him we're glad." cannot come this week, please send a substitute." Sometimes I added a more urgent word There was a prayer at the Willard Home, West Sometimes we divided the subject, as, when Edmeston, July 6, after which the body was taken to using the theme "The Promises of God," one was Utica, N. Y., where the funeral service was held, conducted by the writer, Mrs. A. C. Davis, Jr., furnishing assigned "the promises in the Psalms;" another, the music. Interment at Forest Hill Cemetery, Utica, "the promises in the Gospels," etc. Further, the A. C. D., JR. N. Y. BROWN.-Dr. C. L. Brown, in Hammond, La., July 5th, young man, one faithful elderly woman, one 1906. Dr. Brown was a member of the Seventh-day Baptist school girl, and one member who lived at a dis-Church of Hammond. He had been sick for several tance, thus getting a representative from each weeks with bowel trouble, but was not supposed to be class in the church. We used such subjects as dangerously ill. So that when death came it was a sur-"The Power of Example" (Abimelech), "Enprise both to his family and friends. Dr. Brown lacked during Hardness for Jesus' Sake" (Heb. 12: only 20 days of reaching his 80th birthday, having been The question of national tastes is an interest- 1-12), "Talents" (Matt. 25), "How to be a Good born July 25th, 1826. The place of his birth was in the state of New York. He leaves a wife and two married Neighbor," "How Christ Uses Common Lives" daughters, Mrs. Emma Landphere, of Hammond, La., (the man with the pitcher). After singing, and Mrs. Lettie Harvey, wife of Prof. Harvey, of prayer, and the Scripture, those specially pre-Menominee, Wis. Dr. Brown was marreid to Miss pared were given the floor. Usually a general Sarah H. Guthrie, April 7th, 1847, who survives him. The interment will be at the family burial ground at participation of those present followed. Edgerton, Wis. The funeral service was conducted by It is my firm conviction that we pastors talk Eld. A. P. Ashurst, his pastor, at the home of his daughour mid-week meetings to death, but the quanter, Mrs. Landphere. The remains were then placed dary is how not to do it when we have so many upon the train to be carried to his last resting place, silent (and absent) members. The mid-week accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Landphere, at Edgerton, Wis. A. P. A.

meeting is the people's meeting: for prayer, for definite things, and for the presentation of their thought and religious experiences.-The Rev. Fred H. Watkins; in Sunday-school Times.

> "Let nothing disturb thee, Nothing affright thee: All things are passing; God never changeth." -Longfellow.

BABCOCK.-Joseph C. Babcock, in West Edmeston, N. Y., July 3, 1906.

He was born in West Winfield, N. Y., March 22, 1829. In 1857 he married Caroline DeLano Long. who died in 1869. Five children were born to them. Nov. 15, 1875 he married Cornelia Maxson, daughter of David and Laura Coon Maxson, who survives him. Mr. Babcock was a capable and conscientious business man and a loving husband and father. His sick-room became a Bethel to him-patient and prayerful in all his sufferings, thinking of things eternal.

> "So fold the tired hands tenderly For their work is done: Smooth the wrinkles from his brow, Rest at last has come.

For to him it is not death, 'Tis a glad new morn; 'Tis like laying burdens down, THACKARY.-Ella, daughter of Isaac and Susan Thackary, was born in Marlboro, N. J., May 20, 1855, and died in Bridgeton, N. J., July 4, 1906.

On May 23, 1885, she was baptized and united with the Shiloh, (N. J.) Seventh-day Baptist Church. For more than thirty years she has been an invalid. She bore her sufferings with Christian patience and fortitude. Her funeral services and burial took place in Bridgeton, N. J., July 6, 1906, conducted by her pastor

D. B. C.

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

Sabbath School.

462

anning friday many

CONDUCTED BY SABBATH-SCHOOL BOARD.

Edited by REV WILLIAM C. WHITFORD, Professor of Bibical Languages and Literature in Alfred University.

INTERNATIONAL LESSONS, 1906.

June 30.	Jesus and the Children
July 7.	The Duty of Forgiveness
July 14.	The Good Samaritan.
July 21.	Jesus leaching How to Pray. Luke 11. 1.12
July 28.	Jesus Dines with a Pharisee Luke 14. 1-14
- Aug. 4.	raise Excuses
Aug. 11.	The l'arable of the Two Sons. Luke 15: 11-22
Aug. 18.	The Judge, the Pharisee, and the Publican.
Aug. 25.	The Rich Young Ruler Mark to that
Sept. 1.	Bartimaeus and Zaccheus. Luke 18: 35-19: 10.
Sept. 8.	Jesus Enters Jerusalem in Triumph.
	Mott or tra
Sept. 15.	Jesus Silences the Pharisees and Sadducees.
	Mark 12: 13-27.
Sept. 22.	Review.
Sept. 20.	Temperance LessonGal. 5: 15-26; 6: 7, 8.
	1 cmperanee LessonGai. 5: 15-20; 0: 7, 8.

LESSON V.-JESUS DINES WTH A PHAR ISEE

For Sabbath-day, July 28, 1906.

Lesson Text.-Luke 14: 1-14.

Golden Text.—"He that humbleth himself shall be exalted." Luke 14: 11.

INTRODUCTION.

