Miscellaneous

I Wait for Thee.

The hearth is swept, the fire is bright, The kettle sings for tea; The cloth is spread, the lamps are light, The hot cakes smoke in napkins white, And now I wait for thee.

An Opium Factory.

At Ghazepore, one hot and windy day, I went down to the "opium go-downs" or stores. The atmosphere of a hot and windy day at Ghazepore, if it should ever be thought suitable for invalids or others, may be inhaled in England by any one who will stand at the open door of an oven, and breathe a fog of fried and cunningly blown therefrom.

each man a living pestle, and in this room a quantity of opium—worth more lacs of rupees than I have ever had between my fingers—was being mixed and kneaded by the legs of men, preparatory to being made up into pills. From the chamber of pestles, with curiosity unshared, we went forward to peep into the chamber of the pills.

The Sugar-House Cure.

Dr. Cartwright, of New Orleans, communicated to the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal of the present week, an article of considerable interest to invalids, which is entitled, "The Sugar-House Cure for Bronchitis, Dyspeptic, and Consumptive Complaints."

"Duty" and "Glory."

The Home Journal thus felicitously depicts, with a few strokes of the pen, the character of the late Duke of Wellington, and the distinctive difference between his character and that of his great antagonist, Bonaparte.

Wild Rice.

In the shallow muddy places of some northern lakes, there grows a serial named wild rice, which is used by the Indians; and by those who have partaken of it, we have been informed that it was equally as palatable as the cultivated rice of the South.

CONFESSOR OF A SLAVE-TRADER.—The St. Louis Dispatch says: If it is true, according to an old maxim, that "an honest confession is good for the soul," a correspondent of a public journal must feel much comforted.

EDUCATION IN WISCONSIN.—The bounty of Congress has set apart the 16th section of every township in the State for the support and maintenance of common schools. From this source, nearly 1,000,000 acres will accrue to the State, the proceeds of the sales of which are to constitute a permanent fund, the income of which is to be annually devoted to the great purpose of the grant.

VALUE OF A LIBRARY TO A POOR STUDENT.—One of the most interesting incidents in the early history of the famous men of our country, is related by Dr. Bowditch, the learned translator of La Place. During the Revolutionary war, a privateer from Salem captured a vessel and brought the prize into that port.

PUNCTUALITY.—Washington was a minute man. An accurate clock in the entry at Mount Vernon, controlled the movements of the family. At his dinner parties, he allowed five minutes for difference of watches, and then waited for no one.

SEVEN FOOLS.—The angry man—who sets his own house on fire, in order that he may burn his neighbor's. The envious man—who cannot enjoy life because others do.

It is marvellous that educated people, scrupulously nice people, who would not drink out of another man's glass, nor eat off another man's plate, will breathe without a thought, and over again, the air from another man's lungs, which they ought to know—must know—has been entirely destroyed by the process, and not merely made useless, but rendered positively poisonous.

The raising and fattening of snails has of late years very much increased in France, and according to a recent calculation made at one of the Paris markets, the amount consumed annually in France is about six millions. The price averages from about 50 to 70 cents per 100, and one individual is stated to make over one thousand dollars per annum by his snail beds.

"The World Owes me a Living." No such a thing, Mr. Fold-up-your-hands, the world owes you not a single sou! You have done nothing these twenty years but consume the products earned by the sweat of other men's brows.

CHURCH BELLS. CHURCH, FACTORY, AND STEAMBOAT BELLS constantly on hand, and Peals or Chimes of Bells (of any number) cast to order. Improved cast-iron Yokes, with movable arms, are attached to these Bells, so that they may be adjusted to ring easily and properly, and Springs also which prevent the clapper from resting on the Bell, thereby prolonging the sound. Hangings complete, (including Yoke, Frame, and Wheel,) furnished if desired. The horns by which the Bell is suspended, admit of the Yoke being changed to a new position, and thus bringing the blow of the clapper in a new place, which is desirable after some years' usage, as it diminishes the probability of the Bell's breaking, occasioned by repeated blows of the clapper in one place.