Jesus cared for the Pharisees as well as for the publicans and sinners. Our lesson for this week shows our Saviour again as the guest of a Pharisee. Twice before as recorded in this Gospel, Jesus had been entertained by a member of this very religious party. Compare Chapters 11: 37 and 7: 36 and following verses. We may well imagine that he was accustomed to associate on friendly terms with the Pharisees. This fact did not, however, prevent his speaking the truth to them, and giving them timely admonition for their shortcomings and sins, as we have already noted.

Some people think that the Bible has to do only with matters of religion, but this fourteenth chapter of Luke's Gospel is a good illustration of the fact that Jesus gives instruction concerning matters of every-day life not distinctly religious. His teachings here as well as elsewhere is in some sense parallel to that of the Book of Proverbs. Our Saviour's teachings are practical. He would not have us fix our gaze upon the eternal life to the exclusion of matters immediately at hand. After all, questions of ethics and morality are not to be disassociated from questions of religion.

This lesson is probably to be included in our Lord's Perean ministry, although it is to be noted that there is no definite suggestion of time and place, and it is possible that Luke has recorded this section out of its natural order, simply as a something that he remembered as occurring some time and somewhere in Jesus' ministry.

TIME.—Probably near the end of the year 29 or beginning of the year 30.

PLACE.—Probably in Perea.

PERSONS .- Jesus, and the man who had the dropsy; the Pharisees and others. OUTLINE:

- I. Jesus Heals Upon the Sabbath. v. 1-6.
- 2. Jesus Teaches Humility. v. 7-11.
- 3. Jesus Teaches True Hospitality. v. 12-14.

NOTES.

I. Into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees. Jesus went as an invited guest, a fact which we might easily infer even if we did not have the statement of v. 12. We need not suppose that the Pharisee had sinister motives in inviting him. The Jews were accustomed to have special dinners on the Sabbath and to invite guests. As the Pharisees as a party had no rulers, we are probably to understand that this Pharisee was the ruler of some synagogue or possibly a member of the Sanhedrin. They were watching him. That is, the Pharisees. They were keeping a very careful watch of him to find something in his conduct concerning which they might make complaint.

2. And behold, there was before him a certain man that had the dropsy. Some think that the Pharisees had brought in this man on purpose to see if Jesus would heal him upon the Sabbath. It is possible that he came in by chance without realizing that Jesus was there. But the most likely explanation is that he came because he was eager to be healed, and that he hesitated to ask Jesus on account of the Sabbath. According to Oriental custom there was great freedom for the uninvited to come in and look on when a host entertained. Compare Luke 7: 36-50.

3. And Jesus answering spake unto the lawvers and Pharisees. He answered their thoughts rather than their words. They noticed as he did that there was here an opportunity for him to exercise his power to heal. The expression, "lawvers and Pharisees." names one class; many of the Pharisees were skilled in the Old Testament law, and are therefore called lawyers. Compare the use of this term in the introduction to the parable of the Good Samaritan. Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not? Thus Jesus by one , question entirely thwarts their purpose in watching him. If they had answered sincerely they would have said, It is unlawful to heal. Compare Chapter 13: 14. But they were reluctant to say this; and making no protest when they had the opportunity beforehand, they could make no complaint when Jesus healed the man.

4. But they held their peace. That is, they remained quiet, saying nothing. They did not have the courage to stand for their own position, thus convicting themselves of practical hypocrisy in regard to the matter of Sabbath observance. And he took him and healed him. Jesus is not waiting for their approval. He has seen the faith of the man just as he has perceived the thoughts of the Pharisees. He grants immediate healing to the man before going on with his argument

Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into. a well. etc. Jesus proceeds to show by illustration the inconsistency of the position of the Pharisees. It is to be noted that his argument is very direct. He does not say, What man shall have; but. Which of you. In this line the reading of the margin should be substituted for the text—"a son or an ox." In a case where their own interests were affected whether for a rational being or for an irrational ox, the Pharisees would be sure to find a way to help even upon the Sabbath. Straightway draw him up. The emphasis is upon "straightway." They would not wait for the Sabbath to be past before giving help; neither would they make the son or ox comfortable in the pit and let him stay there.

6. And they could not answer. This is stronger than the statement at the beginning of v. 4. Their inconsistency was clearly shown, and there was nothing that they could say in defense of their position.

7. And he spake a parable unto those that were bidden. The word "parable" is used here in the more restricted sense of a comparison. Jesus teaches a precept of worldly wisdom: namelv. that it is not wise to be too anxious for the best seat. With this as a basis of comparison he teaches the doctrine of true humility. The chief seats. That is, the most honorable places, those near the host. It is said also that in case one couch was large enough for three people that there was a considerable choice as to which of the three places one should occupy.

8. A marriage feast. Such an occasion would be a time of special formality, and it might be expected that particular attention would be given to the proper order of precedence among the guests. Sit not down in the chief seat. We may imagine that as the guests came in they were seating themselves. A more honorable man than thou. One really worthy of a higher place, and therefore properly esteemed by the host.

9. And then thou shalt begin with shame to take the lowest place. Of course, the disgrace would be acutely felt in the presence of all the company. We may imagine that the intermediate places between the highest and the lowest had been taken in relative order, so that the man who is put out of the high place must go to the very lowest.

10. Go and sit down in the lowest place. Jesus does not mean that a man should with mock humility take the lowest place for the express purpose of getting promoted. Friend, go up higher. Or better, Come up higher. The promotion was evidently toward the position that the host occupied. Then shalt thou have glory. The translation of King James' Version. "worship," is rather misleading. That sit at meat with thee. Literally, recline with thee. The word, "meat" is used in the sense of food and is not represented in the original. We are to remember that the men of this age did not sit in chairs as we do, but reclined upon couches when they ate their meals.

II. For every one that exalteth himself shall be humbled. This is the application of the parable. Expressions parallel to this occur a number of times in the Gospels and elsewhere in the New Testament. Compare also Isa. 14: 13-15. 12. And he said to him also that had bidden him. Jesus takes this opportunity to admonish his host, who was like the others, proudly selfish, although he exhibited that fault in a different way. Call not thy friends, etc. This is not a command never to invite one's friends and neighbors, but rather an admonition not to pay exclusive attention to them. The host ought not to be selfish in his entertainment, issuing invitations to those from whom he might reasonably expect favors in return.

13. Bid the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind. Those who would not have the means or the strength to prepare a feast to which the host might be invited in return. There could be no motive in asking these, except loving kindness. 14. For thou shalt be recompensed in the resurrection of the just. For this true kindness there is sure to be great reward. There will be the present sense of having done right, and in the resurrection of the dead the explicit approval of God. It is hardly probable that Jesus is here incidentally teaching that there are two resurrections-of the just, and of the unjust. He evidently adds the words "of the just" to emphasize the fact that those who thus take a loving interest n the poor belong to the class of righteous peo-

WHY WE ARE FORGIVEN.

God's forgiveness does not carry with it permission to sin again. If that were its purpose, our sins had better go unforgiven. To be forgiven is to be freed from the death-penalty of sin. No man can be fairly expected to do good work in any line who is staggering along under the load of the sentence of death. In order to release men from that crushing burden, God in Christ forgives their sins. And we are forgiven in order that we may live, and seek the way of life; not in order that we may return again to the way of death. When a father wipes clean the sheet of his son's debts he does it not in order that the son may safely incur new debts, but that the son may have a fair chance once more to live within his income and keep out of debt. Yet how strong is the temptation to feel, after we have squarely faced and acknowledged yesterday's sin, and asked and received forgiveness for it, that now we have secured the right to a little carelessness or laxity! God does forgive seventy times seven, but the only confession of sin and prayer for forgiveness that is worth the making is uttered in the determination tofulfill the purpose of God's forgiveness: final and complete victory now through Christ.—Sunday-school Times.

The more the Bible is assailed the more clearly does it stand forth as the impregnable rock of holy Scripture, the infallible and only rule of faith and practice.

Popular Science.

H. H. BAKER.

The Great Scientific Magnetic Force Now Trends to the Northward Pretty Sharb At the Present Time.

Mr. Simon Gulliver's great discovery of the immense lode-stone located far in the North, seems to attract wonderful attraction all through the temperate zone, reaching south beyond the Panama belt, nearly to the strip of imagination, used as a bandage to cover the cancer.

This remarkable lode-stone power acts or attracts minds or metals on all sides at the sea level, the same as it does on the planet Mars.

Heretofore, there has been no way devised for reaching this northern wonder land, except by , floating on the surface, which has proved to be a very hazardous and unwholesome undertaking. involving many discomforts.

Only once has an effort been put forth to reach that wonderful pole of the earth, except by dogs, and that by sailing in the air by a balloon in a perfectly haphazardous and heedless condition, which resulted, as was to be expected, in never hearing of learning the finale of the two people who were seated in the down-hanging basket when they left Spitzbergen.

Within the last twenty days experiments have been made in Paris by Mr. Walter Wellman, with his dirigible machine, which he has named "America." and which demonstrates the feasibility of navigating the air successfully.

He is already on his way to Spitzbergen, that being the port from whence he is to launch his air ship on his voyage to the North Pole.

Mr. Wellman's invention called for a driving force of seventy-five horse power, but the machine developes a full one hundred horse power.

At the time of experimenting men from all parts of Europe gathered to witness the completed work of Mr. Godard, the contractor.

The completion of the machine had been much delayed by strikes ordered by labor unions.

While all present expressed great satisfaction with the working of the air ship, the appliances, and the provision made to meet all emergencies; vet Mr. Wellman, we understand, intends to make at least another trial test before leaving Spitzbergen, so as to feel quite sure of reaching the place where the 90 degrees will be found.

One of the princes present tendered his yacht to carry to Spitzbergen provisions and other scientific fixtures for the benefit of the expedition.

We are of the opinion that our government, in a quiet way, is taking a hand in this expedition since directing one of its officers to leave Milwaukee for Washington some time ago, to prepare for an expedition.

We expect some further reports before the party takes their final leave from Spitzbergen, hut with a hundred horse power to either shove, draw, push or pull, we have faith that they will not be diverted within fifty miles of the pole, unless Mr. Wellman, by the use of his field telescope, makes the discovery that the great perforation, cavity, orifice, or that awful big hole that was declared to exist up there only a few years ago by scientific savants, was actual and plainly to be seen and that, of course, would cause him to veer away at once, lest a draft from inside too strong for his power to stem, might catch his ship and suck it inside and---.

Christianity is bright with joyful hope. The world is ruled by faith and served by love.

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

THE TRUE AND THE UNTRUE. She was a cat,

But she staid at home And guarded her little, mewing young She was a cat

That didn't roam; She lay with her babes, and purred, and sung. And the kittens grew as the days went by, And never the cat was heard to cry. For a mother's love 'neath a maltese fur Was guarded well in the heart of her. She was a cat.

She was a woman

And didn't stay

To watch o'er her babe and tend it well. She was a woman And every day

Her heart grew cold, and the love-beats fell. She thought of herself the livelong day And she'd leave the babe and hurry away To the party, or club, or store, or show; But! she had a right to go, you know.

She was a woman. No. 2.

He was a dog. But he stayed at home

And guarded the family night and day. He was a dog

That didn't roam. He lay on the porch or chased the stray-The tramps, the burglar, the hen away: For a dog's true heart for that household beat At morning and evening, in cold and heat. He was a^r dog.

He was a man, And didn't stay

To cherish his wife and his children fair. He was a man,

And every day

His heart grew callous, its love-beats rare. He thought of himself at the close of the day And, cigar in his fingers, hurried away To the club, the lodge, the store, the show. But! he had a right to go, you know. He was a man .-- The Advance.

MOUNT HERMON SCHOOL'S 25TH AN-NIVERSARY. LOYAL OLD BOYS RETURN.

No greater testimony was ever paid to D. L. Moody than the recent rally of former Hermon FATE. students at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the BY BRET HARTE. school, which was celebrated the early part of "The sky is clouded, the rocks are bare. the month at East Northfield, Mass. For nearly The spray of the tempest is white in the air; two years the event had been planned, but the The winds are out with the waves at play, result far exceeded the expectation of those in And I shall not tempt the sea today." charge. "Old boys" from far and near, num-"The trail is narrow, the wood is dim, bering nearly one-fourth of the entire enroll-The panther clings to the arching limb; ment of the quarter century, representing every And the lion's whelps are abroad at play, State this side of the Mississippi and many be-And I shall not join in the chase today." yond, came back to pay their tribute to the But the ship sailed safely over the seas, school and to the memory of its founder. Gradu-And the hunters came from the chase in glee; ates and non-graduates were welcomed and all And the town that was builded upon a rock joined hands in making the reunion the most Was swallowed up in the earthquake shock. important thing in the history of the institution. The celebration was unique and illustrated not Special Notices. only the character of the school, but also the kind of men the place has helped. The com-SEVENTH-DAY Baptists in Syracuse, N. Y., hold Sabbath afternoon services at 2.30 o'clock, in the hall memoration address was delivered by a man who on the second floor of the Lynch building, No. 120 was taken from the mines of Pennsylvania and South Salina street. All are cordially invited. after working his way through Mount Hermon graduated from Princeton and is now a well THE Seventh-day Baptist Church of Chicago holds known preacher. The address to the alumni was regular Sabbath services in the Le Moyne Building on Randolph street between State street and Wabash delivered by a prominent Canadian clergyman, avenue, at 2 o'clock P. M. Strangers are most corwho was once a young Irish waif, converted by W. D. WILCOX, Pastor, dially welcomed. Mr. Moody in Dublin. The history of the 5606 Ellis Ave. school, written especially for the occasion, was THE Seventh-day Baptist Church of New York by a stunted Pennsylvania boy brought to the City holds services at the Memorial Baptist church, school as a child.

Every class was represented from the beginning, and mingling with the former generations were the stalwart young college fellows, who entering Mount Hermon with a few hard won dollars in their pockets, had never rested until the college diploma was theirs. Young business men with responsible positions were back to give homage to their Alma Mater. On all sides a spirit of rejoicing and expansion was felt with a result that two brothers, who had once been students, combined in giving the money for a much-needed administration building, and plans were suggested for a million dollar alumni fund. In one evening enough was subscribed to pay the tuition for one hundred boys for one year. Most of this came from very young alumni, and it is the hope and plan of the corporation within a few years to have the school entirely supported by the alumni. That the Christian ideals long ago set for the school were still maintained was seen on all sides by the huge numbers of men who returned, now in active Christian work.

"HOT-DAY" THOUGHTS.

"Thou hast been a shadow from the heat." Isa. 25: 4.

What he has been He now is and will be: the same yesterday, to-day and forever. He not only protects from the heat of the sun, but from that heat which it is most necessary to be protected from,-evily every evil; from persecution, from the temptations of Satan, from the wrath which disobedience provokes. He says: "Put your trust in my shadow." Judges 9: 15. "Under His shadow we shall live." Lam. 4: 20. "Hide me under the shadow of thy wing." Ps. 17:8. "A tabernacle for a shadow in the daytime from the heat." Isa. 4:6.

Let me make use of this shadow from the heat. He is not afar off. He is accessible. He is easy to approach. It is only by coming to Him that we can enjoy that which is to be descried of Him.

"Oh Lord, thou art my God. I' will exalt thee. I will praise thy name for thou hast done wonderful things. Thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth. A. B. B.

NEW LONDON. CONN., JUNE 30, 1906.

Washington Square South. The Sabbath-school meets at 10.45 A. M. Preaching service at 11.30 A. M. A cordial welcome is extended to all visitors. ELI FORSYTHE LOOFBORD, Pastor, 260 W. 54th Street.

463

THE SABBATH RECORDER.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

464

EDITORIALS .- What of Your Ancestry ? Divinely Kept; About the Convoca-tion; Salt; Helpful Words; Personality in Things; Flowers; Poetry and Relig-; One Leg; When the Devil was

Tract Society Executive Board Meeting. 452 Our Sabbath-school Lessons. 453 The Field Secretary in West Virginia. . 4537

MISSIONS .- "Seek ye First the Kingdom

Over the River, Poetry. 454 WOMAN'S WORK.-The Ladie's Aid, Poetry; Report of Woman's Board: Report of Woman's Hour at the North-West-

What of the Night ? Poetry 456 YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK .- God's First Temples; The Reading and Study

Course in Bible History 457 To Whom it may Concern. 457

CHILDREN'S PAGE. - The Seamstress,

L'Eging for Appres
In the Third Watch of the Night 458
Hammurabi and his Code
Curious Foods
Breaking up Prayer-meeting Monotony, 461
DEATHS
SABBATH SCHOOL.
POPULAR SCIENCE
The True and the Untrue, Poetry 463
Mount Hermon School's 25th Anniversary. Loyal Old Boys Return
Fate, Poetry

The Sabbath Recorder,

A. H. LEWIS, D. D., LL. D., Editor. N. O. MOORE, JR., Business Manager.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Per year.....$2 00 Papers to foreign countries will be charged 50 cents additional, on account of postage.

No paper discontinued until arrearages, are paid, except at the option of the publisher. ADDRESS.

All communications, whether on business publication, should be addressed to SABBATH RECORDER, Plainfield

THE SABBATH VISITOR.

Published weekly, under the auspices of the Sabbath School Board, by the American Sabbath Tract Society, at PLAINFIELD, NEW JEI

TERMS.

Single copies per year.....$ 60 Ten copies or upwards, per copy...... 50 Communications should be addressed to The Sabbath Visitor, Plainfield, N. J.

HELPING HAND

IN BIBLE SCHOOL WORK. A quarterly, containing carefully prepared helps on the International Lessons. Con-ducted by The Sabbath School Board. Price 25 cents a copy per year; seven cents a quarter.

THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST PULPIT. Published monthly by the

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This publication will contain a sermon for each Sabbath in the year by ministers liv-ing and departed.

It is designed especially for pastorless churches and isolated Sabbath-keepers, but will be of value to all. Price fifty cents per year.

Subscriptions should be sent to Rev. E. B. Saunders, Ashaway, R. I.; sermons and editorial matter to Rev. Geo. B. Shaw, Plainfield, N. J.

Utica, N. Y.

TR. S. C. MAXSON, Office 225 Genesce Street.

Gestry, Ark.

ANIEL C. MAIN, M. D. Physician and Surman

Milton College

First Semester begins September 12, 1906.

A college of liberal training for young women. Degrees in arts, men and science, and music.

Entrance requirements and required college studies identical with those of University of Wisconsin. Many elective courses. Special advantages for the study of Anglo-Saxon and early English. Thorough courses in Biology and Geology.

The Academy of Milton College is an excellent preparatory school for the College or for the University.

The school of music has courses in Pianoforte, violin, viola, violoncello, vocal music, voice culture, harmony, musical kindergarten, etc.

Classes in elocution and physical cul-Club boarding, $1.50 per week; board-ing in private families, $3 per week, including room rent and use of furniture. Poetry; The Little Blackberry Girl; Digging for Apples For further information address the

REV. W. C. DALAND, D. D., President or Prof. A. E. WHITFORD, M. A., Registrar,

Milton, Rock County, Wis.

Salem College

SALEM, WEST VIRGINIA

**

Courses

Music, Classical, Philosophical, Scientific and Normal.

Equipment

Library, Apparatus, Geological and Natural History Cabinets.

Faculty

Seven Professors and four Instructors.

Expenses

Low. Opportunities for self help abundant.

FALL TERM BEGINS SEPT. 4, 1906

For detailed information address the President

CORTEZ R. CLAWSON, A. B.

TRACTS ON THE SABBATH.

Issued by the American Sabbath Tract Society, Plainfield, N. J.

No. 1. The Sabbath and Spiritual Christianity. No. 2. The Authority of the Sabbath and the Authority of the Bible Inseparable. No. 3. The Sabbath as Between Protestants and Romanists; Christians and Jews. No. 4. Reasons for giving the Sabbath a Rehearing. No. 5. The Sabbath in the Old Testament. No. 6. The Sabbath and the Sunday in the New Testament. No. 7. The Sabbath from the New Testament Period to the Protestant Reformation. No. 8. Sunday from the Middle of the Second Century to the Protestant Reformation. No. 9. Outline of Sunday Legislation. No. 10. The Sabbath Since the Protestant Reformation. No. 11. Sunday Since the Protestant Reformation. No. 12. Various Reasons for Observing Sunday.

"Why I Am a Seventh-day Baptist." 20 pages.

"How Did Sunday Come Into the Christian Church?" 16 pages.

"The Time of Christ's Resurrection and the Observance of Sunday." 16 pages. "Bible Reading on Sabbath and Sunday." 8 pages.

Chicago, III. T) ENJAMIN F. LANGWORTHY.

ATTORNET AND COUNSELLOS AT LAW. Suite 510 and 512 Taconia Bidg., 131 LaSalle St. Tel. Main 3141. Chicago, Hi.

B OARD OF SYSTEMATIC BENEVO-LENCE.-W. H. Ingham, President; Dr. Geo. W. Post, Corresponding Secretary, 1987 Washington Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. A. S. Maxson, Recording Secretary; O. S. Rogers, S. W. Maxson, Stephen Babcock, Chas. B. Hull, Dean A. E. Main, Rev. A. E. Wit-ter.

Pledge cards and envelopes will be fur-nished free, carriage prepaid, on application to Dr. Albert S. Maxson, Milton, Junction,

Seventh-day Baptist Bureau of Employment and Correspondence.

President-C. U. Parker, Chicago, Ill. Vice-President-W. H. Greenman, Milton unction, Wis.

Secretaries-W. M. Davis, 602 West 63d St., Chicago, Ill.; Murray Maxson, 516 West Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.

Associational Secretaries-Wardner Davis, Salem, W. Va.; C. Laton Ford, Plainfield, N. J.; Dr. S. C. Maxson, 22 Grant St., Utica, N. Y.; Rev. E. P. Saunders, Alfred, N. Y.; W. K. Davis, Milton, Wis.; F. R. Saunders, Ham-

Under control of General Conference. Deminational in scope and purpose. INCLOSE STAMP FOR REPLY.

MERICAN SABBATH TRACT SO-CIETY.

EXECUTIVE BOARD. STEPHEN BABCOCK, President, 48 Livingston Ave., Yonkers, N. Y. A. L. TITSWORTH, Secretary, Plainfield, N.

F. J. HUBBARD, Treasurer, Plainfield, N. J. Rev. A. H. Lewis, Corresponding Secre-tary, Plainfield, N. J.

Regular meeting of the Board, at Plain-field, N. J., the second First-day of each month, at 2.15 P. M.

THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST ME-MORIAL FUND.

H. M. MAXSON, President, Plainfield, N. J. D. E. TITSWORTH, Vice-President, Plainfield,

W. C. HUBBARD, Secretary, Plainfield, N. J. JOSEPH A. HUBBARD, Treasurer, Plainfield, N. J.

Gifts for all Denominational Interests so-

Prompt payment of all obligations requested. M. STILLMAN,

> COUNSELLOR AT LAW. Supreme Court Commissioner, etc.

Milton, Wis.

TTY OMAN'S EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE. President-Mrs. S. J. Clarke, Milton, Wis.

Vice-Presidents-Mrs. J. B. Morton, Milton, Wis,; Mrs. A. R. Crandall, Milton, Wis. Corresponding Secretary-Mrs. T. J. Van Horn, Albion, Wis.

Recording Secretary-Mrs. J. H. Babcock, Milton, Wis.

reasurer-Mrs. L. A. Platts, Milton, Wis. Editor of Woman's Page-Mrs. Henry M. Maxson, 661 W. 7th St., Plainfield, N. J. Secretary, Eastern Association-Mrs. Anna Randolph, Plainfield, N. J.

Secretary, South-Eastern Association-Mrs. G. H. Trainer, Salem, W. Va.

G. H. Irainer, Salem, W. Va. Secretary, Central Association—Miss Ethel Haven, Leonardsville, N. Y. Secretary, Western Association—Miss Agnes
L. Rogers, Alfred, N. Y. Secretary, South-Western Association—Mrs.
G. H. F. Randolph, Fouke, Ark. Secretary, North-Western Association—Mrs.
A. S. Maxson, Milton Junction, Wis. Secretary, Pacific Coast Association—Miss Ethlyn M. Davis, Riverside, Cal.

New York City.

ABBATH SCHOOL BOARD.

President-George B. Shaw, 511 Central-Ave., Plainfield, N. J.
 Vice Presidents-Eastern Association, Abert Whitford, Westerly, R. I.; Central Associa-tion, Ira Lee Cottrell, Leonardsville, N. Y.; Western Association, Arthur E. Main, Alfred, N. Y.; South-Eastern Association, Herbert C. VanHorn, Lost Creek, W. Va.; North-West-ern Association, Herman D. Clarke, Dodge Centre, Minn.; South-Western Association, Gideon H. F. Randolph, Fouke, Ark. Recording Secretary-Corliss F. Randolph, 185 North Ninth Street, Newark, N. J. Corresponding Secretary-John B. Cottrell, Plainfield, N. J. Treaswerr-Frank L. Greene, 490 Vander-bilt Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Members-Esle F. Randolph, Great Kills P. O., N. Y.; Charles C. Chipman, Yonkers, N. Y.; Eli F. Loofboro, N. Y. City; Stephen Babcock, Yonkers, N. Y.; Edward E. Waitford, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Regular meetings the third Sundays in September. December and March. and the first Sunday in June.

JULY 16, 1000

C CEIPMAN Alerty

St. Paul Building soo Broadway,

TARRY W. PRENTICE, D. D. S. "The Northport," 76 West 103d Street. LFRED CARLYLE PRENTICE, M. D. 155 W. 46th Street. Hours: 8-10 A. M.

1-1; 6-8 P. M. RRA S. ROGERS, Special Agent. MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INS. Co., 137 Broadway. Tel. 6548 Cort.

Alfred, N.Y.

LFRED UNIVERSITY.

Alfred, N. Y.

First Semester begins Sept. 18, 1906. BOOTHE COLWELL DAVIS, PH. D., D.D., Pres. ALFRED ACADEMY

First Term begins Sept. 10, 1906. WILLIAM S. MAXSON, Ph. B., Prin.

EVENTH-DAY BAPTIST EDUCA-TION SOCIETY.

E. M. TOMLINSON, President, Alfred, N. Y. Rev. ARTHUR E. MAIN, Corresponding Secre-tary, Alfred, N. Y. V. A. BAGGS, Recording Secretary, Alfred, N.

A. B. KENYON, Treasurer, Alfred, N. Y. The regular meetings of the Board are held in February, May, August and November, at the call of the President.

LFRED THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY. Rev. Arthur E. Main, Dean.

The next year opens Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1906.

West Edmeston. N. Y.

OUNG PEOPLE'S EXECUTIVE BOARD.

President-A. C. Davis, Jr., West Edmes-on, N. Y. Secretary—A. L. Davis, Verona, N. Y. Treasurer—Eda R. Coon, Leonardsville

N. Y. Junior Superintendent-Mrs. H. M. Max-son, Plainfield, N. J. Editor Young People's Page-Rev. L. C. Randolph, Alfred, N. Y. Associational Secretaries-Eastern, L. Ger-trude Stillman, Ashaway, R. I.; Central, A. L. Davis, Verona, N. Y.; Western, E. A. Webster, Alfred, N. Y.; North-Western, B. F. Johanson, Milton, Wis.; South-Western, C. C. VanHorn, Gentry, Ark.; South-Eastern, Amos Brissey, Salem, W. Va.

T R. A. C. DAVIS, JR., General Practice. Specialty: Eye and Ear.

Westerly, R. I.

THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST MIS-SIONARY SOCIETY.

WM. L. CLARKE, President, Westerly, R. I. A. S. BABCOCK, Recording Secretary, Rock-ville, R. I.

George H. UTTER, Treasurer, Westerly, R. I. Rev. E. B. SAUNDERS, Corresponding Secre-tary, Ashaway, R. I.

The regular meetings of the Board of Man-agers are held the third Wednesdays in Jan-uary, April, July, and October.

D OARD OF PULPIT SUPPLY AND MINISTERIAL EMPLOYMENT.

IRA B. CRANDALL, President, Westerly, R. I. FRANK HILL, Recording Secretary, Ashaway,

Associational Secretaries-Stephen Babcock, Eastern, 163 W. 34th Street, New York City; Dr. A. C. Davis, Central, West Edmeston, N. Y.; W. C. Whitford, Western, Alfred, N. Y.; U. S. Griffin, North-Western, Nortonville, Kans.; F. J. Ehret, South-Eastern, Salem, W. Va.; W. R. Potter, South-Western, Ham-mond, La.

The work of this Board is to help pastor-less churches in finding and obtaining pas-tors, and unemployed ministers among us to find employment.

ind employment. The Board will not obtrude information, help or advice upon any church or persons, but give it when asked. The first three per-sons named in the Board will be its working force, being located near each other.

The Associational Secretaries will keep the working force of the Board informed in re-gard to the pastorless churches and unemploy-ed ministers in their respective Associations, and give whatever aid and counsel they can. All correspondence with the Board, either through its Corresponding Secretary or As-sociational Secretaries, will be strictly confi-dential.

Leonardsville, N. Y.

dential.

THE SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST GEN-ERAL CONFERENCE. Next session to be held at Leonardsville, N.

August 21-37, 1906. STEPHEN BABCOCE, President, 48 Livingston Ave., Yonkers, N. Y. Rev. E. P. SAUNDERS, Alfred, N. Y., Re-Rev. E. P. SAUVDERS, Alfred, N. Y., Re-cording Secretary. FRANZ L. GREENZ, 490 Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn, Corresponding Secretary. W. C. WEITTRONG, Alfred, N. Y., Tresserrer. Essecution Generalities Secretary. Ashaway, R. I.; David R., W. L. Bardich, field N. I.; Ire R. Crassin, W. L. Bardich, B. D. M. Correspondence, Rev. W. L. Bardich, B. D. M. Correspondence, Correspondence, Ravisional Correspondence, N. Y.; Rev. W. D. Burdich, Forma Th

A Seventh-day Baptist Weekly, Published By The American Sabbath Tract Society, Plainfield, N. J.

VOLUME 62. NO. 30.

ONLY HOW. Did you tackle that trouble that came your way, With a resolute heart and cheerful? Or inde your face from the light of day, With a crayen soul and fearful. Oh. a trouble's a ton, or a trouble's an ounce, Or a trouble is what you make it,

And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts, But only, how did you take it?

You are beaten to earth? Well, well, what's that? Come up with a smiling face.

It's nothing against you to fall down flat

But to lie there—that's disgrace.

The harder you're thrown, why the higher you bounce; Be proud of your blackened eye-

It isn't the fact that you're licked that counts-It's how did you fight-and why?

And though you be done to death, what then? If you did the best you could,

If you played your part in the world of men,

Why, the critic will call you good. Death comes with a crawl, or comes with a pounce,

And whether he's slow or spry, It isn't the fact that you're dead that counts,

But only, how did you die?

-Hand and Head.

ALL agree that Christian princi-Christianity and ples applied to business transac-Commercialism tions is the much-needed cure for the evils of this commercial age. That is true and in a deeper sense than we can Message realize easily. Christianity began its history in an intensely commercial age, and its first victo- for the moment. "Buy to-day, sell to-morrow. ties were gained in spite of a commercial spirit Get gain. Get, go, get." Such are the demands as extensive and intense as that which prevails of commercialism. Such times must be held up now. Political and economic changes were at high-water mark in the Roman empire when the earliest Christian communities began their work. The great Roman Republic, by obliterating national lines throughout its conquered provinces and making the world one as to laws, currency God is needed, a genuine, present, observant, and customs, had given a new impetus to every form of business. Commercial intercourse was extended and intensified as it had never been before when "All roads led to Rome." By slower methods than we are familiar with, but equally effective for that age, Asia and Africa were constant contributors to each other, and to the world between Alexandria and Rome, Antioch and Marseilles, Tarsus, Corinth and Ephesus were great commercial centers. Money was plenty, and great banking houses were common. Conquests had brought great wealth to victorious Rome, and that wealth was in the hands of a few men. Middlemen abounded and grew rich rough contrasta and profits. Extravagance interesting and sense miled the hour-In-in the state of th power. That source was the doctrine of eternal hand. This world and its riches are both transinext life, not in this. Earthly good is dross. seeking commercial age.

Every commercial age is careless degradation and national decay came because We Need That concerning God and higher obliga-God was not in the thoughts of men, and no fear tions. It takes little care for eterof him was before their eyes. Any age will be nal values. Commercialism lives commercially and socially corrupt when it forgets God and sings "Free from the law. Oh happy condition.' and brought face to face with God. He is scarcely more than an abstraction to the man who hears only "go," "get." The pulpit of to-THE revelation of dishonesty in the business affairs of the country day does not need to invent new forms of argu-Swif ment against commercialism, graft, and greed. which is still going on is both Retribution healthful and hopeful. Evil has judgment-bringing God. New views of existlimited lease of life, even though it renews its efforts in new forms. It is both self-corrective ence of Life Eternal are needed. New views of law are needed. Here we touch the core of the and self-destructive. In June, 1898, Congress question and the sore of the age. Dishonesty moved toward a general inquiry by creating an keeps pace with the decay of regard for law, Industrial Commission, which was empowered God's law, not human enactments. It is easy "to investigate questions pertaining to immigrato trace the history of our present commercialism tion, to labor, to agriculture, to manufacturing and its attendant dishonesty. For the last fifty and to business, and to report to Congress and years, notably the last thirty, Christian teachers to suggest such legislation as it may deem best have been loud and frequent in asserting that the upon these subjects." This was mild, and to Old Testament is a Jewish book, and that the many persons it appeared perfunctory and mean-Ten Commandments are obsolete. Some general ingless. That commission found more to do and principles pertaining to them are yet floating did far more than unaroused public opinion exaround loose in the world, but moral law with pected. The reports of that commission came begrip and grasp and God close behind it, is no fore the public within the next three years after longer proclaimed. When the church teaches its appointment. These reports shows that dishonesty, fraud, deception, evasion and general thus the world sinks to still lower standards. Creed and graft have taken theologians at their. consciencelessness were more prevalent than men word the gove lowald or the meory that the had dreamed. Since 1001 specific investigations Than Structure and the are an you and then. and various forms of legal action have good for-The state of the second second and with many constraints and sorbed in military conquests had turned to in- sults could not have come had even a minority dulgence and to business. The Roman world of men really believed in the commandment, was restless, alert, incisive. All things fostered "Thou shalt not steal." Social corruption,commercialism. Christianity brought higher popular, wealthy and indulgent,-could not have ethical standards into that money-loving and reached its present low level had it not accepted money-getting age. It brought higher ideas of the falsehood that the law of God, written in the brotherhood than men had been accustomed to twentieth chapter of Exodus is obsolete, and and intensified the duty of benevolence and chari- that "Thou shalt not commit adultery" was not a * ty. - But these were not the chief sources of its law for our modern "Christian" civilization. This age needs a new view of God and Law and Life life, and an impending world-judgment. It said Eternal. Dilute doses of the "ethics of trade" to men: "Eternal life is yours. It is entered from pulpits accustomed to teach that "The Sabupon through faith in Jesus, the Messiah of God. c bath is Jewish and the law is abrogated" will not God is near. Eternity is near. Destiny is at check nor cure the malaria of dishonesty, nor the poison of social dissipation. The pulpit needs more tory and unsatisfying. Heed God's call to the moral virility, virility that feeds on law with the higher life and to everlasting riches. Lay up authority in it and the Eternal God back of it. treasures which do not corrupt nor take wings. We have heard it said that the most powerful when bankers fail and misfortunes assail. Stop. sermon preached by the late E. M. Dunn was Realize that the only enduring good is in the from the text: "In the beginning, God." What the commercialism and corruption of these years Heavenly good is pure gold." Such was the needs is God and His law. It needs new views first message of Christianity to a restless, self- of existence, of immortality, of eternity and of eternal life. It does not need noise about "hell," but a clear view of destiny and of self-pronounced damnation. Roman commercialism, social

PLAINFIELD, N. J., JULY 23, 1906.

WHOLE NO. 3,204.